MEMORANDUM FOR UNDER SECRETARY OF DEFENSE FOR PERSONNEL AND READINESS

SUBJECT: Fiscal Year 2018 Department of Defense Annual Report on Sexual Assault in the Military

As requested within the "Performing the Duties of the Under Secretary of Defense for Personnel and Readiness" memorandum of September 17, 2018, the attached is provided as input from the Department of the Navy, in support of the Department of Defense Annual Report to Congress on Sexual Assault in the Military for Fiscal Year 2018.

The Department of Navy is deeply committed to achieving a culture of dignity and respect – where sexual assault is never tolerated; where all victims receive support and where offenders are held appropriately accountable. I, the Chief of Naval Operations, and the Commandant of the Marine Corps work collaboratively towards these high-priority goals. The Department of the Navy remains the only Military Department with a dedicated Sexual Assault Prevention and Response (SAPR) entity that reports directly to the Secretary. On my behalf, the Department of the Navy Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Office maintains visibility and oversight of SAPR activities throughout the Navy and Marine Corps, as well as conducts a number of Department-level initiatives. Our focus is for every Sailor, Marine, and Department of the Navy civilian to visibly embody our core values and actively contribute to achieving our goals.

Should you require additional information, my point of contact for this action is Ms. Melissa Cohen, Director, Department of the Navy Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Office. She may be reached by telephone at (703) 697-2180 or by e-mail at melissa.e.cohen@navy.mil.

FY 2018 Annual Report on Sexual Assault in the Military Executive Summary: Department of the Navy

The Department of the Navy is committed to a culture of dignity and respect, where sexual assault as well as sexual harassment is never tolerated, victims receive coordinated supportive services, and offenders are held appropriately accountable.

The Department of the Navy encompasses two military services – the United States Navy and the United States Marine Corps. Within this structure, the Secretary of the Navy, the Chief of Naval Operations, and the Commandant of the Marine Corps work collaboratively to combat sexual assault throughout the Department. Each conducts overlapping Sexual Assault Prevention and Response activities, in partnership with the Department of Defense and other supporting agencies.

The Department of the Navy Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Office is a Secretariat entity operating under the immediate supervision of the Secretary of the Navy. On behalf of the Secretary, this office maintains visibility and oversight of prevention and response activities throughout the Navy and Marine Corps, and develops related policy guidance.

Department of the Navy Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Office special initiatives during Fiscal Year 2018:

- During Fiscal Year 2018, teams from the Department of the Navy Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Office visited Navy and Marine Corps locations world-wide in order to share information with, and gain insights from, key stakeholders including military senior leaders, local commanders, senior enlisted leaders, Sexual Assault Response Coordinators, Victim Legal Counsel, criminal investigators, command legal officers, medical personnel, and chaplains. They also conducted focus group conversations with individual Sailors and Marines. These efforts served two main purposes. First, they visibly demonstrated the Department's commitment to combatting sexual assault in diverse settings worldwide. Second, they provided Department leaders with invaluable first-hand perspectives on program operations, challenges, and unexpected issues in real-world settings. One encouraging outcome was subjective validation from many sources that Sailors and Marines are genuinely more comfortable than previously in reporting a sexual assault incident.
- Site visits coincided with "Pure Praxis" training programs sponsored by the Department of the Navy Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Office. These training sessions use professional civilian actors/trainers and audience participation to address the prevention of retaliation and ostracism against individuals who have reported a sexual assault. To date, over 160,000 Sailors and Marines have attended 576 Pure Praxis performances at 70 locations world-wide, including more than 42,000 who attended 143 programs in Fiscal Year 2018. Also during that year, development work began on a related "Just Joking" program focused on preventing sexual harassment in military and civilian settings.

