OFFICE OF THE ASSISTANT SECRETARY

MEMORANDUM FOR UNDER SECRETARY OF DEFENSE (PERSONNEL AND READINESS)

SUBJECT: Fiscal Year 2017 Annual Report on Sexual Assault in the Military

In response to your 25 September 2017 data call, I am forwarding the Air Force input to the Fiscal Year 2017 Department of Defense (DoD) Annual Report on Sexual Assault in the Military.

The primary objective of the Air Force Sexual Assault Prevention and Response (SAPR) Program is to reduce prevalence of sexual assaults and increase reporting. In FY17, the Air Force saw the highest reporting rate in the history of our SAPR program. We acknowledge, however, there is still much progress to be made. We estimate that about two-thirds of past-year sexual assaults of active duty Airmen remain unreported. We will continue working to narrow the gap between prevalence and reporting.

Multiple efforts and programs are underway across our Air Force to optimize Airman performance, increase resilience, and decrease negative and violent outcomes. This year, the Headquarters Air Force formally restructured and integrated our SAPR office with our Resilience and Suicide Prevention Programs, forming the Directorate of Integrated Resilience. The intent of this comprehensive model is to address systemic risk, leverage integrated and coordinated community support, increase help-seeking and connect Airmen and their families to services, and utilize evidence-based interpersonal and self-directed violence prevention approaches. This restructure is a bold testament to our belief that, in order to remove sexual assault and other forms of interpersonal and self-directed violence from our ranks, we must significantly innovate in both structure and culture.

Each and every day we make a commitment to drive change. Working together with leaders inside and outside our gates, our collective wisdom will enhance safety and create new allies that can shape pioneering efforts to end sexual assault and interpersonal violence among our most valued resources: our Airmen and their families.

FY 2017 Annual Report on Sexual Assault in the Military Executive Summary: United States Air Force

The Air Force is dedicated to the goal of eliminating sexual assault and all other forms of interpersonal and self-directed violence, so every Airman and family member thrives. We must act quickly and with a deliberate strategy to increase reporting until it meets the level of incidence, while driving both figures to zero. In Fiscal Year (FY) 17 we did in fact see reporting in the Air Force increase to its highest level since the inception of the program in 2005. But we're not done yet. Only 1 in 3 report this crime. We must continue to leverage evidence-based approaches to effectively prevent sexual assault, and inspire increased trust in our response system and chain of command to ensure every Airman will come forward if harmed, and receive expert care.

Over the course of FY17 the Air Force faced continued challenges, but also made important progress. As we sought to instill culture change we were reminded of the importance of leadership buy-in and engagement for these ideas to take root and flourish. Sexual Assault Prevention and Response (SAPR) Talking Points were added to the Commander's Toolkit in 2016 and execution of proactive engagement tools like this visibly associates unit-level leadership with the importance of the SAPR program on a regular basis. In 2017, additional topics were added to create a comprehensive complement of 12 (one delivered per month). When commanders deliver SAPR knowledge directly to their unit members they are simultaneously engaging in prevention and awareness efforts. Not only do unit members obtain important information from an authority figure, but when an Airman knows their leadership is personally communicating on this topic, it sends an underlying message that the unit and the institution espouses a culture of respect intolerant of sexual assault.

Overall, the Air Force has an effective sexual assault victim response and care system. We have encountered some challenges, however, such as coordination during expedited transfers, weak internal controls, and insufficient compliance with SAPR program management and execution. The Air Force is pursuing multiple avenues to address these issues through system improvement initiatives that will advance accountability, increase reporting, and improve victim care. These initiatives include third party inspections and quality assurance; re-evaluating intimate and non-intimate partner advocacy roles; improving reporting and transfer processes; and increasing the competency of leaders at all levels to better understand and communicate about concepts such as the neurobiology of trauma.

Challenges aside, the Air Force has made significant progress. Prevention efforts have evolved from awareness training to a much more holistic approach to primary prevention and resilience. The Air Force continued to evolve in 2017 by restructuring the Headquarters Air Force SAPR office to also include enterprise-wide responsibility for the integration of resilience and the primary prevention of all interpersonal and self-directed violence (including sexual assault, domestic violence, child maltreatment, suicide, and workplace violence). Under the new construct of Integrated Resilience, the Air Force has created opportunities to reduce silos, and is better postured to capitalize on the natural synergies inherent across our research and development, planning, policy, programming, and assessment efforts.

In FY17 the Air Force continued to make progress on two promising sexual assault prevention initiatives. One of those, at Basic Military Training, the Sexual Communication and Consent program provides tailored training to prevent victimization, re-victimization, and the perpetration of sexual assault. The program went through focus group testing and technical production, and is on target for a 2018 feasibility test, followed by full implementation projected for 2019. At the Air Force Academy, an adapted life skills program call Cadet Healthy Personal Skills, which will provide future Airmen with important skills (e.g. communication, coping, relationship management, anger management skills, etc.), completed a six-month trial and is on target for implementation with all cadets in 2018. The successful implementation of these programs is expected to significantly reduce sexual assault victimization and other instances of interpersonal violence.

The Air Force has also made progress in other areas of the response system. During this reporting period, the Air Force Office of Special Investigations (AFOSI) made a policy change that has the potential to increase victim choice. Now, a substantive investigation may not be opened if the victim cannot or will not identify the alleged perpetrator, and the alleged perpetrator's identity cannot be ascertained via a third party or other investigative steps. Additionally, the Air Force Special Victims' Counsel Division launched new training blocks that focus on the experiences of male survivors; retaliation and ostracism; and representation of DoD civilians. These enhanced training blocks provide experiential learning opportunities, which in turn improve the service given to victims.

As previously mentioned, the Air Force made great progress in reporting. The Air Force received a record 1,480 reports of sexual assault involving Service members as either victims or subjects in FY17 - the largest number of reports of sexual assault received by the Air Force in the history of its SAPR program. Assuming prevalence has not changed since the most recent study was completed in FY16, FY17 saw a record 34% of sexual assaults being reported, up from 29% in FY16 and 26% in FY15. This upward trend in reporting may be evidence of a higher level of trust in the system than in past years.

The Air Force is committed to eliminating sexual assaults, improving our response capability, and the resilience and readiness of our force. As an enterprise we are strengthening our investment in prevention, while focusing on continuing to improve the response support structure. The report that follows details the work accomplished in FY17, as well as future goals on the very near horizon. We will not, and cannot stop until the crime of sexual assault and other forms of interpersonal and self-directed violence are eradicated from our ranks.

1. Goal 1—Prevention—“Institutionalize evidenced-based, informed prevention practices and policies across the Department so that all Military Service members are treated with dignity and respect, and have the knowledge, tools, and support needed to prevent sexual assaults.”

1.1 Summarize your efforts to achieve the Prevention goal. (DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Strategic Plan, 2017-2021 (December 1, 2016), Goal 1 – Prevention, p. 6)

In this strategic summary, consider the following for inclusion, especially when there have been significant or force-wide changes to how your Military Service addresses the following matters (there is no need to repeat prior Annual Report submissions if these processes have remained largely the same as in prior years):

- Overall Approach: What force-wide initiatives did your Military Service employ this year to reduce the occurrence of sexual assault? What prevention initiatives did your Military Service employ with targeted subgroups of your population or for specific locations? (DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Strategic Plan, 2017-2021 (December 1, 2016))
- Communications and Engagement: How do you align prevention communications and training across your Military Service? (DoD 2014-2016 Sexual Assault Prevention Strategy (April 30, 2014), para 5 (Communications), p. 11)
- Leader Involvement: How do you prepare and include command to support the Military Service prevention approach? How does the Military Service prepare and help command address unit climate challenges and climate survey results? (DoDI 6495.02, “Sexual Assault Prevention and Response (SAPR) Program Procedures,” (July 7, 2015), Encl 5, para 9f)
- Community Involvement (Internal to DoD): How does your Military Service prepare and configure military communities and their resources to support the prevention approach? (DoD 2014-2016 Sexual Assault Prevention Strategy (April 30, 2014), para 5 (Community Involvement), p. 11 / SecDef Memo (May 1, 2014), Develop Collaborative Forum for Sexual Assault Methods, p. 2)
- Community Involvement (External to DoD): How does your Military Service employ resources external to your military communities to advance prevention initiatives? These can be force-wide initiatives or initiatives taken with specific locations or subgroups based on risk or some other factor. If this section is included, examples of these external collaborations, rationale for their use, and an assessment of the collaboration’s outcome should be included. (DoD 2014-2016 Sexual Assault Prevention Strategy (April 30, 2014), para 5, (Community Involvement), p. 11 / SecDef Memo (May 1, 2014), Develop Collaborative Forum for Sexual Assault Prevention Methods, p. 2)
- Education and Training: How are education/training activities used to advance the Military Service’s prevention approach? What specific training programs are used (e.g., interpersonal communication, healthy relationships, and improving alcohol choices) and how/when were they distributed throughout the Military Service population? (DoD 2014-2016 Sexual Assault Prevention Strategy (April 30, 2014), para 5 (Education and Training), p. 12)

REQUIRED:

- What metrics are being used to assess the effectiveness of prevention efforts intended to reduce the prevalence of sexual assault. Include a discussion of the metrics used to assess your sexual assault prevention program, and how they support or supplement DoD's core prevention metrics (i.e., prevalence and bystander intervention experience). Describe how the results of those metrics are informing prevention planning? (DoD 2014-2016 Sexual Assault Prevention Strategy (April 30, 2014), para 5 (Harm Reduction), p. 12) / DoD 2014-2016 Sexual Assault Prevention Strategy (April 30, 2014), para 6 (Prevention Metrics, Assessment, and Research), p. 13

Overall Approach

The Air Force firmly believes that in order to significantly reduce the incidence of sexual assault and other forms of interpersonal and self-directed violence, we must focus our efforts on skills, behaviors, climate, and environmental factors prior to a violent event occurring. To that end the Air Force is in the process of implementing a comprehensive sexual assault prevention strategy (signed in 2015) that uses a strategic data-driven approach to prevention. One cornerstone of this strategy is employing evidence-based prevention. Thus, the Air Force implemented Green Dot, an evidence-based primary prevention bystander intervention approach, force-wide beginning in 2016. In 2017, this approach was expanded to include suicide prevention. An evaluation of the 2016 Green Dot training based on nearly 9,000 survey responses found the training was having the expected short and intermediate effects, such as increasing hope, efficacy, and positive behavioral changes. Though these early results are promising, past evaluations of Green Dot suggest it must be implemented for at least three years to achieve maximum impact. Therefore, the Air Force will continue to implement Green Dot boosters to achieve a projected 30% reduction in sexual assault victimization by 2020.

Another cornerstone of the Air Force Prevention Strategy is the adoption of a holistic approach to sexual assault prevention. In FY17, the Air Force identified the importance of addressing the continuum of harm as essential to preventing sexual assault. Toward this end, the Air Force is addressing workplace harassment – inclusive of sexual harassment, hazing, and bullying – as a top priority in FY18. The Vice Chief of Staff of the Air Force (AF/CV) established the Workplace Harassment Solutions Working Group to identify goals and objectives that will realize a reduction in the incidence of workplace harassment, which we expect to lead to a reduction in other forms of interpersonal and self-directed violence. Two early goals include developing and integrating respectful behaviors and skills into day-to-day operations; and establishing a persistent climate and culture feedback tool for unit members and leaders.

To ensure we are testing prevention approaches prior to implementation, the Air Force has two notable evaluations underway at Basic Military Training and the United States Air Force Academy. The Research Triangle Institute adapted and is testing the feasibility of providing tailored prevention interventions that match each trainee's unique risk profile. In this regard, Research Triangle Institute developed the Sexual Communication and Consent program, which is comprised of interventions adapted from evidence-based interventions in college settings. The program is in the final phases of preparation prior to implementation at Basic Military Training. Concurrently, at the Air Force Academy, Life Skills Training has been adapted into the Cadet Healthy Personal Skills program focusing on the practical application of interpersonal communications skills in an effort to reduce instances of sexual harassment and assault. Both strategies will be evaluated for possible expansion to other accessions sources such as the Reserve Officer Training Corps and Officer Candidate School.

Communication and Engagement

In 2016, the Air Force Directorate of Integrated Resilience (AF/A1Z; formerly Air Force Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Office) established a position at the installation level to integrate primary prevention efforts on a community scale. These Violence Prevention Integrators (known as Specialists for the Primary Prevention of Violence in 2016) work directly for the installation Vice Commander and are the focal point for all primary prevention activities intended to institutionalize an environment that encourages Airmen to proactively prevent interpersonal and self-directed violence. In order to ensure that Violence Prevention Integrators remain on the cutting edge of prevention science and that the Air Force is internally advancing the capability, a variety of training and technical assistance opportunities are provided (bimonthly webinars, individual and group technical assistance calls, journal club meetings). And, by mandating Violence Prevention Integrators report to installation leadership the Air Force has placed an increased emphasis on communicating about and investing in primary prevention strategies, ensuring commanders are informed of ongoing initiatives.

Late in 2017, the Air Force simplified and aligned the terminology describing the former Community Action Information Board and Integrated Delivery System to better align with the proactive mission of this integrating infrastructure to reach community outcomes. The Air Force understands that a healthy and equipped community coalition is critical to achieving community level changes, so AF/A1Z re-energized the forums – now the HQ Air Force Community Action Board and Community Action Team have a strategy focused on violence prevention and resilience and use evidence-based processes to solve community problems. This will increase accountability and returns on investment on prevention and resilience resources. Violence Prevention Integrators at the Major Command (MAJCOM) and installation levels will work through the Community Action Board and Community Action Team structures to ensure more effective and efficient prevention integration and the use of evidence-based approaches as they complete their supporting strategies.

As an enterprise, the Air Force wants every Airman and family member to thrive. Part of that vision, for the Air Force Community Action Board specifically, is focused on eliminating our most intractable challenges, suicide and workplace harassment (including sexual harassment). Each MAJCOM and installation will have the opportunity to identify additional goals. By focusing primary prevention efforts on bullying, hazing, and sexual harassment we will reduce instances of suicide, sexual assault, and other forms of interpersonal violence.

Leader Involvement

During the roll-out of the 2017 integrated SAPR and Suicide Prevention annual training, the AF/CV signed a memo emphasizing leadership's crucial role in ensuring the successful prevention of and response to instances of interpersonal and self-directed violence. With this important leadership buy-in and support, AF/A1Z maintained regular communications with commanders through Senior Leader conferences, teleconferences, and Professional Military Education. AF/A1Z ensured commanders at the Wing Commander Summit received a leadership-focused version of Green Dot taught by personnel from Green Dot Inc. At Air Command and Staff College, students were also presented with a leadership-focused version of Green Dot and were able to ask questions and interact directly with national trainers, and Air Force senior leadership. These targeted efforts prepared commanders to positively influence the culture of their respective areas of responsibility and create an environment where behaviors that lead to interpersonal and self-directed violence are not tolerated.

In 2016, AF/A1Z worked with the Center of Excellence for Medical Multimedia to produce public service announcements featuring Air Force Senior Leaders discussing proactive prevention of harmful behaviors that may lead to instances of interpersonal and self-directed violence. These public service announcements are currently located on Wingman Online, a web-based resilience forum, under the heading "leadership". Including Senior Leaders in this endeavor demonstrated clear support of primary prevention efforts.

Community Involvement (internal to DoD)

The Air Force utilizes formal and informal venues to both learn from and share with other Department of Defense (DoD) entities. AF/A1Z has partnered with the DoD SAPR Office (DoD SAPRO) and our sister service SAPR offices on the Prevention Roundtable, a forum focused on sharing information about current prevention initiatives throughout the DoD. AF/A1Z has also partnered directly with the Department of the Navy prevention stakeholders to exchange ideas and challenges regarding primary prevention. Finally, AF/A1Z participates in regular cross-service technical calls wherein research staff discuss and share prevention research.

Community Involvement (external to DoD)

In 2017, AF/A1Z continued an Interagency Agreement with the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (Division of Violence Prevention within the National Center for Injury Prevention and Control) as part of a time-sharing agreement with AF/A1Z's Senior Advisor for Prevention as well as to collaborate in the training of the Violence Prevention Integrators. The research projects described here in section 1.1 that involve evaluating interventions and policies that have potential utility for sexual assault prevention represent an additional avenue of collaboration and community involvement, such that they ensure the Air Force is utilizing the best available scientific and experiential prevention evidence. Conference and meeting attendance represents an additional method of building collaborative relationships outside of the Air Force. For example, Research Triangle Institute's work on the Sexual Communication and Consent program at Basic Military Training has been highlighted in conference presentations focused on prevention in male victimization.