- In Fiscal Year 2018, the Department of the Navy Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Office engaged in a sexual harassment prevention initiative in collaboration with Navy, Marine Corps, and civilian leadership. This initiative was directed by the Secretary of the Navy in order to explore strategies for combatting sexual harassment along with underlying factors that might also contribute to sexual assault. The effort included background research, programmatic interviews, and liaison across organizational lines including civilian Equal Opportunity Employment and Military Equal Opportunity programs. In addition, three pilot-sites were selected by Service leaders for in-depth assessment and follow-on initiatives. These included a major civilian organization, a Navy training squadron, and a Marine Corps engineering battalion. Activities at each included interviews, focus groups, and anonymous surveys. Initial insights highlighted command climate factors that may contribute to the risks of sexual harassment and sexual assault. In particular, visibly engaged unit-level leadership, including immediate supervisors, and active lines of communication appear to be associated with positive command climates and fewer problems with sexual harassment and sexual assault.
- During Fiscal Year 2018, the Department of the Navy Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Office began formal collaboration with the Naval Postgraduate School and the Department of Defense Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Office in a new research effort. Its premise builds on insights from the sexual harassment prevention initiative (described above) about the critical influence of mid-level managers on workplace climate and the prevention of sexual harassment and sexual assault. One research goal is to explore the perceptions and concerns of mid-level Navy and Marine Corps managers and supervisors regarding real-world leadership challenges they face in managing command climate and in preventing sexual harassment in particular. Another goal is to apply those insights in designing effective training tools.
- In another effort focusing on mid-level leadership challenges, staff from the Department of the Navy Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Office developed a collection of 18 challenging scenarios that Navy and Marine Corps supervisors routinely encounter. For each, brief accompanying material summarizes leadership issues, policy expectations, available support, and suggestions on how to best mitigate and respond. Many of the scenarios were identified in special focus groups with E6-E9 Sailors and Marines.
- During Fiscal Year 2018, the Department of the Navy Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Office worked with the Center for Naval Analyses and the Naval Leadership and Ethics Center to expand and refine an interactive, game-format, training tool. Participating “command triads” (Commanding Officer, Executive Officer, and Command Master Chief) must collaborate in making command-management decisions that balance ship readiness, professional reputation, family and personal life, and crew morale to maximize command success in several complex scenario threads. Integrated into this are themes relating to the risks and command impacts of sexual assault occurrences and other destructive behaviors. The Naval Leadership and Ethics Center hopes to develop the tool as part of the leadership curriculum. The next step would require automating the program and scoring for simultaneous multi-person use.

Training tools previously developed by the Department of the Navy Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Office still in active use.

- “Not On My Watch,” is a two-hour video and discussion Sexual Assault Prevention and Response training program tailored for Navy recruits in training, combining video segments with facilitated discussion. It is currently in use for all Navy recruits.
- “Make a Difference, Be the Solution,” is a 90-minute video and discussion program tailored for pre-commissioned officers, including midshipmen at the Naval Academy and at civilian college Reserve Officers’ Training Corps programs, along with candidates in training at Officer Candidate School.
- “Empowered to Act,” is a 2-hour video and discussion program tailored for prospective Commanding Officers and is in use at the Naval Leadership and Ethics Center.
- “Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Commander’s Guide” is a small-sized, glossy-format booklet summarizing Departmental priorities, background data, and suggestions for managing local sexual assault cases developed for Navy and Marine Corps Commanding Officers.
- “One Team, One Fight” is a one-hour Sexual Assault Prevention and Response training program tailored for civilians. It was deployed Department-wide in 2013, was updated in 2017, and remains in use for new hires.
- “Atlantic – A Graphic Novel on Consent” is a 370-page “graphic novel” that addresses healthy relationships, the definition of consent, male and female sexual assault, preventing and confronting ostracism, and bystander intervention in a format suitable for the youngest Sailors and Marines – those known to be our highest-risk demographic for sexual assault. Extensive input was provided directly by young Sailors and Marines in numerous focus groups, and professional graphic art support was provided by the Defense Media Activity (Navy). The Navy and Marine Corps have both begun its use in diverse training environments.
- “Pre-Planned Response Cards – A Tool for Supervisors” is a loose-format collection of 18 unit-level Sexual Assault Prevention and Response challenges (for example, “Unexpected Disclosure”), each described in very brief summary, along with key aspects of related policy, associated responsibilities of immediate supervisors, suggestions for successful workplace management, and available support resources. They focus on the critical role of military immediate supervisors of enlisted personnel, as junior members of the chain of command, in managing situations they are likely to encounter.

Sexual assault prevention follow-up during Fiscal Year 2018:

The Department of the Navy Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Office continued during Fiscal Year 2018 to collect and organize follow-on data regarding sexual assault prevention efforts begun in 2011 at Training Support Command, Great Lakes, Illinois. That command manages a large population of young (and thus higher-risk) Sailors who are engaged in post-recruit vocational training at various Navy "A-Schools." Numerous prevention initiatives were identified in a special collaborative summit in February 2011. Many were implemented immediately, and most others were begun over the following year.

We now have over seven years of continuous local data on sexual assault reports, along with many years of sexual assault survey results. The most encouraging finding is a sustained 62% decrease in the frequency of reported penetrating sexual assaults. In contrast, reports of non-penetrating offenses have trended differently, in different directions over various intervals, and they now constitute a majority of actual reports. For both types of offense, at least in this unique population, reporting trends seem to parallel separate estimates based on anonymous sexual assault surveys of all students.