Education and Training

Since 2016, the Air Force has implemented Green Dot in order to advance our prevention approach. Green Dot encourages Airmen to acknowledge their barriers to intervention and then gives them tools to get around those barriers. Green Dot advocates a community approach to prevention in which the environment cultivated by Airmen is intolerant of behavior that constitutes or leads to interpersonal and self-directed violence. Currently, Green Dot is distributed throughout the population annually via a face-to-face training or via a video for geographically separated units. Additionally, in order to better garner leadership understanding and buy-in for primary prevention efforts, we have engaged DoD SAPRO to build leader competencies and capacity with fundamental concepts.

Assessment of Prevention Efforts

In order to assess the effectiveness of the Green Dot program, implementation was monitored using a variety of implementer, leadership, peer influencer, and total force surveys. Implementers were asked to assess areas such as whether they felt prepared to deliver the curriculum and whether they believed Green Dot could help reduce instances of interpersonal violence if implemented effectively. Leaders assessed whether they would use their influence to help Airmen confront barriers as a result of Green Dot, while Peer Influencers were asked to assess how likely they were to talk to friends and family about interpersonal and self-directed violence as a result of Green Dot. Headquarters Air Force partnered with Air Mobility Command to conduct a longitudinal study in which Airmen at 6 and 12 months post-training indicated they were significantly more likely to indicate they can do something about interpersonal violence, have a friend talk to them about interpersonal violence, have talked to others about interpersonal and self-directed violence, have noticed sexual harassment, or have posted on social media about a bystander/in support of interpersonal and self-directed violence prevention. As a result of evaluation results, future Green Dot efforts will leverage synergies between suicide prevention and resilience, tie Green Dot concepts to Air Force core values, monitor fidelity and provide technical assistance, ensure appropriate implementers are selected, and better engage and equip leaders. Results of the evaluation and how the results informed subsequent versions has been communicated with leaders across the Force to continue to underscore and model the importance of evaluation and continuous quality improvement in sexual assault prevention. 2017 Green Dot is also being evaluated.

1.2 Future Efforts: Briefly describe your leadership-approved future plans to reduce the occurrence of sexual assault in your Military Service.

In addition to the efforts discussed in section 1.1 above, the Air Force will focus heavily on workplace harassment and continue to further refine opportunities to reduce interpersonal and self-directed violence. For the Green Dot program, the 2018 curriculum will focus on proactive behaviors that create culture change, followed by plans in 2019 and beyond for Green Dot to be institutionalized across all enlisted and officer accessions sources. Boosters for the general Air Force population will be tailored to the unique needs of each community.

2. Goal 2—Victim Assistance & Advocacy—“Deliver consistent and effective advocacy and care for all military Service members or their adult dependents, such that it empowers them to report assaults, promotes recovery, facilitates dignified and respectful treatment, and restores military readiness.”

2.1 Summarize your efforts to achieve the Victim Assistance & Advocacy goal. (DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Strategic Plan, 2017-2021 (December 1, 2016), Goal 2 – Victim Assistance & Advocacy, p. 7)

Overall Approach

In conjunction with the Air Force Audit Agency’s 2016 Assessment of Air Force SAPR Operations, AF/A1Z evaluated program requirements for: personnel assignment and training; program awareness and response; and operations support and records maintenance. Collectively, successful mission accomplishment in these three areas, along with personal and professional commitment from SAPR personnel, is key to achieving the Victim Assistance and Advocacy Goal. As a result of the 2015 and 2016 Audit Reports, AF/A1Z implemented recommendations to: revise Air Force Instruction (AFI) 90-6001, Sexual Assault Prevention and Response (SAPR) Program, to include and clearly define all program requirements for both permanent party and deployed locations; and establish standard repeatable internal controls, including communication of training and oversight requirements, to ensure SAPR Personnel, responders, Case Management Group members, commanders and returning deployers comply with SAPR operations program requirements. An update to AFI 90-6001 via Air Force Guidance Memorandum was approved at the end of FY17. The guidance memorandum included clarifying guidance on the following topics:

- higher headquarters staff assistance visits of MAJCOMs;
- requirements for losing and gaining installation Sexual Assault Response Coordinator (SARC) responsibilities in the event of Expedited Transfer;
- background investigation requirements for SARCs, SAPR Victim Advocates (VAs) and Volunteer VAs;

- appointment of Reserve SAPR Liaisons;
- commander requirements for submitting the Commander's Critical Information Requirement;
- sourcing for deployed SARCs; and
- tracking of SAPR annual training requirements for deployed/returning members.

AF/A1Z is also pursuing multiple avenues to advance accountability, increase reporting, and improve victim care. These initiatives include third party inspections and quality assurance; re-evaluating intimate and non-intimate partner advocacy roles; improving reporting and transfer processes; and increasing the competency of leaders at all levels to better understand and communicate about concepts such as the neurobiology of trauma. We will continue to evaluate emerging program requirements and solicit feedback from the field as AFI re-write initiatives continue through FY18.

Of note, AF/A1Z recognized the importance of MAJCOM SARCs in ensuring they and their subordinate installation personnel have appropriate resources and guidance to best provide advocacy and facilitate care. In FY17, AF/A1Z finalized the plan to conduct monthly MAJCOM Consultation Site Visits. The focus of these visits is to not only address improvement strategies for any deficiencies identified in the 2015 and 2016 Audit Reports, but to also address each MAJCOM's unique needs and challenges with respect to the three focus areas examined in the report (personnel assignment and training, program awareness and response, and operations support and records maintenance). MAJCOM SARCs with three years or less experience receive a five-day visit from the AF/A1Z SAPR Operations Branch Chief, while those with over three years of experience receive a three-day visit (with the option to extend to five).

Defense Sexual Assault Advocate Certification Program Credential Oversight Process

Through FY17, the Air Force has continued to closely monitor the credentialing process at the installation, MAJCOM and headquarters level. In addition to monthly internal auditing of credentialed SARCs, SAPR VAs, and Volunteer VAs, MAJCOMs are tasked to provide quarterly continuing education training reports to AF/A1Z to ensure credentialed personnel remain on time and on target with their bi-annual re-certification requirements. MAJCOM SARCs also maintain electronic or hard copies of their SARC and SAPR VA applications for Defense Sexual Assault Advocate Certification Program certification and a copy of the certificates, in accordance with program guidance.

AF/A1Z ensures Defense Sexual Assault Advocate Certification Program screening requirements are continuously met through engaging with the member's leadership, starting with credentialing endorsement and approval by the immediate supervisor up through the MAJCOM level. Further, when a member volunteers to fill a SAPR position, whether in a full-time position or as a part-time volunteer, unit commanders are required to review and sign that they acknowledge what the screening requirements are and ensure that the individual they are endorsing meets those requirements. This unit commander endorsement is required as part of the application process before the member begins their certification training.

If at any point a SARC, SAPR VA or Volunteer VA does not meet screening requirements, the SARC works with the individual's unit commander to provide official documentation and notification to the member via memorandum for record, which is forwarded to the MAJCOM SARC and on to AF/A1Z. AF/A1Z then works with DoD points of contact to provide notification and processing to suspend or remove the member's credentials as indicated by the unit commander. Chapter 2 of AFI 90-6001 outlines screening requirements for SARCs, SAPR VAs, and Volunteer VAs and Chapter 10 outlines the Defense Sexual Assault Advocate Certification Program certification, suspension, revocation and reinstatement processes.

Encouraging SARCs and SAPR VAs to Renew a Higher Level Certification

While the criteria to obtain higher-level certification is established through the Defense Sexual Assault Advocate Certification Program, the Air Force remains invested in providing all SAPR personnel with the best possible training to prepare them for their expanding role as response coordinators and advocates. Mandatory AF/A1Z-hosted annual refresher training (in FY17 it was conducted in conjunction with the National Organization of Victim Advocates' August 2017 annual conference) and continued bi-weekly reminders for continuing education opportunities seek to bolster each advocate's skills in advocacy and victim care as they continue to accumulate the victim and support services hours. In addition, a portion of the upcoming HAF Consultation Site Visits at all MAJCOMs will include tips and recommendations for commands to create their own opportunities for volunteers to acquire the education and experience required to re-certify at a higher level. This may also include additional training and volunteer opportunities with civilian agencies to increase proficiency and earn the required hours for the higher level.

While there were no Air Force-wide challenges identified on this subject in FY17, an additional aim of the Consultation Site Visits with MAJCOMs will be to gather information on any command-specific challenges associated with obtaining continuing education credits or advanced training. This will help to inform strategies to mitigate any gaps in being able to efficiently meet this requirement.

Regulation to Field Gap Analysis

In FY17 the AF/A1Z Policy Branch and the AF/A1Z SAPR Operations Branch teamed to conduct a thorough review of how Air Force requirements aligned with DoD and by-law requirements, ensuring current policy and standard operating procedures appropriately reflected assigned roles and responsibilities. These efforts also aligned with Air Force initiatives to streamline AFIs and checklists. In addition, AF/A1Z examined program requirements and responsibilities through the aforementioned results of the 2015 and 2016 Audit Reports, which identified several deficiencies at the installation level. In accordance with recommended improvement areas, AF/A1Z moved to implement the MAJCOM Consultation Site Visits and AFI clarification through supplementary Air Force Guidance Memorandum.

Strengthening the Integrated Network of Service Providers

At the installation level, the primary mechanism for cross-functional participation and discussion on victim services and care is the Case Management Group. In accordance with AFI 90-6001, Chapter 8, the Case Management Group is chaired by the installation commander (delegated no further than the vice commander) and comprised of SARC, SAPR VAs, AFOSI or DoD law enforcement office with investigative authority, Mental Health Flight or designated medical representative, Chaplain, and Staff Judge Advocate. This group convenes monthly to review individual cases, direct system coordination as needed, assess victim access to quality services, address any retaliation issues, and assess installation sexual assault trends. A Victim Witness Assistance Program representative, Special Victim's Counsel, Volunteer VA, and the victim's commander are also present for unrestricted cases in which they are directly involved. If any higher headquarters guidance or coordination is required as a result of findings in the Case Management Group, assessments and requests are up-channeled through the MAJCOM SARC and on to AF/A1Z if required. In addition, the Air Force requires wing commanders to meet monthly with their installation IG (AFI 90-6001, Chapter 1) to brief on complaints received concerning alleged incidents of reprisal and/or restriction from a victim, witness, bystander, SARC and SAPR VA, responder or other parties to an alleged sexual assault or sexual harassment complaint. Together, these Air Force requirements work to strengthen victim services through an integrated network of care overseen directly by installation commanders.

At the headquarters level, FY17 restructuring included establishment of the Interpersonal and Self-Directed Violence Response Division, integrating expertise from the medical, legal, AFOSI and IG disciplines into one office, and improving coordination with the Air Force Surgeon General system. In addition, the MAJCOM Consultation Site Visits will also strongly encourage alliance with local civilian stakeholders, continuous identification of resources and evidence-informed strategies that improve victim support.

Assessment of Victim Assistance and Advocacy Efforts

In addition to the aforementioned review of Management Internal Control Toolset self-assessment communicators for installation commanders, installation SARCs, and unit commanders, AF/A1Z also utilizes the required 24-hr notification and Sexual Assault Incident Response Oversight reports to review and evaluate victim assistance and advocacy efforts. In these reports, leadership at all levels has visibility on what type of support was offered to victims and when. Each report, whether restricted or unrestricted, provides MAJCOM and AF/A1Z oversight if there are any questions or concerns with response services and timeliness.

An additional indicator used by AF/A1Z to assess effectiveness of victim assistance and advocacy efforts is comparison of prevalence data to reporting data. As sexual assault remains an underreported crime, prevalence continues to exceed reporting. The primary objective of the Air Force SAPR Program is to reduce prevalence and increase reporting. Comparing prevalence to reporting gives the Air Force an indication of Airmen's confidence in the SAPR program. A decrease in the gap between prevalence and reporting may indicate increased confidence in the system as a result of effective victim assistance and advocacy efforts.

Ongoing efforts are also made to increase Defense Sexual Assault Incident Database data accuracy and to work with partners (i.e. Judge Advocate, Military Criminal Investigative Organization) to provide timely, error free data.

Procedures for suspending, revoking, and reinstating SARC and SAPR VA Certification

Procedures for suspending, revoking and reinstating certification of SARCs and SAPR VAs are outlined in Chapter 10 of AFI 90-6001. Upon receipt of a complaint of alleged actions inconsistent with the Defense Sexual Assault Advocate Certification Program professional code of ethics and/or standards, the installation commander is responsible for conducting a timely and appropriate inquiry on all matters within the commander's purview. The installation commander will immediately notify the SARC or SAPR VA in writing that a complaint has been received, an inquiry has been started, and their authority to perform SARC or VA duties is hereby suspended until reinstatement by the responsible commander when the inquiry is completed. During this suspension the SARC or VA will not have access to victims, victim files or Defense Sexual Assault Incident Database until reinstatement.

If the installation or host wing commander determines, in consultation with a staff judge advocate, civilian personnel office, SARC (or in instances when it is the SARC, consult the MAJCOM SARC) and unit commander if there is compelling evidence to support the complaint, he/she will determine whether to suspend or revoke the Defense Sexual Assault Advocate Certification Program certification. The installation commander will notify the SARC or VA in writing when suspending or revoking a Defense Sexual Assault Advocate Certification Program certification and provide a copy of the notification to AF/A1Z. The installation commander will also provide a written report to the MAJCOM Vice Commander and AF/A1Z SAPR Operations Branch within 3 business days of concluding an inquiry with the decision to retain, suspend, or revoke and the findings to support the decision. Air Force policy also requires that this notification will include acknowledgement of receipt from the SARC or VA on the decision, as well as information on the SARC or VAs right to appeal the decision and the procedures to do so. Should the complaint prove unfounded, the installation commander will reinstate the SARC or VA's certification via a written re-issuance letter. AF/A1Z will notify DoD SAPRO of any suspension, revocation or reinstatement decision within 5 duty days.

In instances where a suspension or revocation of certification is due to administrative error, the installation commander (or civilian equivalent) must issue a reinstatement letter to the Defense Sexual Assault Advocate Certification Program administrator to reinstate the SARC or SAPR VA. A copy of the letter will be forwarded to the MAJCOM SARC who will provide the DD Form 2950 to the AF/A1Z SAPR Operations Branch within 3 business days. The AF/A1Z SAPR Operations Branch provides DoD SAPRO the copy within 5 business days of receipt and in turn DoD SAPRO provides the letter to the Defense Sexual Assault Advocate Certification Program administrator within 5 business days of receipt from AF/A1Z.

At the end of FY17 there were 3 suspensions pending resolution, 4 finalized revocations, and 0 reinstatements across the Air Force.

Ensuring Male and Female Input in SAPR Policy Development

In 2016, AF/A1Z established a panel consisting of survivors of sexual assault, with the goal of gleaning insights based on the panel members' first-hand experience and interaction with the SAPR program, related service providers, and their chain of command. Through quarterly engagements throughout FY17, AF/A1Z guided the panel members to transfer their experiences with response to initiatives in prevention. Discussions related to improving the interpersonal skills of leaders, training fatigue, empathy, and intervention have bolstered AF/A1Z leaderships' efforts to improve response and prevention efforts in order to reduce the incidence of, and better support victims of, sexual assault and other forms of violence. Panel members also provided feedback on the content and format of the strategic SAPR Infographic which communicates trends in sexual assault prevalence and reporting for the previous fiscal year.

The Management Internal Control Toolset is another avenue for garnering input from male and female personnel who interact with the SAPR program on a regular basis. Feedback related to training accountability, program oversight, and protocols for transferring cases during an expedited transfer were incorporated into AFI 90-6001 via an Air Force Guidance Memorandum.

Improving the AF Response to Male Victims

The Air Force SAPR Course, the foundational training for our SARCs and SAPR VAs, provides information and education on estimated prevalence rates and addresses barriers unique to male sexual assault victims. The male victimization module identifies distinctive social and cultural pressures and confronts misconceptions that impact male survivors. This module addresses myths surrounding male victims of sexual assault, discusses hyper-masculinity, rituals, hazing and traditions within the Air Force culture. Additionally, the module provides guidance on advocacy and outreach for male victims. This provides our advocates a better understanding of how to be responsive when male victims come forward to report. In addition, attendees are provided information on resources that target male survivors, to include Male Survivor, Safe4athletes, 1in6, MenThriving, and the DoD Safe Helpline. This year, during the required 2017 AF/A1Z-hosted Refresher training, both SARCs and SAPR VAs received training on male victimization. SARCs received a training on “Understanding Men, Sexually Abused or Assaulted”, presented by Mr. Steve LePore with 1in6. SAPR VAs received a screening of the film “Boys and Men Healing” and participated in a facilitated discussion with the director Mr. Simon Weinberg. The training branch developed a specific training topic mandated for 2015 annual training on male victimization that was still available to be utilized as a training tool in FY17. Currently, the Air Force is working with DoD SAPRO on a working group to gain additional awareness, and will review and utilize evidence-informed and evidenced-based approaches that specifically target male victimization. The Air Force and its installations provide awareness of the SAPR Program that is gender responsive, culturally competent and recovery-oriented.

Ongoing efforts to improve response to male victims are a multi-faceted endeavor. In this pursuit the Air Force continues to collaborate with and learn from subject matter experts from across the country. Additionally, the Air Force uses surveys and a survivor’s panel (including both male and female victims) to gather feedback on its SAPR efforts, and institutionalize the solicitation of both male and female victim input.

During MAJCOM SARC Consultation Site Visits, discussion will also focus on the utilization of online training, local coalitions, identification of research and review of evidence informed resources for underserved populations. This would include male victims of sexual assault as well as victims who have experienced complex trauma.

Improving Joint Environment and Reserve Component Victim Care Services

In accordance with DoD Instruction (DoDI) 6495.02 (incorporating change 3): Members of the Reserve Components, whether they file a Restricted or Unrestricted Report, have access to medical treatment and counseling for injuries and illness incurred from a sexual assault inflicted upon a Service member when performing active duty service, as defined in section 101(d)(3) of Reference (d), and inactive duty training.

Regarding the Active Component, there are currently twelve Joint Bases across the DoD: Six are Air Force led (Joint Base Charleston, Joint Base McGuire-Dix-Lakehurst, Joint Base Andrews, Joint Base Elmendorf-Richardson, Joint Base San Antonio, and Joint Base Langley-Eustis); four are Navy led (Joint Base Anacostia-Bolling, Joint Base Pearl Harbor-Hickam, Joint Base Guam, and Joint Base Norfolk); and two are Army led (Joint Base Lewis-McChord and Joint Base Myer-Henderson Hall).

Joint Bases are similar to Air Force installations in the sense that Airmen at Joint Bases are trained to receive SAPR services and annual SAPR training from their respective Service. However, in accordance with DoD policy, a service member can receive SAPR services from any branch of service regardless of affiliation.

The Air Force provides victim care at Joint Bases, in Joint Environments, and at Reserve Component installations using a multi-faceted approach employing SARCs and SAPR

VAs. The SAPR staff, regardless of service affiliation, collaborate on prevention, outreach and training efforts at their installations.

Medical supplemental instructions are required at each Joint Base location. A medical supplemental instruction directs in detail the coordination and provision of services and care to medical beneficiaries at each Base Realignment and Closure Commission location. Additionally, the Assistant Secretary of Defense for Health Affairs has oversight of the services and, therefore, the military treatment facilities on each installation. Medical support and response to victims of sexual assault include: emergency services, primary care services, mental health services, alcohol/drug abuse prevention and treatment services, and family advocacy program services. Over 55 Air Force military treatment facilities have memorandums of understanding with civilian centers of excellence for emergency services to ensure sexual assault victims are provided the highest quality care.

To facilitate victim care for the Reserve Component, the Air Force has a full-time civilian SARC and a dedicated reserve officer VA assigned to each of its 11 host installations (Dobbins Air Reserve Base, Grissom Air Reserve Base, Homestead Air Reserve Base, March Air Reserve Base, Minneapolis-St. Paul International Air Port Air Reserve Station, Naval Air Station Joint Reserve Base Fort Worth (formally known as Carswell), Niagara Falls International Air Port Air Reserve Station, Pittsburgh International Air Port Air Reserve Station, Pope Army Airfield, Westover Air Reserve Base, and Youngstown Air Reserve Station). At each of these locations, Air Force Reserve Command assigns a traditional reserve officer in the rank of Major to the installation SAPR office with the job title of SAPR VA.

The Reserve Component facilitates care for its Airmen by referring sexual assault victims to medical and mental health treatment centers. To expedite care and meet a victim's needs, Reserve victims are generally referred to the nearest medical treatment facility or Veterans Health Administration facility. Coordinating care with Veterans Affairs enables the Reserve Component to meet a victim's needs when they are geographically separated from a military treatment center.

Additionally in FY17, the Air National Guard completed a review of manpower resources and determined all full-time SARC positions would be Title 5 status. The Air National Guard discusses their progress in improving victim care services at Joint Bases and in Joint Environments in their annual report. Please reference the National Guard Bureau Submission for more detailed information.

Service Member Requests for General Officer Review of Separation

During FY17, the Air Force had zero service members request a General Officer or Flag officer review their administrative separation. Separation actions involving sexual assault victims are processed in accordance with AFI 36-3207, Separating Commissioned Officers; AFI 36-3208, Administrative Separation of Airmen; and AFI 36-3209, Separation and Retirement Procedures for Air National Guard and Air Force Reserve Members. When a commander recommends administrative or medical separation action and is aware, or is made aware, by the respondent or others that the respondent is alleging or has alleged that he/she was a victim of sexual assault, the commander shall notify the separation authority that the discharge proceeding involves a sexual assault victim. Further, the Air Force requires commanders to include this information in the recommendation for discharge and that they must provide sufficient information to the separation authority concerning the alleged assault and the respondent's status to ensure a full and fair consideration of the circumstances. If an Air Force member who made an unrestricted report is recommended for involuntary separation within 1 year of final disposition of their sexual assault allegation, the member can request review of their administrative or involuntary separation by the first General Officer or Flag Officer in their chain of command.

Military Protective Orders Issued as a Result of Unrestricted Report

There were 105 Military Protective Orders issued in FY17 as a result of an unrestricted report, and 2 of them were violated. To improve protections and reinforce commanders' understanding of their options, AF/A1Z will include additional details in the Commander's Toolkit SAPR Talking Points regarding the option to issue No Contact Orders or Military Protective Orders, as well as the responsibility to notify law enforcement when a Military Protective Order is issued as a result of an unrestricted report.

Medical Care Hindrance Due to Lack of Access to Services

The Air Force has not received any indications that medical care has been hindered due to a lack of access to forensic exams, mental health counseling, laboratory testing, or other related resources. For victims of sexual assault who reported to a SARC and signed a DD Form 2910, there were no Sexual Assault Incident Response Oversight reports submitted to AF/A1Z that indicated the above resources were not available.

2.2 Briefly describe your leadership-approved future plans to deliver consistent and effective advocacy and care for all Service members or their adult dependents.

AF/A1Z has and will continue to provide a trained and ready response to reports of sexual assault in accordance with National Defense Authorization Act and DoD requirements. Each installation hosts, at a minimum, one full-time SARC and a full-time SAPR VA who are credentialed to provide a variety of services to sexual assault victims and survivors. They provide victims/survivors with the capability to make a report using current reporting options, and to do this in the context of their understanding of the trauma they may have experienced. They assist and empower individuals to make an informed decision by providing knowledge about the process of reporting and resources available to them throughout the entire process. Detailed descriptions of the specific roles and responsibilities were updated in the approved Air Force Guidance Memorandum to AFI 90-6001, Sexual Assault Prevention and Response (SAPR) Program.

Response efforts are focused in three areas: victim care and support, professional investigation of all reports, and prosecution of the crime as appropriate. SARCs and SAPR VAs offer both the expertise required for individuals who have been impacted by this crime and essential support to commanders, as well as response and advocacy for victims/survivors. Installation SAPR programs offer a unique 24/7 response capability and utilize trained and certified Volunteer VAs to manage this capability. While the full-time positions are filled primarily by civilians, military personnel also support this capability, especially in Volunteer VA positions. Consistent and effective advocacy and support also requires a coordinated response with medical personnel, first responders, legal, investigative and community support agencies. In pursuit of the highest level of service to Airmen, every effort is made to provide continuing education, regular communication and guidance to the field, and on-going assessment of current programs, policies, and procedures regarding the care of victims/survivors.

Comprehensive interviewing techniques help to establish rapport with victims/survivors and aim to ensure that victims will not be judged or blamed for the assault when interacting with responders. These techniques are taught and demonstrated in formal training (i.e. the Air Force SARC and SAPR VA Course) through role playing and other types of experiential learning strategies. SAPR personnel are trained to utilize a victim-centered approach to taking reports and empowering victims/survivors to elect their follow-up care by providing them information which will help them make an informed decision. AF/A1Z is genuinely interested in increasing reporting and reducing prevalence of sexual assault. To that end, leadership remains committed to deploying strategies that help to eliminate sexual assault from all ranks. Sexual assault is a sensitive and complex issue which requires the engagement of the entire community, therefore all Airmen play a significant role in ensuring a culture and environment that guarantees everyone's personal safety.

3. Goal 3—Investigation—“Sustain a high level of competence in the investigation of adult sexual assault using investigative resources to yield timely results.”

3.1 Summarize your efforts to achieve the Investigation goal. (DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Strategic Plan, 2017-2021 (December 1, 2016), Goal 3 – Investigation, p. 9)

In this strategic summary, consider the following for inclusion, especially when there have been significant changes to the following matters (there is no need to repeat prior Annual Report submissions if these processes have remained largely the same as in prior years):

- Overall Approach: What force-wide initiatives did your Military Service employ this year to improve investigation of sexual assault cases? What enhancements have been made to your Military Services' Special Victim Investigation and Prosecution Capability for MCIOs? (DoDI 5509.19, “Establishment of Special Victim Investigation and Prosecution (SVIP) Capability within the Military Criminal Investigative Organizations (MCIOs)”)
- What continuing efforts are being made to increase collaboration and improve interoperability with civilian law enforcement to include sharing information on Civilian and Military Protective Orders and assuring receipt of civilian case

dispositions? (DoDI 6495.02, "Sexual Assault Prevention and Response (SAPR) Program Procedures," (July 7, 2015), Encl 4, para 3g)

REQUIRED:

- What metrics are being used to assess the effectiveness of investigation efforts intended to sustain a high level of competence in the investigation of adult sexual assault? (DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Strategic Plan, 2017-2021 (December 1, 2016), Goal 3 – Investigation, p. 9)
- What updates have been made to the training of your Military Service MCIO and other DoD law enforcement activity (LEA) resources assigned to conduct an investigation of adult sexual assault? Describe efforts undertaken to provide training and guidance to all first responders to a sexual assault allegation, ensuring the preservation of evidence and witness testimony. (DoDI 6495.02, "Sexual Assault Prevention and Response (SAPR) Program Procedures," (May 24, 2017), Encl 10, para 4p / DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Strategic Plan "Task List," (December 1, 2016), Goal 3 – Investigation, Objective 3.1, Task #1, p. 4 / DoDI 5505.18, "Investigation of Adult Sexual Assault in the Department of Defense," (March, 22 2017), para 3.3, p. 7)
- What efforts are being made to improve or address turnaround time for evidence sent to the Defense Forensic Science Center (e.g., processing of Sexual Assault Forensic Examination (SAFE) kits and other evidence)? (Joint Chiefs of Staff Strategic Direction to the Joint Force on SAPR (May 7, 2012), p. 11)

Overall Approach

AFOSI maintained their timely delivery of sexual assault investigations in FY17. The median time to conduct and publish reports of investigations in over 900 adult victim sexual assault cases remained at 75 days; however, the average time declined from 106 days in Calendar Year (CY) 2016 to 98 days in CY17. AFOSI is confident investigation timeliness will remain stable in CY18 as AFOSI plans to maintain its mission metric for timeliness throughout CY18.

AFOSI also maintained a robust case quality review process in FY17 although the process was modified to complement the new Air Force Inspection System process. Recently completed investigation reports continue to be randomly selected for quality reviews; however, the headquarters case review focus was adjusted to assess how well AFOSI intermediate headquarters staff were performing in their ability to identify quality concerns in investigations. The new review process has been very well received by AFOSI field units, resulting in a more collaborative, peer review-oriented process, and improved communications about investigation sufficiency and timeliness.

Air Force Security Forces leadership continued to provide investigator resources to augment AFOSI to conduct non-penetration sexual offenses cases. At the end of CY17, 31 Security Forces members were working jointly as Joint Sexual Assault Teams in AFOSI field offices.

AFOSI adjusted internal policy in CY17 after conferring with staff personnel from the Inspector General, DoD, and staff from the Air Force Special Victim Counsel Program. Under current policy, AFOSI may defer opening a substantive sexual assault investigation when: a victim has not, cannot, or will not, identify an alleged perpetrator; AFOSI has insufficient information with which to identify the alleged perpetrator; the alleged crime did not occur on an installation; and the victim communicates he or she does not want to participate in an investigation. The change in policy allows AFOSI and command to have awareness of sexual assault crimes and the ability to not pursue investigations where alleged perpetrators have not or cannot be identified. If a victim changes their mind, or additional information about a sexual assault becomes known, AFOSI may proceed with a substantive investigation. Allowing victims the time and space they need to determine if they want to participate in a substantive criminal investigation empowers victims to proceed, when and if, they become ready.

In an effort to further develop cross-disciplinary collaboration with personnel with the Air Force Special Victims' Counsel Program and Family Advocacy Program, senior AFOSI personnel made presentations at four Special Victims' Counsel training events, two held at the Air Force Judge Advocate General School, and two Family Advocacy Program-wide training events, focused on combating sexual assaults and domestic sexual violence. These events afforded an opportunity to foster better communication and collaborative procedures for jointly working sexual and domestic violence offenses in the Air Force.

AFOSI's continued emphasis on looking into the history of every individual accused of sexual assault in an attempt to identify other victims has continued to be productive. Multiple victims (serial activity) are identified in approximately 15 to 20 percent of cases.

Finally, in CY17, AFOSI completed filling all seven GS-14 senior criminal investigations subject matter expert positions - one position at each of its major intermediate headquarters - to provide enhanced consultation and operational oversight to sexual assault investigations. Each subject matter expert has over 20 years of criminal investigation experience; each also has advanced training in conducting sexual assault investigations.

Improving Interoperability with Civilian Law Enforcement

The Air Force Logistics, Engineering, and Force Protection (AF/A4) Security Forces Directorate updated an AFI detailing when and how military protective orders will be placed in the National Crime Information Center database. This update provides awareness of Military Protective Orders to civilian Law Enforcement agencies nationwide.

Assessing the Effectiveness of Investigative Efforts

In February 2017, the DoD IG published its report, Evaluation of Military Criminal Investigative Organizations' Adult Sexual Assault Investigations (Project No. 2016C003), DODIG-2017-054, citing DoD inspectors found no major deficiencies in any of the 159 randomly selected adult victim sexual assault investigations conducted by AFOSI in CYs 2013-15.

Training for Military Criminal Investigative Organization and Law Enforcement Personnel

In FY17, AFOSI held four iterations of its 64-hour long Sexual Crimes Investigations Training Program course at the Federal Law Enforcement Training Center in Georgia. In total, 120 AFOSI agents, Air Force Judge Advocate General officers and Security Forces members assigned to AFOSI-Security Forces Joint Sexual Assault Teams, received training in various advanced techniques and knowledge pertaining to memory formed under traumatic circumstances, counterintuitive victim behavior in sexual assaults, investigator cognitive biases, and the use of Cognitive Interviewing in investigations, etc. End of course attendee critiques remained very favorable with overall assessments being 4.5 on a five point scale.

Turn-Around Time for Evidence Sent to the Defense Forensic Center

AFOSI continued to receive high-quality forensic sciences laboratory support for sexual assault cases from the U.S. Army Criminal Investigations Laboratory. At the end of FY 17, the U.S. Army Criminal Investigations Laboratory’s turn-around-times for DNA evidence in AFOSI sexual assault cases was 68 days.

3.2 Briefly describe your leadership-approved future plans to sustain a high level of competence in the investigation of adult sexual assault.

AFOSI will sustain a high level of competence in the investigation of adult sexual assault through continued training and robust oversight of investigations. AFOSI recently conducted a comprehensive review of the curriculum for its Sexual Crimes Investigations Training Program Course. Revisions to the Sexual Crimes Investigations Training Program, which include additional training in domestic violence sexual assaults, will be integrated in the course starting in CY18. The Sexual Crimes Investigations Training Program will continue to be held five times per year; 150 Special Agents, Security Forces and Judge Advocates will continue to be trained in Sexual Crimes Investigations Training Program in CY18. In addition, Headquarters AFOSI quality case reviews will continue to be conducted on adult victims sexual assault cases. DoD IG has informed AFOSI that they will continue to review AFOSI's sexual assault cases through periodic assessments. AFOSI will also maintain its expectation to maintain a 75 day median investigation completion time for adult victim sexual assault cases; AFOSI will maintain monthly reporting of compliance with the 75-day metric.