Taken together, our findings suggest it is definitely possible, but not easy, to reduce the frequency of sexual assault among young Sailors, although the complex interplay of different forms of sexual assault can make overall outcomes difficult to interpret. The most obvious prevention factors may be visibly active leadership engagement, and the need for multiple simultaneous efforts instead of any single initiative. Navy leaders have already sought to apply these lessons elsewhere.

FY 2018 Annual Report on Sexual Assault in the Military Executive Summary: Navy

Executive Summary

The Navy's Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Program reflects the commitment by all that sexual assault is not tolerated, condoned, or ignored. Sexual assault remains a threat to the United States Navy that adversely impacts readiness, morale and retention. We recognize the need for strengthened prevention efforts and increased reporting and accordingly, Navy leadership is advocating for a more dynamic, team-focused prevention strategy while requiring continued critical evaluation of our prevention programs. Navy remains committed to cultivating an environment of mutual dignity and respect for all, in which Sailors look out for their shipmates, victims are supported, and offenders are held appropriately accountable and continues to aggressively pursue primary prevention efforts to eliminate negative behaviors and incidents before they happen.

Carrying momentum forward from FY17 as directed by the Chief of Naval Operations and senior leadership, Navy's sexual assault prevention effort is expanding to a more holistic community-based approach that focuses on not just a Sailor's well-being, but the supportive environment that promotes that well-being. By systematically focusing on prevention through strengthening protective community bonds and activities, an inclusive and respectful culture will emerge - A Culture of Excellence.

The Culture of Excellence is a new framework dedicated to strengthening our warfighting and mission effectiveness by developing mental and physical toughness, enhancing transparent trust, and maintaining a sense of belonging or connectedness in every Sailor, civilian, and family member. The framework connects our various resilience and prevention efforts and is grounded in three lines of effort: leveraging data analytics; developing a behavior learning continuum to establish primary prevention touchpoints across a career; and implementing evidence-based policies, programs, practices and processes.

Our Culture of Excellence will be achieved by engaged leadership at all levels through frequent and consistent communication and through providing leaders the means to implement and assess Sailor-centered programs and practices. Our continued strategic communications about efforts and initiatives ensure Fleet-wide awareness of, and engagement, with emerging and continually updating policies, programs, processes and practices. We are collaborating with academia, our fellow Services and other federal and non-federal organizations to investigate research-informed and evidence-based strategies to drive healthy Sailor behavior and reduce, and ultimately eliminate, destructive behaviors.

Navy continued to mature response, investigative, and accountability capabilities through readily available high quality services and support capabilities provided by well-trained and accessible personnel. Victim assistance and advocacy services address victim physical, mental and emotional wellbeing, instill confidence and trust, strengthen resilience and encourage victims to report. Resources to support this ongoing capability include Sexual Assault Response Coordinators, civilian and unit Sexual Assault

Prevention and Response Victim Advocates, Deployed Resiliency Counselors, Victim Legal Counsel, Chaplains and medical providers.

Naval Criminal Investigative Service sustained their training efforts with a goal of having all agents and investigators trained and available to respond to allegations of sexual assault. This effort, along with sustained collaboration with Special Victim Investigation and Prosecution personnel, has shown to be crucial in taking a holistic approach to sexual assault investigations and to victim participation. Judge Advocate General personnel improved the quality of legal support to Sailors who reported a sexual assault including the expansion of training courses and completion of issuing smart phones to Victims' Legal Counsel.

Navy's efforts reinforce the expectation that every member of the Navy total force will foster and uphold an environment of respect, dignity, and trust. Setting and adhering to professional behavior and the maintenance of an environment of mutual respect is critical to establishing a Culture of Excellence. Navy will leverage data analytics to make informed decisions and focus on outcomes rather than processes. Navy recognizes that every member of the team must be actively engaged to prevent sexual assaults. Leaders at all levels will continue to champion Navy's prevention efforts. Sailors must support their shipmates to ensure they stay safe both on and off duty. All Sailors deserve, and must expect, a safe and secure work and living environment, and a culture intolerant of destructive behaviors.