4. Goal 4—Accountability—“Maintain a high competence in holding alleged offenders appropriately accountable.”

4.1 Summarize your efforts to achieve the Accountability goal. (DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Strategic Plan, 2017-2021 (December 1, 2016), Goal 4 – Accountability, p. 9)

In this strategic summary, consider the following for inclusion, especially when there have been significant or force-wide changes to how your Military Service addresses the following matters (there is no need to repeat prior Annual Report submissions if these processes have remained largely the same as in prior years):

- Overall Approach: What force-wide initiatives did your Military Service employ this year to improve legal support to Service members and adult family members who reported a sexual assault? What enhancements have been made to the SAPR training provided to those who are affiliated with the Special Victim Investigation and Prosecution Capability program (paralegals, trial counsel, and victim-witness assistance personnel) for responding to allegations of sexual assault? (DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Strategic Plan "Task List," (December 1, 2016), Goal 4 – Accountability, Objective 4.1, Task #1, p. 4)
- What are your efforts to ensure SARC, SAPR VA, MCIO, and commander knowledge of recent victim rights and military justice updates? (DoDI 6495.02, "Sexual Assault Prevention and Response (SAPR) Program Procedures," (July 7, 2015), Encl 10, para 7)

REQUIRED:

- What metrics are being used to assess the effectiveness of holding alleged offenders appropriately accountable, to include your Military Service's metrics for measuring the success of the SVC/VLC program? (SecDef Memo (August 14, 2013), Improving Victim Legal Support, p. 1 / NDAA for FY 2016, section 532 / NDAA for FY 2013, section 573)
- Describe enhancements to the Special Victims' Counsel (SVC)/ Victims' Legal Counsel (VLC) program. Describe efforts to plan and fund for these programs in your POM process. (SecDef Memo (August 14, 2013), Improving Victim Legal Support, p. 1 / NDAA for FY 2016, section 532 / NDAA for FY 2013, section 573)
- (NGB) What efforts are being made to reassess the Office of Complex Administrative Investigation's (OCI) timeliness and resources to determine how to improve the timeliness of processing sexual assault investigations involving members of the Army National Guard, and identify the resources needed to improve the timeliness of these investigations? (GAO Report 17-217, Better Resource Management Needed to Improve Prevention and Response in the Army National Guard and Army Reserve (February 27, 2017), p. 2)
- Has your Military Service experienced any challenges in implementing 10 USC 1565b(b)(3) regarding states laws and confidential disclosures of a sexual assault. (NDAA for FY 2016, section 536 / DoDI 6495.02, "Sexual Assault Prevention and Response (SAPR) Program Procedures," (May 24, 2017), para 4b(3))

Overall Approach

Judge advocates, paralegals, Victim and Witness Assistance Program personnel, and legal assistance attorneys must complete specialized SAPR First Responder training on an annual basis. This self-guided training covers a variety of topics including: restricted and unrestricted reporting options; the role of the SARC and VA; transitional compensation; the Special Victims' Counsel program and victim's rights; and training on working with victims of trauma and sexual assault. This training is completed in accordance with the requirements of DoDI 6495.02, Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Program Procedures, Enclosure 10, paragraph 7. Each year, the training is reviewed by functional experts and updated with changes in the law and an eye towards developing trends of interest to the legal community.

The Air Force's Special Victim Investigation and Prosecution capability is comprised of judge advocates and paralegals who have taken the First Responder training course. In addition to the general training provided to those noted above, all judge advocates with duties in military justice involving the investigation, disposition, prosecution, or defense of sexual assault cases must complete an additional training focused specifically on the mechanics of a sexual assault case and issues of interest during the investigation, charging, prosecution, and appellate stages. Senior Trial Counsel, who are the Air Force's most experienced prosecutors, received advanced training through various military and civilian courses. These trainings include: the National District Attorney's Association Sex Crimes Seminar; Prosecuting Alcohol Facilitated Sexual Assault, provided by the Naval Justice School; the National Sexual Assault Conference; and the National Crime Victims Law Institute Conference. Currently, all 23 Senior Trial Counsel have advanced training from civilian and military courses.

Special Victim Investigation and Prosecution capability is also enhanced by Senior Trial Counsel through various training courses, to include: Trial and Defense Advocacy Course; Military Justice Administration Course; Intermediate Sexual Assault Litigation Course; Advanced Sexual Assault Litigation Course; the Training by Reservists in Advocacy and Litigation Skills; and the Sex Crimes Investigation and Training Program. The teaching faculty for the Sexual Crimes Investigations Training Program is a multi-disciplinary group of people and includes: Senior Trial Counsel; the Air Force Judge Advocate General's Counsel attorney subject matter expert in the areas of sexual assault, domestic violence, and child abuse; the Associate Chief of Special Victims' Counsel; a sexual assault medical forensic examiner; Headquarters SAPR personnel; and Headquarters AFOSI personnel.

Furthermore, legal personnel, including those who are part of the Air Force's Special Victim Investigation and Prosecution capability, are kept informed of legislative changes to the military justice system, such as the FY17 National Defense Authorization Act, in numerous ways. The FY17 National Defense Authorization Act provided one of the most significant revisions to the military justice process in over 30 years. Following its passage, multiple in-person and virtual (webinar) training opportunities were provided covering the major changes effective 1 Jan 19; comprehensive training for all military justice practitioners on the changes contained in the FY17 National Defense Authorization Act will be provided throughout 2018. Many of the changes impact the investigation and trial process and the Air Force is monitoring these changes with a lens toward how they impact victims of crime.

Ensuring Knowledge of Victim Rights and Military Justice Updates

The Senior Officer Legal Orientation provides legal training that prepares wing, vice wing, and group commanders to exercise authorities assigned to them under the Uniform Code of Military Justice. This legal training includes instruction on military justice issues to include sexual assault cases and is held at the Air Force Judge Advocate General's School at Maxwell AFB in conjunction with the Air Force's Wing/Group Commander's Course. Students also receive training on victim rights, which is given by the Special Victims' Counsel Division Chief.

Special Victims' Counsel leadership provides training regarding victims' rights and the Special Victims' Counsel Division at the SARC/SAPR VA orientation courses provided at the Air Force Personnel Professional Development School six times a year. In 2017, a Senior Special Victims' Counsel provided an overview and update at the annual SARC/SAPR VA refresher training as well. The Special Victims' Counsel Associate Chief provides training at AFOSI's Sexual Crimes Investigations Training Program, which is offered five times a year. Regularly, Special Victims' Counsel in the field provide specialized training to trial counsel, paralegals and victim-witness assistance personnel, Military Criminal Investigative Organizations, and SARCs and SAPR VAs, ensuring that they receive updates about victims' rights. Special Victims' Counsel offer training to installation legal offices whenever the Special Victims' Counsel travels for litigation purposes. Special Victims' Counsel and Special Victims' Paralegals provide training at Commander's Calls, First Sergeant's meetings, and other installation level training in order to inform them of legal updates in victims' rights. When briefing legal updates regarding victims' rights, Special Victims' Counsel/Special Victims' Paralegals cover a variety of topics to include (but not limited to) identifying the opportunities that victims have to provide input to the government, availability of and changes in the law with respect to Article 6b representatives for incapacitated victims, and developments in appellate law.

Assessing the Effectiveness of Holding Alleged Offenders Accountable

Air Force Special Victims' Counsel leadership led the development of performance measures, outlined in the DoD General Counsel memorandum, dated April 15, 2016, (attached to this response) which comply with FY16 National Defense Authorization Act requirement. Subsequently, the Air Force Special Victims' Counsel Division Chief was named the Chairperson of the Inter-service Special Victims' Counsel/Victims' Legal Counsel Coordination Committee. The Inter-service Coordination Committee meets quarterly, and each Special Victims' Counsel/Victims' Legal Counsel Division provides periodic reports to the DoD General Counsel.

Special Victims' Counsel Division effectiveness is also tracked using victims' responses in the Air Force Victim Impact Survey. Survey responses received in FY17 reflected the following:

- 95% of respondents were satisfied with the advice and support the Special Victims' Counsel provided during the Article 32 preliminary hearing and/or court-martial proceedings (90% of respondents were "extremely satisfied" with 5% respondents indicating that they were "extremely dissatisfied" or "dissatisfied");

- 99% would recommend other victims request a Special Victims' Counsel;
- 94% indicated that their Special Victims' Counsel advocated effectively on their behalf (6% of respondents "strongly disagreed" with this statement); and
- 94% indicated that their Special Victims' Counsel helped them understand the investigation and court-martial processes (6% respondents "strongly disagreed" with this statement).

Enhancements to the Special Victims' Counsel/ Victims' Legal Counsel Program

The Air Force has made enhancements to the Special Victims' Counsel Division through new training blocks, sustained manpower, and enhanced organizational structure.

Incoming Special Victims' Counsel Division personnel completed the May 2017 Special Victims' Counsel Course at Air Force Judge Advocate General's School. Two incoming Senior Special Victims' Counsel, 25 incoming Special Victims' Counsel, and 17 incoming Special Victims' Paralegals received 56 blocks of instruction regarding representation of adult and child victims of sexual assault, along with the incoming Division Chief and Deputy Division Chief. New blocks of instruction this year included those focused on: unique experiences of male survivors; retaliation and ostracism; and representation of DoD civilians. All attendees participated in three role-playing exercises in which they received feedback from Special Victims' Counsel leadership and faculty from Air Force Judge Advocate General's School. The exercises included adult and child intake meetings and a mock motion hearing. All attendees heard from several Special Victims' Counsel clients in four different sessions featuring adult sexual assault survivors.

The Air Force has continued to ensure the Special Victims' Counsel Division is adequately manned to operate 48 Special Victims' Counsel offices world-wide. As of October 2017, all but one Special Victims' Counsel and all but three Special Victims' Paralegals positions have been filled. This increase in personnel has decreased the overall average case load of each Special Victims' Counsel from approximately 30 cases per Special Victims' Counsel to approximately 20 cases, thereby improving the quality of services to each individual client.

Consistent with the Air Force Judiciary, the Air Force Special Victims' Counsel Division is structured into five Circuits: Pacific, European, Western, Central, and Eastern. The growing number of Special Victims' Counsel and Special Victims' Paralegals personnel has driven an organizational change to include the creation of the Special Victims' Counsel Division's first Circuit Paralegal Manager Position. This position provides critical operations oversight within the Special Victims' Counsel Circuit structure and will aid in recruitment of top-tier paralegals to the Special Victims' Counsel Division. Further, the position provides professional development and upward mobility opportunities for those paralegals already in the Division.

In the past fiscal year, the Air Force continued to fund development and refinement of a client management system for Special Victims' Counsels. This system will allow Division leadership to better assess Special Victims' Counsel performance and workload as well as program efficacy. The Air Force also provided significant funding for Special Victims' Counsel travel in support of litigation and outreach efforts. Special Victims' Counsels regularly travel to meet with their clients in order to develop and maintain effective representation. Special Victims' Counsels travel to Article 32 preliminary hearings, pre-trial motions hearings, and courts-martial (both finding and sentencing proceedings). Additionally, equipment, furniture, and office renovations were purchased throughout the fiscal year to establish and update Special Victims' Counsel office space.

Challenges Implementing 10 USC 1565(b)3

The Air Force has not received any reports of challenges related to forced disclosures of personally identifiable information required by state law or regulation. Installations should establish Memorandums of Agreement or Understanding with local area private or public sector entities to ensure a clear understanding of expectations regarding military-affiliated victims of sexual assault who seek medical care outside of a Military Treatment Facility.

4.2 Briefly describe your leadership-approved future plans to maintain a high competence in holding alleged offenders appropriately accountable.

Leadership continues to aggressively seek and provide training to all Senior Trial Counsel on advanced litigation practice for sexual assault crimes. These trainings include those conducted by military and civilian agencies. In addition to receiving training, all Senior Trial Counsel are required to conduct training for Assistant Staff Judge Advocates and paralegals at the various Wing legal offices they visit for trial. The Senior Trial Counsel also provide training through the various courses offered at Air Force Judge Advocate General's School (see 4.1 above).

5. Goal 5—Assessment—“Effectively measure, analyze, assess, and report SAPR Program progress to improve effectiveness.”

5.1 Summarize your efforts to achieve the Assessment goal. (DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Strategic Plan, 2017-2021 (December 1, 2016), Goal 5 – Assessment, p. 10)

In this strategic summary, consider the following for inclusion, especially when there have been significant or force-wide changes to how your Military Service addresses the following matters (there is no need to repeat prior Annual Report submissions if these processes have remained largely the same as in prior years):

- Overall Approach: What force-wide initiatives did your Military Service employ to ensure the quality, reliability, and validity of data collected in the Defense Sexual Assault Incident Database (DSAID)? (DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Strategic Plan, 2017-2021 (December 1, 2016), Goal 5 – Assessment, Objective 5.1, p. 10 / DoDI 6495.02, “Sexual Assault Prevention and Response (SAPR) Program Procedures,” (May 24, 2017), Encl 2, para 6ad)

- What transition policies are in place for incoming personnel to ensure Service member sponsorship and unit integration into a chain of command? (DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Strategic Plan “Task List,” (December 1, 2016), Goal 5 – Assessment, Objective 5.1, Task 8, p. 4)

REQUIRED:

- What are your efforts to enhance SAPR Program oversight activities, to include the use of recent surveys (e.g., WGRA and MIJES) and insights from the Government Accountability Office, advisory committees, internal inspections, and feedback from enlisted and officer trainees to improve your programs and services? (DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Strategic Plan, 2017-2021, (December 1, 2016), Objective 5.2, p. 10 / DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Strategic Plan “Task List,” (December 1, 2016), Goal 5 – Assessment, Objective 5.1, Tasks #2 & #6, p. 4)

- What policy and procedures are in place to fulfill the 50-year retention of DD Form 2910 (Victim Reporting Preference Statement) and DD Form 2911 (DoD Sexual Assault Forensic Examination Report) regardless of whether the Service member filed a Restricted or Unrestricted Report? (NDAA for FY 2014, section 1723 / DoDI 6495.02, “Sexual Assault Prevention and Response (SAPR) Program Procedures,” (May 24, 2017), para 4u)

- What policy and procedures are in place to implement minimum qualification standards to be selected, trained, and certified as a SAPR Program Manager? (NDAA for FY 2014, section 1725 / Under Secretary of Defense for Personnel and Readiness Memorandum, “Certification Standards for Department of Defense Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Program Managers,” (March 10, 2015))

Overall Approach

In FY17, AF/A1Z included a 60-min training block on the Defense Sexual Assault Incident Database during the AF annual refresher training. In addition, AF/A1Z provides one-on-one training assistance and/or Defense Connect Online Defense Sexual Assault Incident Database training sessions for SARCs and SAPR VAs as requested.

Through FY17, AF/A1Z also continued its monthly reporting to MAJCOMs highlighting Defense Sexual Assault Incident Database errors for monitoring and quality control. Further, AF/A1Z utilizes the SAS Institute Inc. analytic tool to find required data missing from Defense Sexual Assault Incident Database records as needed when the MAJCOM or installation SARCs and SAPR VAs are unable to retrieve the data at their level. Any trends or updates on Defense Sexual Assault Incident Database data input are discussed with the field on a monthly basis during AF/A1Z General Officer led MAJCOM SARC teleconferences, or ad hoc as needed.

Finally, AF/A1Z submitted a request to DoD SAPRO for a permanent exception to policy to grant SAPR VAs Defense Sexual Assault Incident Database access on a case by case basis. This initiative, when tested in FY16 and through early FY17, assisted in decreasing the Defense Sexual Assault Incident Database error rate by 23%. The Air Force request for a permanent exception to policy was granted by the Undersecretary of Defense for Personnel Readiness at the end of FY17. With the ability for SAPR VAs to assist SARCs in entering Defense Sexual Assault Incident Database data, the Air Force anticipates continued improvement in quality, reliability and validity of sexual assault response data input.

Sponsorship Policies

Ensuring survivors of sexual assault have a positive sponsorship experience is a commander's responsibility. While there is no longer a generalized AF-level sponsorship requirement, commanders are advised at various times that they must ensure a smooth integration process for personnel entering their unit, and the Air Force is beta testing a new sponsorship strategy at four installations to ensure all transitioning Airmen embrace a general culture supportive of help-seeking (through an initiative titled Task Force True North). Venues such as Squadron Commander Courses and one-on-one sessions with the installation SARC are also used to advise commanders regarding sponsorship/integration. Additionally, SARCs are trained and encouraged to include sponsorship/integration as a discussion topic during commander one-on-one sessions.

Enhancing SAPR Program Oversight

As in previous years, AF/A1Z thoroughly reviewed inputs from existing surveys to include the 2016 Military Investigation and Justice Experience Survey, 2016 Workplace and Gender Relations Survey of Active Duty Members, and the 2016 Survivor Experience Panel to gather feedback and recommended changes for current Air Force prevention and response training and policy. For instance, all three sources reinforced an overall improved and positive perception of SAPR and Special Victims' Counsel advocacy services. However, these sources also highlighted a significant dissatisfaction with individual commanders or members of their chain of command. Specifically, perceived incidents of professional reprisal, ostracism and maltreatment significantly influenced victim overall satisfaction with the response process.

With these factors in mind, AF/A1Z ensured inclusion of retaliation in the CY17 Commander's Talking Points. In total, the 12 SAPR response-specific Talking Points, supplemented by prevention-focused Green Dot training, comprise the AF annual SAPR training requirement for the total force. As suggested through feedback obtained from the aforementioned sources, the retaliation discussion includes information on resources available to report retaliation as a victim, clarify the definition of retaliation for all Airmen, and tips on how leaders at all levels can ensure that they are not inadvertently retaliating against a victim of sexual assault. Further, the Air Force includes policy that the Case Management Group chair will require that any complaints received from a victim concerning coercion, retaliation, ostracism, maltreatment, or reprisal be included on the agenda and remain on the agenda until the victim's case has reached final disposition or the complaint has been appropriately addressed according to the Case Management Group chair.

In addition to this direct implementation of feedback in future iterations of training and policy, as previously mentioned, the 2015 and 2016 Audit Reports also influenced a direct update of AFI 90-6001 and implementation of the oversight mechanism via Consultation Site Visits with MAJCOMs. These visits include review and documentation for each command on the following focus areas: Program Oversight and Compliance, Manpower, Policy Clarification, Education and Training, Communication, Budget, Defense Sexual Assault Incident Database Data Management, Monthly and Quarterly Reports/Notifications, Support to Geographically Separated Units, Program Documentation, File Plans, and Professional Development.

50 Year Retention Policy

AFI 90-6001 provides guidance on 50 year document retention for the DD Form 2910 and DD Form 2911 in both the case of unrestricted and restricted reports. Procedurally, SARCs retain the DD Form 2910 in the Defense Sexual Assault Incident Database for unrestricted reports, and in accordance with DoD guidance for the storage of personally identifiable information for restricted reports. The DD Form 2911 is maintained by the applicable medical facility under a double-lock mechanism to meet the 50 year retention requirement.

SAPR Program Manager Qualification Policies and Procedures

AFI 90-6001 provides guidance on the minimum qualifications to become a SAPR Program Manager. Procedurally, all SARCs (Program Managers) must complete the Air Force SARC Course, Defense Sexual Assault Advocate Certification Program certification, and all screening criteria as described in paragraph 2.2 of AFI 90-6001.

5.2 Describe your leadership-approved future plans for effectively measuring, analyzing, assessing, and reporting SAPR program progress to improve effectiveness.

The 2018 leadership-approved goal for an effective SAPR Program is an increase in reporting. Objectives to support this goal are streamlined reporting processes, improved training for supervisors in processes/resources to support victim care, and improvements in victim assessments of the response system. The metric for increased reporting will be the ratio between reports and prevalence, with a specific focus on reporting within 12 months of assault. Program objective assessment will be measured by: improved collaboration among response agencies; improvements in the Expedited Transfer process; and earlier engagement with Third Party Reporting. Additionally, focus groups and training evaluations will be used to measure effectiveness of supervisor training post-curriculum development. The key to supervisor training is to incorporate skills and knowledge transfer into existing core duty tasks without development of stand-alone training requirements.

6. Core Functions: Communication and Policy

6.1 Provide a brief summary for new or expanded efforts taken in FY17 on the following:

- How does your Military Service publicize the sexual assault restricted and unrestricted reporting options to your Service members and adult dependents? (DoDI 6495.02, “Sexual Assault Prevention and Response (SAPR) Program Procedures,” (May 24, 2017), Encl 4)
- How are commanders being held accountable for the climate of their units? What actions (both positive and negative) are taken by senior commanders to document the subordinate commander’s success or failure in establishing and maintaining a supportive command climate? (SecDef Memo (May 6, 2013), Enhancing Commander Accountability, p. 2)

REQUIRED:

- How does your Military Service publicize to your Service members the different individuals and organizations available (i.e., SARCs, VAs, SVC/VLCs, command, IG, MCIO, law enforcement, etc.) to assist them in addressing sexual assault-related retaliation? (DoD Retaliation Prevention and Response Implementation Plan (January 2017), p. 11)
- How does your Military Service disseminate information to first responders, uniformed witnesses, and bystanders on the protections available to them if they are retaliated against for providing assistance to sexual assault victims? (DoD Retaliation Prevention and Response Implementation Plan (January 2017), p. 11)

Publicizing Reporting Options

The Air Force is committed to ensuring all sexual assault victims are protected, treated with dignity and respect, and provided support, advocacy, and care. In 2015, the Air Force was granted an exception to policy from the DoD to expand SAPR services to AF Civilian employees, allowing them to make an unrestricted or restricted report. All newly assigned SARCs and SAPR VAs attend the AF/A1Z-hosted course taught at Air University where they receive detailed training on restricted and unrestricted reporting in a classroom setting - who is eligible, the differences between the two reports, forms needed, etc. Lessons are interactive presentations; student involvement and participation heightens the learning experience. Once graduates return to their respective installations, they are responsible for providing training to their base population on the various programs available to victims of sexual assault, as well as to ensure clear and accurate information is available for reporting a sexual assault, both unrestricted and restricted. They facilitate education of command personnel (e.g. Commanders, Chief Master Sergeants, and senior civilians) on victim advocacy services as well as military dependents over 18 years old. They also facilitate the development of SAPR public awareness campaigns and collaborate with other agencies and activities, both on and off the installation. In addition, AF/A1Z developed SAPR Talking Points for commanders to communicate with their Airmen on various sexual assault related topics. One titled "SAPR Reporting Options" provides information on restricted and unrestricted reporting and the differences with each. Airmen have an opportunity to ask questions as well as to visit their installation SARC for additional information.

Holding Commanders Accountable for Unit Climate

AFI 36-2406, Officer and Enlisted Evaluations Systems outlines the commander's responsibility to maintain a healthy climate and how senior commanders/evaluators must take this into account when evaluating both the success or failure in establishing and maintaining a supportive command climate.

Paragraph 1.8.5.2. reads: Commanders at every level have an even greater responsibility to create a healthy climate in their command. Additionally, they are responsible for ensuring adherence to SAPR Program directives. Command climate, just like organizational climate, is the perception of a unit's environment by its members. Commanders are ultimately responsible for the good order and discipline in their unit and have a unique responsibility and authority to ensure good order and discipline. Therefore, evaluators must take this special responsibility and authority into consideration when evaluating a commander's effectiveness in ensuring a healthy command climate.

Publicizing Information on Support Services

At the installation level, SAPR Programs are required to establish and publicize installation support services including office contact numbers, 24/7 response line, DoD Safe Helpline, and installation-specific SAPR websites. Common methods of distribution include flyers, Wingman/business cards, pamphlets, base paper articles and social media sites. In addition, installations are also required to review and provide to MAJCOM SARCs on a quarterly basis a current listing of local responder and support agency contact information (to include on-base and off-base first responders, Special Victims' Counsel/Victims' Legal Counsel, IG, and Military Criminal Investigative Organization) for publication on the DoD Safe Helpline.

Advertisement and awareness of sexual assault-related retaliation resources is also achieved through in-person mandatory training and supplemental briefings/events, led by installation SARCs and SAPR VAs. These contact opportunities include (though are not limited to) Newcomer's Orientation, Key Spouse briefings, First Term Airmen Course, Health and Wellness Fairs, Wingman Day events, Sexual Assault Awareness and Prevention Month activities, Commander's Calls, and Officer/Enlisted Professional Military Education courses.

As previously mentioned, retaliation is also included in the 2017 Commander's Talking Points. In addition to covering general strategies, this lesson also includes local contact information for members to reference as needed. Talking Points were mandatory training for Airmen in 2016 and 2017.

In addition to the myriad of briefings Special Victims' Counsels and Special Victims' Paralegals provide regularly (for example, first-term Airman courses, newcomer orientations, squadron commanders courses, commanders calls, and similar events), Special Victims' Counsel and Special Victims' Paralegals posters are displayed at every base. Phone numbers are made available as well to SARCs and SAPR VAs, Family Advocacy Program personnel, and AFOSI agents. Special Victims' Counsel offices also produce handouts and flyers that are distributed around installations.

Disseminating Information on Retaliation Protections

In addition to the publication procedures highlighted above, Air Force annual training to first responders also specifically addresses retaliation information and resources. This includes information on briefing uniformed witnesses and bystanders by responders if required. Further, trends or concerns on retaliation are discussed as a part of every Case Management Group in accordance with AFI 90-6001, Chapter 8. Responder points of contact present in the Case Management Group are encouraged to disseminate applicable information to their units. Additionally, Community Action Teams at all levels will look at trends on retaliation associated with providing assistance to sexual assault victims for awareness and action as applicable. As always, the installation IG office is provided as a reference for any questions or concerns related to retaliation.

7. NDAA Requirements - Provide your Military Service's status on the following NDAA for FY 2017 requirements. If the provision has been implemented, indicate "Completed," provide the implementation date, and a short explanation (150 words or less) of the action taken. If the provision has not been implemented, indicate "In Progress," provide the projected completion date, and a short update (150 words or less) of the current status. All are required.

7.1 Discharge review board (Board of Correction of Military Records (BCMR)) guidance on claims asserting post-traumatic stress disorder or traumatic brain injury in connection with combat or sexual trauma as a basis for review of discharge.

Additionally, describe BCMR procedures for the following requirements:

- How does a former Service member present medical evidence from the Secretary of Veterans Affairs or civilian health care provider to the BCMR, and how does the BCMR review and use that evidence?
- Method of presentation: Is the review conducted in person with the former Service member, by file review, or both? If not in-person, does the former Service member have the option to request an in-person meeting or to be represented by counsel?
- What steps are taken to review (with liberal consideration to the former Service member) how post-traumatic stress disorder or traumatic brain injury potentially contributed to the circumstances resulting in a discharge of a lesser characterization?

(NDAA for FY 2017, section 535)

Completed (18 Sep 17). The update to AFI 36-2603, Air Force Board for Correction of Military Records (AFBCMR), published 18 Sep 17, includes the required guidance. All cases where the request for relief relates to mental health conditions (including but not limited to Post Traumatic Stress Disorder, Traumatic Brain Injury, and/or sexual trauma) are referred to a staff psychiatrist or a clinical psychologist for a written advisory opinion, which is rendered upon the applicant for review and comment before the case is referred to the Board for deliberation. This provides the applicant an opportunity to provide additional documentary evidence in support of their request for relief in response to the advisory opinion.

Completed (standard procedure pre-National Defense Authorization Act). Applicants completely fill out, sign and submit a DD Form 149 (Application for Correction of Military Record Under the Provisions of Title 10, U.S. Code, Section 1552) along with any briefs in support of their application to include copies of medical records from the Secretary of Veterans Affairs or civilian health care providers to SAF/MRBR, 550-C Street West, Suite 40, Randolph AFB, TX 78150-4742. Digitally signed or wet signed completed DD forms 149 can also be submitted via email to: usaf.pentagon.saf-mr.mbx.saf-mrbc@mail.mil. The Board panel members review all materials submitted by the applicant, including copies of medical records, before deliberation.

Completed (standard procedure pre-National Defense Authorization Act). The standard practice for case presentation is by file review, however all applicants may request a hearing before the Board. Whether or not the Board authorizes a formal hearing is predicated on its finding that the applicant's presence, with or without counsel, would materially add to its understanding of the issues involved. Applicants may obtain legal counsel at their own expense or accredited representatives of veterans' service organizations who may submit and receive documents on the applicant's behalf. The robust nature of the documentary review, coupled with the applicant's guaranteed right to comment on all material presented to the Board, greatly reduce the need for in-person hearings. The Board has the sole discretion to determine whether to grant a hearing.

Completed (18 Sep 17). AFI 36-2603 was re-issued on 18 Sep 17; it codified ad hoc guidance that the Board had implemented as soon as the law changed. Board for Correction of Military Records Board and staff members have been trained on Liberal Consideration and on Mental Health and Sexual Assault issues by Air Force Legal Counsel and Medical professionals respectively. All cases where the request for relief relates to mental health conditions (including but not limited to Post Traumatic Stress Disorder, Traumatic Brain Injury and/or sexual trauma) are referred to a staff psychiatrist or a clinical psychologist for a written advisory opinion, which is rendered upon the applicant for review and comment before the case is referred to the Board for deliberation.

7.2 Professional military justice career development for judge advocates.

Additionally, provide comments on the following:

- What metrics are used to assess your Military Service Pilot Program?
- Did your Military Service develop a system for "military justice experience designators" or "skill identifiers?" (section 542(b))

- Does your Pilot Program assess “other matters related to professional military justice development?” If so, please describe. (section 542(c)(2)) (NDAA for FY 2017, section 542)

In-progress (projected to be completed by December, 2020). The Air Force uses the metrics of growth, retention, training, experience and ability to assess its Military Service Pilot Program. The Military Justice Experience Tracker was implemented on 18 October 2017 and is being applied to all current Air Force Judge Advocate General’s Counsel members; its projected completion date is July, 2018. The Air Force Judge Advocate General Corps is also examining the impact that other mission demands, including the Office of Military Commissions, have on the deliberate professional development process implemented as part of the Pilot Program and projects that the assessment will be completed in December, 2020.

7.3 Specialized training for Military Service Inspector General and other personnel who investigate claims of retaliation associated with sexual harassment and sexual assault reports.

Provide brief comments on the following:

- What training do your Military Service Inspector General personnel and other personnel who investigate claims of retaliation receive on the nature and consequences of retaliation for both sexual harassment and sexual assault? Briefly describe the training addressing the “nature and consequences of sexual assault trauma.
- Which personnel in your Military Service receive this training and how is it conducted?
- Who does the intake of the retaliation complaint/allegation for sexual harassment? for sexual assault?
- Who investigates the complaint/allegation of retaliation for sexual harassment? for sexual assault?

(NDAA for FY 2017, section 546)

Completed (26 Oct 16). The Secretary of the Air Force Inspector General (SAF/IG) provides all AF IGs with specialized initial training on investigating all allegations of reprisal against service members. The 2017 NDAA, Sec. 546 requires “The Secretary of Defense shall ensure that the personnel of the Department of Defense specified in subsection (b) who investigate claims of retaliation receive training on the nature and consequences of retaliation, and, in cases involving reports of sexual assault, the nature and consequences of sexual assault trauma. The training shall include such elements as the Secretary shall specify for purposes of this section.”

DoDI 6495.02, Sexual Assault Prevention and Response (SAPR) Program Procedures, implements Sec 546 of the 2017 NDAA. Enclosure 2 paragraph 5.a. requires the IG DoD to establish guidance and provide oversight. The guidance is clear for Military Criminal Investigative Organizations investigating sexual assault cases, however, specialized training for investigators of sexual assault related retaliation is lacking.

SAF/IGQ has developed and conducts specialized training for the intake and processing of complaints of sexual assault related retaliation for IGs at all levels of command, from the installation/wing, up through the MAJCOM and HAF level. This includes the unique handling of complaints that are related to either a previous restricted or unrestricted report of sexual assault, including the impact of going forward with an IG investigation of a restricted report of sexual assault. Training includes explaining options to complaints who allege sexual assault and retaliation but have not yet made either a restricted or unrestricted report of sexual assault, and maintaining confidentiality of complainants who choose not to go forward with any complaint.

Additionally, SAF/IGQ conducts refresher training at its annual Worldwide IG Training conference, reinforcing the concepts presented in the initial retaliation training.

SAF/IGQ has developed and conducts specialized training for the intake and processing of complaints of sexual assault related retaliation for IGs assigned at all levels of command, from the installation/wing, up through the MAJCOM and HAF level.

IGs trained in the Air Force Complaint Resolution Program, who are assigned at all levels of command, from the installation/wing, up through the MAJCOM and HAF level, are trained to conduct intake of allegations alleging reprisal due to reporting of sexual assault or sexual harassment.

At this time the DoD IG is conducting all investigations of reprisal due to report of sexual assault.

An August 2016 DoD mandated data call initiated collection of information on retaliation allegations associated with sexual assault and harassment reporting involving service members. This data call builds on the 2015 Retaliation Memo that requires SARC to discuss retaliation with victims as well as collect retaliation related data for review during installation Case Management Group meetings. This memo also establishes additional reporting requirements for SARCs regarding any retaliation victims may be experiencing. Reporting an assault may create unique challenges which can be disruptive to the office climate. Personnel may feel compelled to “take sides” and this may manifest in a number of different ways, including ostracism. The AF SAPR Program has already incorporated the subject of retaliation and ostracism into our first line supervisor training. This training educates first line supervisors on preventing and responding to incidents of retaliation at their level and resources available to victims. Installation commanders are responsible for developing supplemental guidance to prevent unlawful discrimination, sexual harassment, and reprisal. Commanders must post the guidance prominently on base web pages and in locations frequented by the base population. Our overarching SAPR Strategy goal is to realize an Air Force free from sexual assault; but, as long as there is one victim, we will not lose sight of our responsibility to care for that victim, to seek appropriate justice, and to appropriately address any retaliation that results from reporting a sexual assault or helping a sexual assault victim.

7.4 Notification to complainants of the resolution of investigations into retaliation.

Additionally, provide your Military Service policy or practice on the following:

- Who notifies the sexual harassment complainant of the resolution of a retaliation investigation? What is the timeframe between resolution and notification to the complainant? Identify the Military Service authority directing the action.
- Who notifies the victim of retaliation relating to a sexual assault of the resolution of a retaliation investigation? What is the timeframe between resolution and notification to the retaliation victim? Identify the Military Service authority directing the action.
- In instances of retaliation relating to sexual assault, is the retaliation allegation reported to the SAPR Case Management Group? If so, are these retaliation allegations tracked until resolution?

(NDAA for FY 2017, section 547)

Complete (21 May 2015). AFI 90-6001 provides guidance on retaliation as a result of a report of sexual assault. When a victim informs either the IG or the SARC that they have experienced retaliation as a result of making a report of sexual assault, the allegation is tracked by the SAPR Case Management Group (documented in Case Management Group notes) until resolution.

The Commander notifies a complainant of the resolution of a retaliation investigation. The Air Force Office of Equal Opportunity assists the commander in conducting a Commander Directed Investigation resulting from an allegation of retaliation due to sexual harassment or assault.

8. Analytics Discussion

8.1 Military Services/NGB*: provide an analytic discussion (1,000 words or less) of your Statistical Report of reported sexual assault cases from the Defense Sexual Assault Incident Database (DSAID). Required elements included on this template are information on Unrestricted Reports; Restricted Reports; service referrals for victims alleging sexual assault; and case synopses of completed investigations.

NGB should provide comments based on its available information and data.

This section must briefly address each of the following:

- Notable changes in the data over time
- Insight or suspected reasons for noted changes, or lack of change, in data
- The application of insights from data analyses for programmatic planning, oversight, and/or research
- Total number of Sexual Assaults (Restricted Reports and Unrestricted Reports) over time (since FY 2008) (Metric #12)
- The number of sexual assault investigations completed by the MCIO in the FY and the corresponding mean and median investigation length. Case open date can be in any year, but the close date must be by the end of the FY (Metric # 5)
- The number of subjects with victims who declined to participate in the military justice process (Metric #8)

8.1. Analytic Discussion Background

Sexual Assault Definition: The DoD and Air Force SAPR programs use the term “sexual assault” to refer to the range of crimes in military law that constitute contact sexual offenses between adults. These crimes include the specific offenses of rape, sexual assault, aggravated sexual contact, abusive sexual contact, forcible sodomy (forced oral or anal sex), or attempts to commit these offenses, as defined in as defined in Articles 80, 120, and 125 of the Uniform Code of Military Justice (UCMJ).

Sexual Assault Reporting Options: Under the DoD's SAPR Policy, Service members and their adult military dependents who are victims of sexual assault have two reporting options - Restricted Reporting and Unrestricted Reporting.

Filing a Restricted Report allows a sexual assault victim to access medical care, mental health care, advocacy services, and legal advice without initiating a criminal investigation or notifying command. In order to use the Restricted Reporting option, sexual assault victims are required to report the crime to a SARC, SAPR VA, or healthcare personnel.

Filing an Unrestricted Report allows a sexual assault victim to access the same care and services as those filing a Restricted Report, but Unrestricted Reports are also referred for investigation to a Military Criminal Investigative Organization and the command is notified of the incident. According to DoD policy, all Unrestricted Reports must be referred for investigation by a Military Criminal Investigative Organization.

Victims who initially make a Restricted Report may later convert it to an Unrestricted Report in order to initiate an investigation. Once a victim files an Unrestricted Report or chooses to convert their previously-filed Restricted Report to an Unrestricted Report, it is not possible to convert it to a Restricted Report.

The Defense Sexual Assault Incident Database: Since the beginning of FY14, there has been the DoD's authoritative, centralized case-level database used to collect and maintain information on sexual assaults involving members of the Armed Forces. The DoD SAPR Office operates the Defense Sexual Assault Incident Database and works collaboratively with the Services to implement and sustain the system. DoD SAPRO developed the database to meet requirements set forth in the FY09 National Defense Authorization Act.

The DoD SAPRO and the Services use the Defense Sexual Assault Incident Database to conduct oversight, inform Department and Service-level SAPR program planning and analysis, and meet Congressional reporting requirements. SARCs use the database to provide comprehensive and standardized victim case management. SARCs are required to enter information about the victim and incident for each report of sexual assault into the Defense Sexual Assault Incident Database. Additionally, for Unrestricted Reports of sexual assault, the database interfaces with Military Criminal Investigative Organization information systems, which “push” additional information about subjects and offense-specific information into the Defense Sexual Assault Incident Database. Military Criminal Investigative Organization information systems remain the system of record for all Unrestricted Reports they investigate. Service-appointed legal officers also enter and validate subject case disposition information into the Defense Sexual Assault Incident Database.

Scope: This report contains data about sexual contact crimes that involve at least one service member (either as the victim or as one or more of the subjects) and have been reported to the Air Force. The data herein do not include sexual assaults between spouses or intimate partners that fall under the purview of DoD Family Advocacy Program, nor do these data include sexual harassment which falls under the purview of the Equal Opportunity Program. Since the age of consent under the UCMJ is 16 years, military and civilian victims aged 16 and older are included if they do not fall under the Family Advocacy Program’s purview. Service members who are approved for early enlistment prior to age 18 are also included.

Unrestricted and Restricted Reports capture sexual assaults committed by and against Service members. However, there are instances in which people outside of the U.S. Armed Forces commit sexual assault against a Service member or can be sexually assaulted by a Service member. Information describing these victims and subjects is also included in the following statistics.

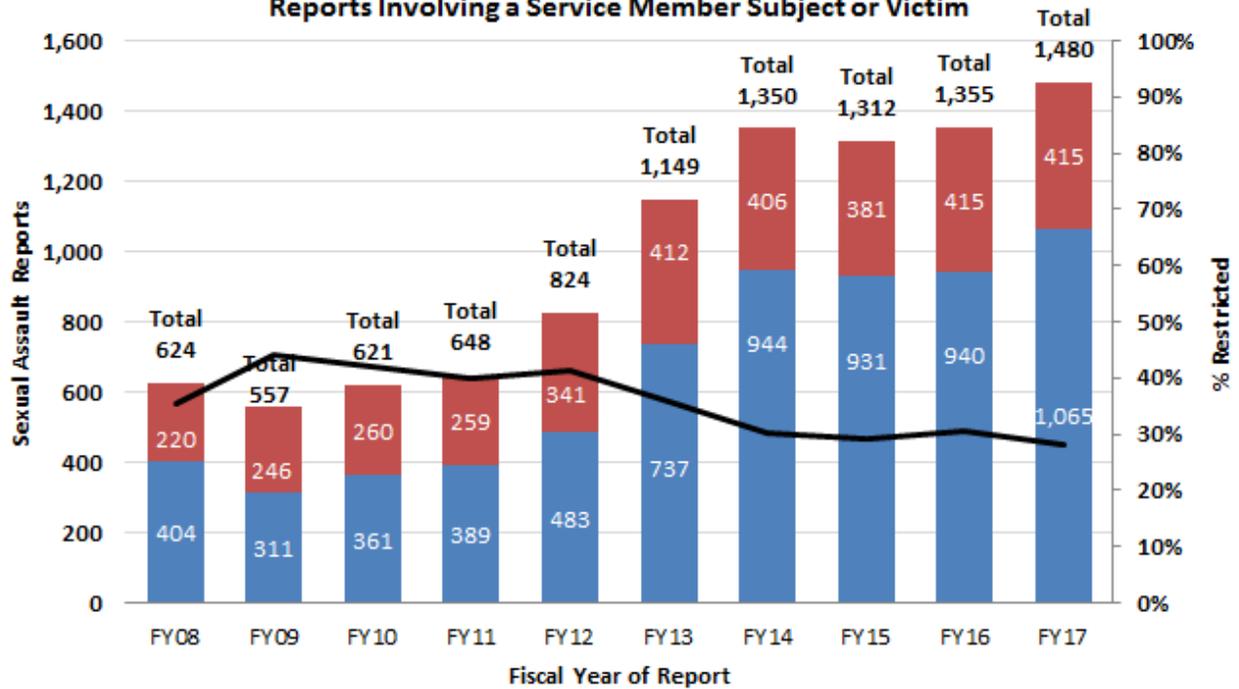

The data that follow are a snapshot in time, reflecting the status of sexual assault reports, investigations, and subject dispositions in the Defense Sexual Assault Incident Database on September 30, 2017 (the last day of FY17). The data in the database are continually updated as cases progress.

8.1.1. Sexual Assault Reporting in the Air Force

The Air Force received a record 1,480 reports of sexual assault involving Service members as either victims or subjects in FY17. As depicted in Chart 8.1.1., this is the largest number of reports of sexual assault reports received by the Air Force in the history of its SAPR program, at least 9% higher than in any previous FY. Furthermore, the percentage of reports that remained restricted at the end of FY17 is 28%, down from almost 31% at the end of FY16 and the lowest percentage seen in the history of the Air Force SAPR Program.

Chart 8.1.1. – Annual Reports of Sexual Assault

The Air Force believes that the sustained high levels of reporting in FY14, FY15, FY16, and especially FY17 indicates that victims feel increasingly more comfortable coming forward to report these crimes, receive care, and allow investigations to take place so that commanders and the military justice system can hold subjects appropriately accountable. Although the Air Force fully supports the restricted reporting option, the decrease in the percentage of reports that remain restricted may indicate increasing victim confidence in the military justice system and the Air Force SAPR Program.

The 1,480 reports of sexual assault received by the Air Force in FY17 represents a 9.2% increase from the 1,355 reports made in FY16. The total active duty Air Force population increased about 1.5% during FY17, from about 313,700 at the end of FY16 to about 318,600 at the end of FY17. The increase in the proportion of active duty airmen who filed reports of sexual assault from FY16 to FY17 is statistically significant.¹

For comparison, the Air Force received a total of 1,355 reports of sexual assault involving Service members as either victims or subjects in FY16, which represented a 3.3% increase from the 1,312 reports made in FY15. The total active duty Air Force population also increased 2.1% during FY16, from about 307,300 at the end of FY15 to about 313,700 at the end of FY16. The increase in reporting from FY15 to FY16 is not statistically significant.

It is important to note that sexual assaults do not necessarily occur in the same FY as the FY in which they are reported, although the majority do. Of the 1,480 sexual assault reports received by the Air Force in FY17, 875 (59%) were for incidents that occurred in FY17, 471 (32%) were for incidents that occurred in prior FYs, and the remaining 132 (9%) were for incidents that occurred on an unknown date.

For comparison, of the 1,355 sexual assault reports received by the Air Force in FY16, 748 (55%) were for incidents that occurred in FY16, 471 (35%) were for incidents that occurred in prior FYs, and the remaining 136 (10%) were for incidents that occurred on an unknown date.

Types of Sexual Assault Reports: DoD policy allows eligible victims to make one of two kinds of sexual assault report: unrestricted or restricted. Additionally, a victim who initially makes a restricted report has the option of later converting the restricted report to an unrestricted report (unrestricted reports cannot be converted to restricted). Of the 1,480 reports of sexual assault involving Service members as either victims or subjects received by the Air Force in FY17:

- 922 (62%) were unrestricted reports reported in FY17;
- 120 (8%) were restricted reports initially reported in FY17 that were converted to unrestricted in FY17;
- 23 (2%) were restricted reports initially reported in previous FYs but were converted to unrestricted in FY17; and
- 415 (28%) were restricted reports initially reported in FY17 that remained restricted at the end of FY17.

8.1.1.1. Sexual Assault Prevalence in the Air Force

It is important to draw a distinction between the number of sexual assaults that occur (i.e., sexual assault prevalence) and the number of sexual assaults that are reported to authorities (i.e., sexual assault reporting) in a given timeframe. Because most sexual assaults that occur in both civilian and military populations are not reported to authorities, sexual assault prevalence typically will exceed sexual assault reporting.

Since sexual assault historically has been and remains a highly underreported crime, the number of sexual assaults that are reported in a given timeframe may not accurately indicate the number of sexual assaults that occurred in that timeframe. So to estimate the number of sexual assaults that occur in the active duty DoD population, the DoD administers an anonymous, confidential survey to active duty DoD members biannually. The three most recent DoD sexual assault prevalence surveys were the 2016 Workplace and Gender Relations Survey of Active Duty Members, the 2014 RAND Military Workplace Study, and the 2012 Workplace and Gender Relations Survey of Active Duty Members.

Chart 8.1.1.1. shows the estimated past-year sexual assault prevalence estimates (red dots) with 95% confidence intervals (black lines) for active duty Airmen from the past three DoD prevalence surveys. According to these surveys, an estimated 3200 active duty airmen experienced a past-year sexual assault in 2012, falling to about 2450 in 2014 and about 2300 in 2016.²

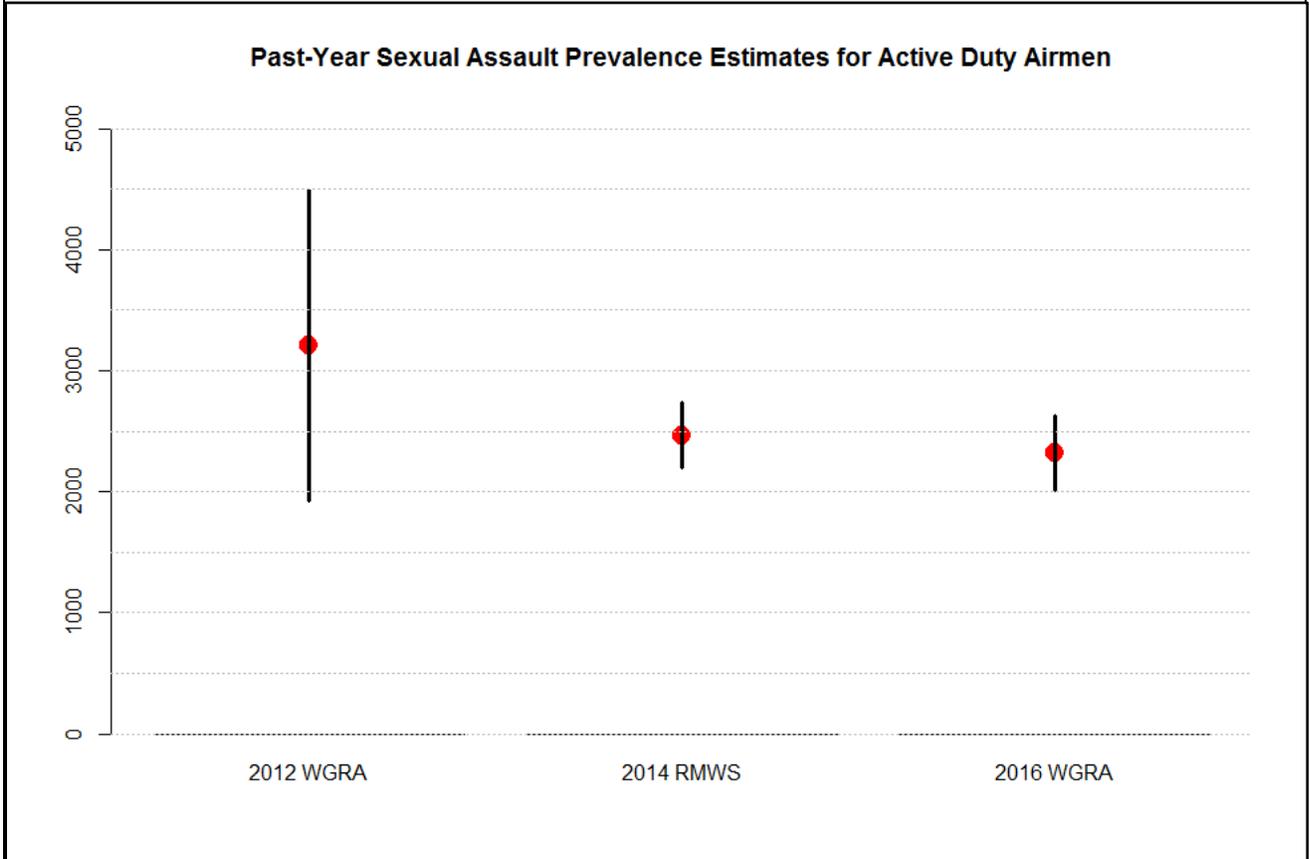

Chart 8.1.1.1. – Past-Year Sexual Assault Prevalence Estimates for Active Duty Airmen

² The 2012 Workplace and Gender Relations Survey of Active Duty Members used a slightly different measure than did the 2014 RAND Military Workplace Study and the 2016 Workplace and Gender Relations Survey of Active Duty Members. The 2012 survey measured unwanted sexual contact, while the 2014 survey and the 2016 survey measured sexual assault. Also, the 2012 Workplace and Gender Relations Survey of Active Duty Members used a much smaller sample size than did either the 2014 or the 2016 surveys, which is reflected in the relatively large width of the 2012 survey confidence interval compared to the widths of the 2014 and 2016 survey confidence intervals.

8.1.1.2. Sexual Assault Reporting Compared to Sexual Assault Prevalence

The Air Force SAPR Program has stated a two-pronged goal of reducing sexual assault prevalence while increasing sexual assault reporting. According to the most recent biannual sexual assault prevalence study (the 2016 Workplace and Gender Relations Survey of Active Duty Members), an estimated 2,300 active duty Airmen were sexually assaulted in the past year. Although sexual assault prevalence among active duty airmen has not changed significantly in recent years, sexual assault reporting continues to rise in the Air Force.

Chart 8.1.1.2. illustrates this trend of flat prevalence with increased reporting by comparing the estimated number of active duty Airmen who were sexually assaulted in the past year to the number of active duty Airmen who reported a sexual assault in each FY. However, because the Air Force accepts sexual assault reports from a much wider population than the population to which the prevalence estimates pertain, not all sexual assault reports are directly comparable to the sexual assault prevalence estimates.³ For this reason, the vertical bars representing the number of sexual assault reports reported to the Air Force each FY are divided into two segments. The blue segment represents the number of sexual assault reports that are comparable to the prevalence estimate, and the gray segment represents the number of reports that are not comparable to the prevalence estimate.

³ The sexual assault prevalence studies estimate the number of active duty Airmen who experienced a sexual assault in the past 12 months while in military service. The Air Force accepts sexual assault reports from active duty members of other services, certain non-active duty personnel, and imposes no limit on how long ago the sexual assault occurred or whether or not the victim was in the military at the time of the assault. Therefore, sexual assault reports meeting all of following criteria are shown in the blue segments of the bars in Chart 8.1.1.2., and all others are shown in the gray segments:

- the victim was an active duty Air Force member at the time of report
- the victim was in military service at the time of the assault
- the date of the assault is known
- the date of the assault is no more than one year prior to the date of the report

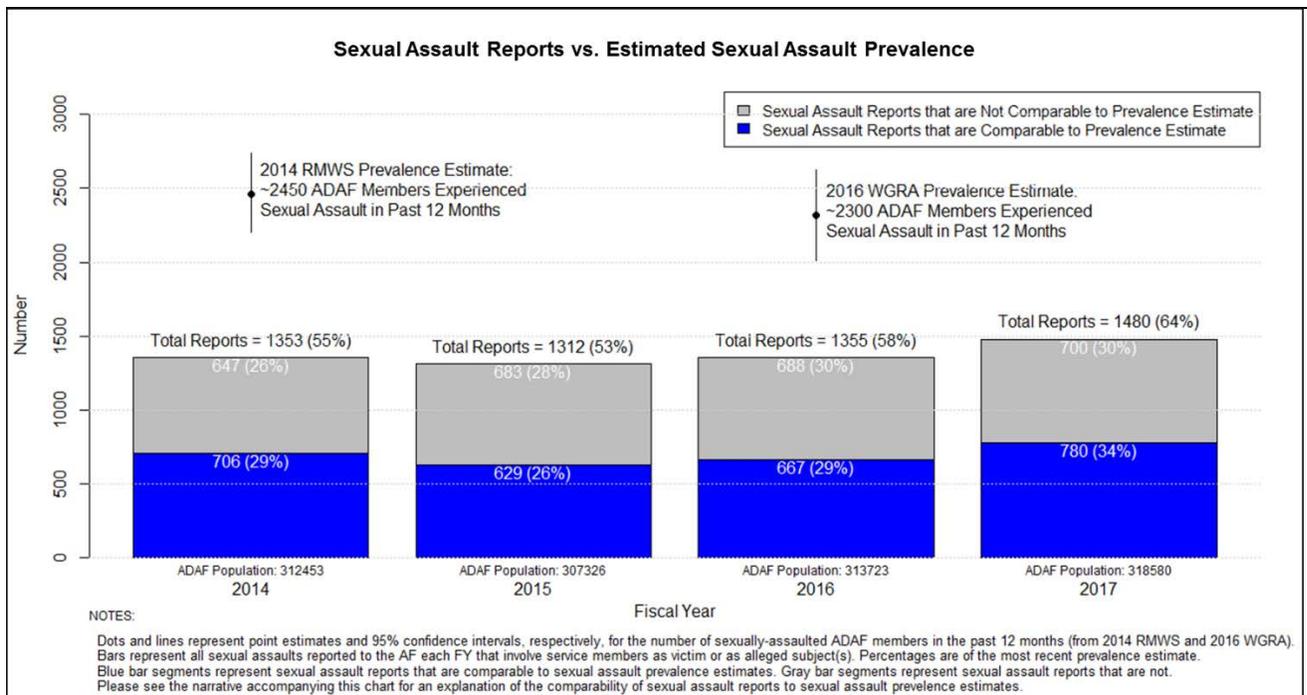

Chart 8.1.1.2. – Active Duty Prevalence vs. Reporting of Sexual Assault

Assuming prevalence has not changed since the most recent prevalence study was done in FY16, FY17 estimated a record 34% of sexual assaults being reported, up from 29% in FY16 and 26% in FY15. Given the stability of the two most recent prevalence estimates, the Air Force assesses the increase in sexual assault reporting as unlikely to have resulted from increased crime. Rather, the Air Force assesses that the increase in reporting is due to the resources and programs it makes available to sexual assault victims that encourage reporting.

The Air Force expects that the remaining “gap” between the survey-estimated number of sexually assaulted Airmen and the number of Airmen who choose to report can be further reduced in two ways:

- Over time, Air Force sexual assault prevention initiatives are expected to reduce past-year prevalence of sexual assault; and
- Over time, initiatives that encourage victims to report and improve the military justice system are expected to increase the number of victims who choose to report.

Although FY17 saw the highest reporting rate in the history of the Air Force SAPR program, about two-thirds of estimated past-year sexual assaults of active duty Airmen remain unreported, so much progress remains to be made. The Air Force continues to strive to narrow the gap between prevalence and reporting in order to reduce the underreporting of sexual assault in the military community.

8.1.2. Unrestricted Reporting

8.1.2.1. Analysis of Victims in Unrestricted Reports with Completed Investigations

This section provides data about victims in completed investigations of unrestricted reports of sexual assault. In this section, the term “FY” refers to the FY in which the investigation associated with a report concluded, not the FY in which the sexual assault was reported. For example, unrestricted reports under the FY17 rubric are not necessarily sexual assaults reported in FY17. Rather, they are sexual assault reports whose associated investigations concluded in FY17. These reports could have been made in FY17 or in any prior FY.

Type of Offense Investigated: Table 8.1.2.1.1. below breaks out the unrestricted report investigations completed each FY by type of offense investigated. Military Criminal Investigative Organizations categorize Unrestricted Reports by the most serious offense alleged in the report, which may not ultimately be the same offense for which evidence supports a misconduct charge, if any.

The type of offense investigated in completed investigations has been stable since FY14. Penetrating offenses, which include rape, aggravated sexual assault, sexual assault, and forcible sodomy, account for slightly more than half of all completed investigations. Contact offenses, which include aggravated sexual contact, abusive sexual contact, wrongful sexual contact, and indecent assault account for about 45% of all completed investigations. Attempts to commit offenses and unknown offense types account for the remainder, approximately 5% of all completed investigations.

Demographic Analysis of Victims in Completed Investigations

Table 8.1.2.1.2. below provides a demographic analysis of victims in investigations completed each FY by gender, age at the time of the incident, military affiliation, duty status, and grade.

Gender: Women consistently represent the vast majority (over 82%) of victims in investigations completed each FY, while comprising only about 19% of the active duty Air Force population during the indicated timeframe. The percentage of male victims in completed investigations jumped from about 11% in FY14 to 16.5% in FY15, and has slowly declined since, to 14% in FY17. Males comprised about 81% of the active duty Air Force population during this timeframe.

Age at Time of Incident: Victims in the 16-19 age group in completed investigations are over-represented compared to their representation in the active duty Air Force population. The percentage of victims in the 16-19 age group averaged around 17% between FY14 and FY17, while comprising less than 6% of the active duty Air Force population during the same timeframe. However, 22 of the 150 victims in this age group in FY17 reported incidents that occurred prior to Service entry. Even excluding the victims in this age group who reported incidents that occurred prior to Service entry, this age group still accounts for about 15% of victims in investigations completed in FY17, while comprising less than 6% of the FY17 active duty Air Force population.

Victims in the 20-24 age group are also over-represented compared to their representation in the active duty Air Force population, though not to the same extent as those in the 16-19 age group. The 20-24 age group contained about 40% of the victims in investigations completed in FY15 through FY17, while comprising about 27% of the active duty Air Force population in this timeframe. However, 48 of the 342 victims in this age group reported incidents that occurred prior to Service entry. After excluding the 48 victims in this age group who reported incidents that occurred prior to Service entry, this age group accounts for about 35% of the victims in investigations completed in FY17, while comprising about 27% of the FY17 active duty Air Force population.

Victims in each of the older age groups are well under-represented compared to their respective cohorts in the FY17 active duty Air Force population (25-34 age group: 17.2% vs. 44% in FY17 active duty Air Force population; 35-49 age group: 3.9% vs. 22% in FY17 active duty Air Force population; 50-64 age group: 0.3% vs. 0.7% in FY17 active duty Air Force population; and 65+ age group: 0% vs. 0% in FY17 active duty Air Force population).

Grade: Junior enlisted airmen (E1-E4) are highly over-represented amongst the victims in investigations completed in the FYs shown, consistently accounting for over 70% of victims, while comprising only about 39% of the active duty Air Force population. Senior enlisted airmen (E5-E9) and officers each account for much smaller shares of victims in completed investigations (16.3% and 6% in FY17, respectively) than their respective cohorts in the active duty Air Force population (42% and 19% in FY17, respectively).

Military Protective Orders: A summary of military protective orders is provided in Table 8.1.2.1.3. One hundred and five military protective orders were issued in FY17, of which two were violated. This is an increase from FY16 and FY15, which respectively had 82 and 85 military protective orders issued with one violation in each FY.

The number of expedited transfer requests in FY17 was 148, of which three were denied. None of the three victims whose expedited transfer requests were denied requested a senior level review of their denied request. This is a substantial increase from FY16 and FY15, which respectively had 87 and 112 requests.

8.1.2.2. Analysis of Subjects in Unrestricted Reports with Completed Investigations

This section analyzes demographic data about subjects in completed investigations of unrestricted reports of sexual assault. In this section, the term “FY” refers to the FY in which the investigation associated with a sexual assault report concluded. For example, unrestricted reports under the FY17 rubric are not necessarily reports filed in FY17. Rather, they are sexual assault reports whose associated investigations concluded in FY17. These reports could have been filed in FY17 or in any preceding FY. Additionally, while each unrestricted report of sexual assault has a single victim, a report may have more than one subject. For these reasons, the number of subjects shown in a given FY will not necessarily match the number of unrestricted reports with completed investigations during that FY.

Demographic Analysis of Subjects in Completed Investigations

Table 8.1.2.2.1. provides a demographic analysis of subjects in investigations completed each FY by gender, age at the time of the incident, military affiliation, duty status, and grade.

Gender: The vast majority of subjects in completed investigations are male. The percentage of subjects in completed investigations that are male has remained relatively stable over recent FYs at about 85%. Men comprised about 81% of the active duty Air Force population during this timeframe.

Compared to their share of the AF active duty population, women are very under-represented as subjects in completed investigations. Only about 5% of subjects in investigations completed in recent FYs are women, but women have comprised about 19% of the active duty Air Force population during the same timeframe.

Age at Time of Incident: Subjects in the 16-19 age group are over-represented compared to their representation in the active duty AF population. The percentage of completed investigations with subjects in the 16-19 age group declined from almost 11% in FY14 to under 9% in FY17, while comprising about 5% of the active duty Air Force population during the same timeframe.

Subjects in the 20-24 age group are increasingly over-represented compared to their representation in the active duty AF population. The percentage of completed investigations with subjects in the 20-24 age group has increased from about 35% in FY15 to almost 40% in FY17, while comprising less than 27% of the active duty Air Force population in this timeframe.

Subjects in each of the older age groups (25-34, 35-49, 50-64, and 65+) remain well under-represented compared to their respective cohorts in the active duty Air Force population.

Grade: Junior enlisted airmen (E1-E4) is the only grade group that is over-represented as subjects in completed investigations relative to its representation in the active duty Air Force population. Junior enlisted airmen accounted for about 66% of the subjects in investigations completed in FY17, up from about 55% in previous years, while comprising only about 39% of the active duty Air Force population during this timeframe.

Senior enlisted airmen (E5-E9) accounted for 25% of the subjects in investigations completed in FY17, down from about 33% in previous years, while comprising about 42% of the active duty Air Force population.

Combined, enlisted airmen consistently account for about 90% of the subjects in completed investigations over time, while comprising about 81% of the active duty Air Force population. Conversely, officers consistently account for about 8% of the subjects in completed investigations, while comprising about 19% of the active duty Air Force population.

8.1.2.3. Investigative and Military Justice Process Discussion

Subject Dispositions: Once the investigation of an Unrestricted Report is complete, Congress requires the Military Services to provide the outcome of the allegations against each subject named in an investigation. These are called “subject dispositions”. Table 8.1.2.3.1. analyzes subject dispositions reported in FY17. Of the 593 subjects with dispositions reported in FY17, 493 were considered for command action and the remaining 100 were not considered for command action because the subject was outside the DoD’s legal authority or a civilian or foreign authority exercised jurisdiction over the subject. Of the 493 subjects considered for command action, for 476 the command action was completed in FY17. Of the 476 subjects with command actions completed in FY17, for 259 (54%) either a sexual assault charge or other misconduct was substantiated, for 205 (43%) command action was precluded, and for 12 (3%) the allegation was unfounded by command or legal review.

Table 8.1.2.3.1. – FY17 Subject Dispositions for Unrestricted Reports

Completed Command Actions: Chart 8.1.2.3.2. analyzes completed command actions for penetrating and sexual contact crimes over time (the FY17 bar corresponds to the right-most column of Table 8.2.3.1. above). The proportion of command actions that were precluded increased substantially over the past year, from about 34% in FY16 to about 45% in FY17. At the same time, the proportion of completed command actions for penetrating and sexual contact crimes that resulted in preferred courts-martial charges or nonjudicial punishments for sexual assault offenses declined substantially, from about 42% in FY16 to about 28% in FY17. The chart also shows command action not possible rose from 34% in FY16 to 45% in FY17; this resulted in disposition percentages for all command actions to be lower in FY17 than in FY16.

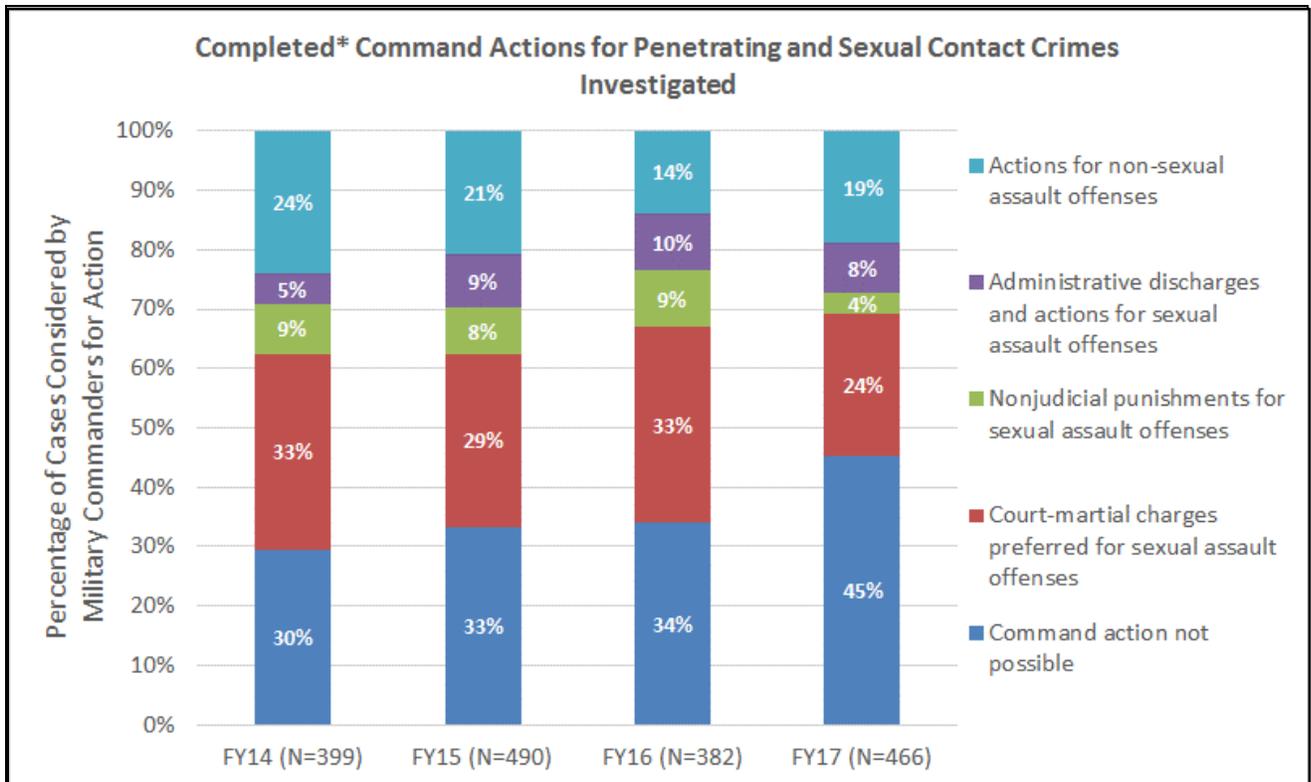

Chart 8.1.2.3.2. – Completed Command Actions by FY

Court-Martial Outcomes: Charts 8.1.2.3.3. and 8.1.2.3.4. analyze sexual assault court-martial outcomes for penetrating and sexual contact crimes, respectively, over time.⁴ There were 93 subjects charged with a penetrating crime in FY17, of which 56 proceeded to trial. Of the 56 tried, 28 were convicted (50%). There were 20 subjects charged with a sexual contact crime in FY17, of which 14 proceeded to trial. Of the 14 tried, 9 were convicted (64%). The overall conviction rate for cases tried with an Article 120 offense was 53%.

⁴ Although Table 8.1.2.3.1. indicates 111 subjects with completed command actions in FY17 for penetrating or sexual contact offenses had courts-martial charges preferred, charts 8.1.2.3.3. and 8.1.2.3.4. show a combined 113 courts-martial referrals. This is because two investigations into attempt to commit offenses were actually charged as penetrating or sexual contact offenses.

Duration of Investigative and Military Justice Processes

The length of a sexual assault investigation depends on a number of factors, including:

- The offense alleged;
- The location and availability of the victim, subject, and witnesses;
- The amount and kind of physical evidence gathered during the investigation; and
- The length of time required for crime laboratory analysis of evidence.

Depending on these and other factors, sexual assault investigation length may range from a few months to over a year.

Chart 8.1.2.3.5. shows the mean and median lengths of time to complete sexual assault investigations in the Air Force. The median has remained constant at about 75 days over recent years, while the mean has decreased from 126 days in FY15 to 99 days in FY17. This indicates that the durations of the longest investigations are decreasing over time (i.e., outlying investigation lengths are becoming less extreme).

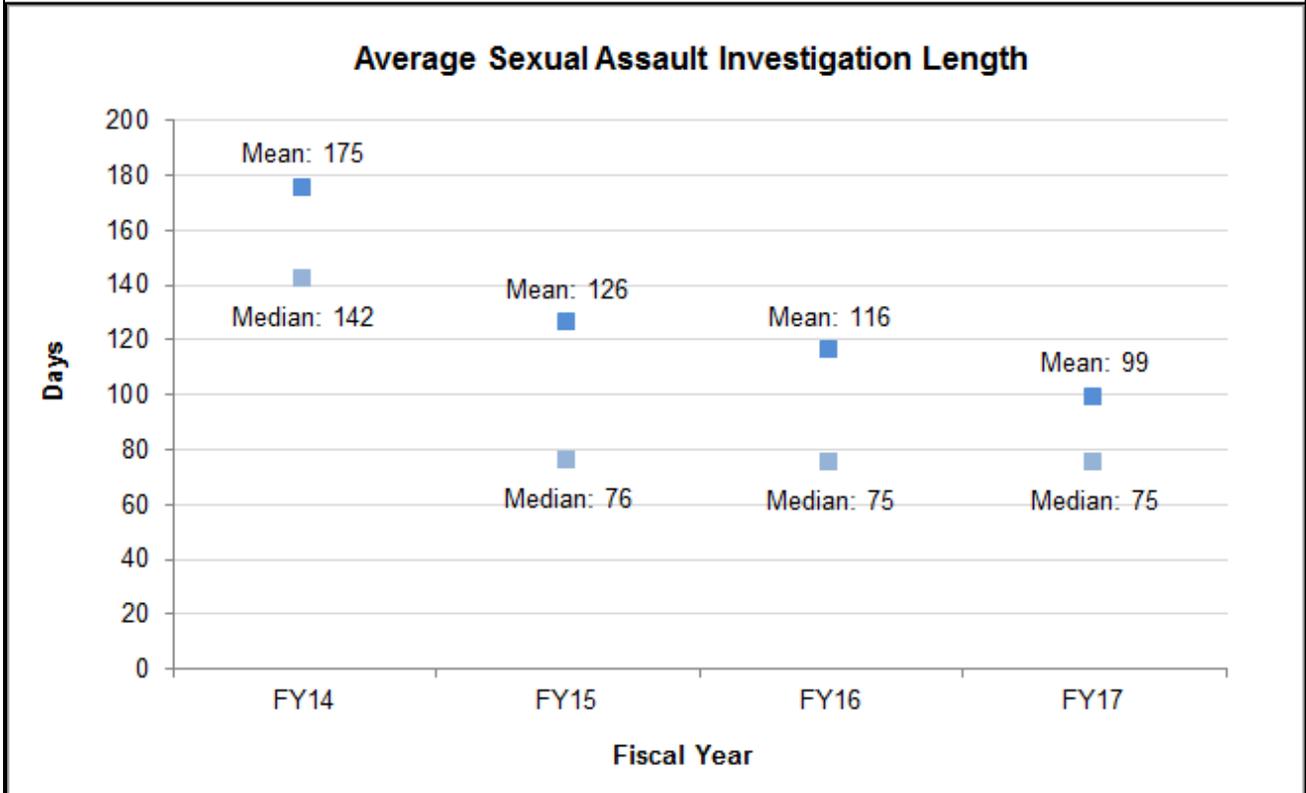

Chart 8.1.2.3.5. – Average Sexual Assault Investigation Length

Chart 8.1.2.3.6. shows the mean and median number of days from when a victim files an unrestricted report (i.e. signs the DD 2910) to the completion of the courts-martial process, sentence or acquittal. In FY17, the average time from filing an unrestricted sexual assault report to completion of the courts-martial process reached an all-time high of over one year.

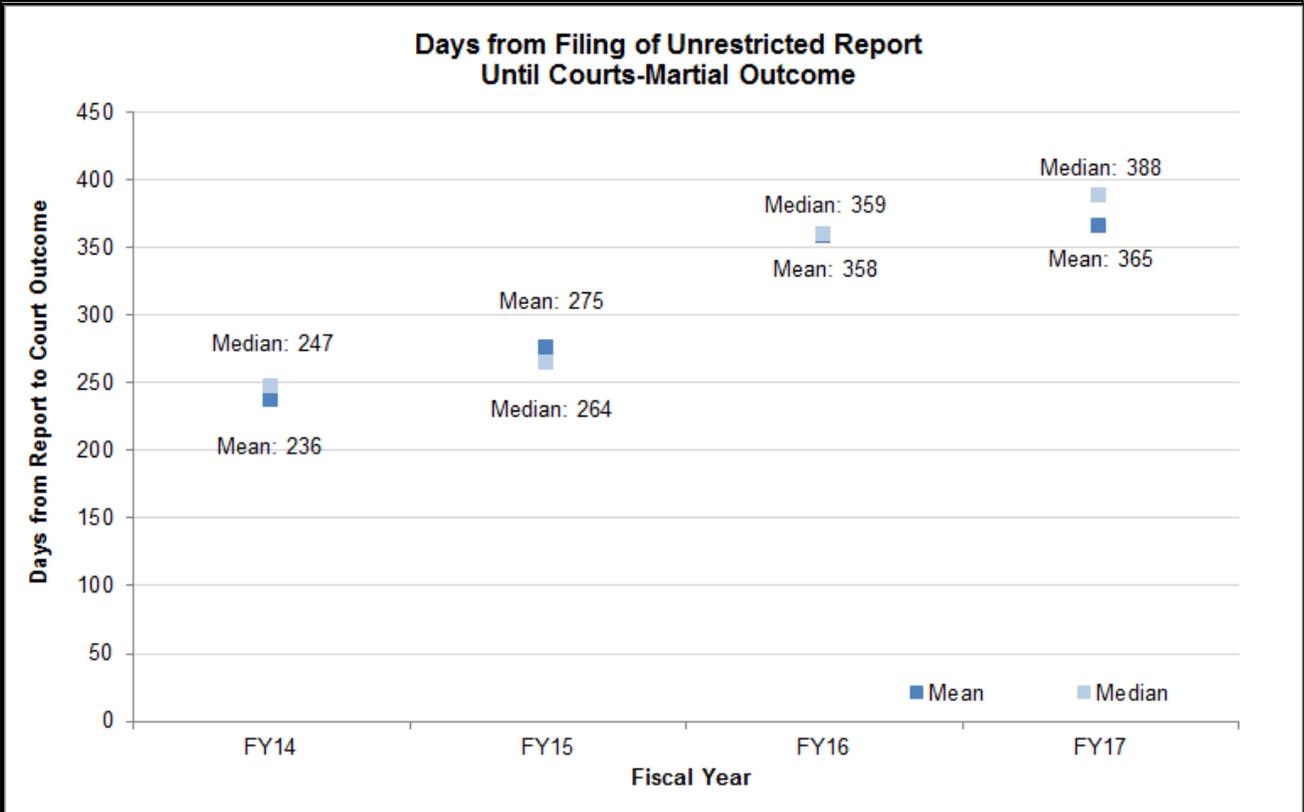

Chart 8.1.2.3.6. – Days from Filing of Unrestricted Report Until Courts-Martial Outcome

Chart 8.1.2.3.7. shows the mean and median number of days from when a victim files an unrestricted report (i.e. signs the DD 2910) and completion of non-judicial punishment actions. These times have been increasing over time, reaching all-time highs in FY17 of about a half of a year.

8.1.2.4. Analysis of Incident Details in Unrestricted Reports

Table 8.1.2.4.1. analyzes incident details associated with unrestricted reports of sexual assault by the FY in which the sexual assault was reported to the Air Force. Whereas previous sections classified unrestricted sexual assault reports by the FY in which the associated investigation was completed, this section classifies sexual assault reports by the FY in which the report was filed. In cases where investigations have not yet been completed, the incident details are based upon information provided by the victim. Also, Table 8.1.2.4.1. does not include any sexual assault reports that were initially filed as restricted in one FY but converted to unrestricted in a later FY. It does, however, include any sexual assault reports that were initially filed as restricted in one FY and converted to unrestricted in the same FY.

The overall number of unrestricted reports made to the Air Force increased over 15% from FY16 to FY17, from 905 in FY16 to 1042 in FY17. This is by far the highest number of unrestricted reports made to the Air Force in the history of its SAPR program, and represents the largest year-over-year percentage increase in unrestricted reports in recent years.

Assault Location: The percentage of unrestricted reports in which the sexual assault occurred on-base has increased over the past three years from about 41% in FY15 to over 51% in FY17.

Subject-Victim Service Affiliation: Subject-victim service affiliation shows an overall decrease in the percentage of unrestricted reports in which service members sexually assault non-service members to a low of 12.8% in FY17 and an increase in the percentage of unrestricted reports in which non-service members sexually assault service members to a high of 6% in FY17.

Subject-Victim Gender: After reaching lows in FY15, the percentage of unrestricted reports involving heterosexual sexual assaults (i.e., males sexually assaulting females or females sexually assaulting males) increased back to near highs in FY17. Conversely, the percentage of reports involving homosexual sexual assaults (i.e., males sexually assaulting other males or females sexually assaulting other females) decreased from highs in FY15 to near lows in FY17.

Reporting Delay: The percentage of unrestricted reports that were reported within 30 days of the occurrence of the sexual assault has remained stable over time at just under 50%.

Assault Day of Week and Time of Day: The percentage of unrestricted reports in which the sexual assault occurred on the weekend (Friday through Sunday) has increased from a low of about 38% in FY15 to a high of about 54% in FY17. Across the timeframe shown, a plurality of unrestricted reports of sexual assault describe incidents that occurred between the hours of midnight and 6:00 AM.

Table 8.1.2.4.1. – Incident Details for Unrestricted Reports

8.1.3. Restricted Reporting

Restricted reports of sexual assault are confidential, covered communications as defined in DoD policy. The allegations made in restricted reports are not investigated, victims are not required to provide many details about these sexual assaults, and SAPR personnel do not enter information about alleged subjects into the Defense Sexual Assault Incident Database. Therefore, the Defense Sexual Assault Incident Database data about restricted reports are more limited than data about unrestricted reports.

8.1.3.1. Restricted Report Conversions

Table 8.1.3.1.1. shows the number of initially restricted reports, the number of initially restricted reports that were converted to unrestricted in the same FY as the restricted report was initially filed, and the number of restricted reports remaining restricted at the end of each FY.

Five-hundred and thirty-five (535) victims initially filed restricted reports with the Air Force in FY17. Of these, 120 chose to convert their restricted report to an unrestricted report during FY17 (these are counted above in the unrestricted reporting sections), leaving 415 restricted reports remaining restricted at the end of FY17. The percentage of initially restricted reports that victims chose to convert to unrestricted in the same FY as the restricted report was initially filed has increased to a high of over 22% in FY17. The Air Force assesses this increase in same-FY restricted report conversions as indicative of growing confidence on the part of victims to participate in the investigative and judicial processes that are necessary to hold alleged offenders accountable.

8.1.3.2. Analysis of Victims in Restricted Reports

Table 8.1.3.2.1. and the following discussion provides a demographic analysis of victims of sexual assault who made restricted reports that remained restricted at the end of the FY in which the report was initially filed. Restricted reports that were converted to unrestricted are included in the unrestricted reporting sections above.

Gender: The proportion of female victims in restricted reports has been increasing over the past three years, reaching a high of over 86% in FY17. Women comprised about 19% in the active duty Air Force population during the same timeframe. Conversely, the proportion of male victims in restricted reports has been falling over the past three years, reaching a low of about 13% in FY17. Men comprised about 81% of the active duty Air Force population during this timeframe.

Age at Time of Incident: Victims in the 16-19 age group are highly over-represented compared to their representation in the active duty Air Force population, accounting for 21%-26% of restricted reports that remain restricted while comprising less than 5% of the active duty Air Force population. However, about 40% of the victims in this age group in FY17 reported incidents that occurred prior to Service entry. After excluding the victims in this age group who reported incidents that occurred prior to Service entry, this age group still accounts for 18% of victims who made restricted reports that remained restricted at the end of FY17, while comprising only 5% of the FY17 population.

Victims in the 20-24 age group are also consistently over-represented compared to their share of the active duty Air Force population, accounting for a recent-year high of almost 43% of the victims who filed restricted reports that remained restricted at the end of FY17, while comprising less than 27% of the active duty Air Force population. About 10% of the FY17 victims in this age group reported incidents that occurred prior to Service entry. Excluding the victims in this age group who reported incidents that occurred prior to Service entry, this age group still accounts for about 40% of the victims who made restricted reports that remained restricted at the end of FY17, while comprising only 27% of the FY17 population.

Each of the older age groups are consistently well under-represented compared to their respective cohorts in the active duty Air Force population.

Grade: Junior enlisted airmen (E1-E4) are consistently highly over-represented amongst victims who filed restricted reports that remained restricted at the end of the FY in which the report was filed. Junior enlisted airmen accounted for a recent-year high of about 67% of the victims in restricted reports that remained restricted at the end of FY17, while comprising only 39% of the active duty Air Force population during this timeframe. However, about 26% of the junior enlisted airmen who filed restricted reports that remained restricted at the end of FY17 reported incidents that occurred prior to military service. After excluding these, junior enlisted airmen still account for 56% of the victims that filed restricted reports that remained restricted at the end of FY17, while comprising 39% of the active duty Air Force population.

Meanwhile, senior enlisted airmen (E5-E9) and officers each accounted for much smaller shares of the FY17 victims who filed restricted reports that remained restricted at the end of FY17 (approximately 21% and 10%, respectively) than their respective cohorts in the active duty Air Force population (42% and 20%, respectively).