1. Goal 1—Prevention

1.1 Summarize your efforts to achieve the Prevention goal to “institutionalize evidenced-based, informed prevention practice and policies across the Department so that all Military Service members are treated with dignity and respect, and have the knowledge, tools, and support needed to prevent sexual assaults.” (DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Strategic Plan, 2017-2021 (December 1, 2016), Goal 1 – Prevention, p. 6)

In this strategic summary, include significant updates and/or force-wide changes describing how your Military Service is addressing the following topics. There is no need to repeat prior Annual Report submissions if these processes have remained largely the same as in prior years.

Overall Approach: What force-wide initiatives did your Military Service employ this year to reduce the occurrence of sexual assault? (DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Strategic Plan, 2017-2021 (December 1, 2016), Goal 1 – Prevention, p. 6)

Metrics for Assessing Prevention Effectiveness: What metrics are being used to assess the effectiveness of prevention efforts intended to reduce the prevalence of sexual assault? Include a discussion of the metrics used to assess your sexual assault prevention program, and how they support or supplement DoD's core prevention metrics (i.e., prevalence and bystander intervention experience).

Describe how the results of those metrics are informing prevention planning. (DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Strategic Plan, 2017-2021, (December 1, 2016), Goal 1 – Prevention, Objective 1.1, p. 6)

Institutionalize Prevention: What are your efforts to institutionalize prevention efforts throughout your Service? Where do you see your efforts being most effective and where do you see areas for additional attention? (DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Strategic Plan, 2017-2021, (December 1, 2016), Goal 1 – Prevention, p. 6)

Expanding Prevention Knowledge: What advances have you made this year to expand your Services' knowledge of primary prevention? If applicable, how have you differentiated who receives what content? (DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Strategic Plan (December 1, 2016), Goal 1 – Prevention, Objective 1.2, p. 7)

Evidence-Based Prevention Practices: Explain your Military Service's approach to fostering and ensuring the use of evidence-based prevention practices. What resources or support have been put in place to educate your prevention community on how to interpret research in the prevention field? (DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Strategic Plan (December 1, 2016), Goal 1 – Prevention, Objective 1.2, p. 6)

Navy's approach to primary prevention focuses on strategies that prevent destructive behaviors and promote positive behaviors by decreasing risk factors and increasing protective factors and healthy behaviors. We continue to assess current initiatives for effectiveness and will maintain a focus on evaluating new and promising practices and programs for implementation within Navy. Fleet-wide efforts continue to provide all Sailors the knowledge, tools, and support necessary to prevent sexual assaults. Our mandate to create a culture of mutual respect and professionalism is supported through engaged leadership at all levels, frequent and consistent communication, and the means to assess prevention programs and practices.

Overall Approach

Navy prevention focuses on outcomes rather than processes. Navy leaders at all levels are fully committed to driving a culture of respect and using a comprehensive strategy aimed at reducing, and ultimately eliminating, destructive behaviors. This strategy is grounded in three lines of effort: leveraging data analytics; developing a behavior learning continuum to establish primary prevention touchpoints across a career; and implementing evidence-based policies, programs, practices and processes. We have already begun implementation of an imminent DoD Prevention Plan of Action (PPoA) designed to build primary prevention capability and capacity within Navy. Implementation of the PPoA is discussed in more detail in subsequent sections of this report. We are collaborating with academia, our fellow Services and other federal and non-federal organizations in investigating research-informed and evidence-based prevention strategies aimed at reducing, and ultimately eliminating, destructive behaviors.

Metrics for Assessing Prevention Effectiveness

At a strategic level, a primary metric to assess the effectiveness of sexual assault prevention efforts is the prevalence of sexual assault, measured biennially via the Workplace and Gender Relations Survey Active/Reserve (WGRA/R). The Navy's goal is to drive down the prevalence of sexual assault while increasing reports of sexual assault, thereby decreasing the reporting gap (the difference between incidents and reports of sexual assault). Navy continues to apply data science and advanced analytics to deepen our understanding of sexual assault incidents to inform future prevention pilot programs, studies, and revisions to Sexual Assault Prevention and Response (SAPR) policy and practices.

At the headquarters-level, Navy conducted an analysis of reported sexual assault incidents aboard surface ships using fiscal year (FY) 17 data to gain a better understanding of the nature of these incidents across different platform types. This analysis included a review of victim gender and paygrade, offense type, and incident location. The analysis established an annual normalized rate of report so that accurate comparisons between ship classes could be made. In FY19, these efforts will expand into other communities and geographies to achieve a more comprehensive picture of Navy sexual assault so that measures can be developed to assess the effectiveness of prevention efforts and response resources. Navy continues to look at subject data (e.g., age, paygrade, years of service, if named in more than one incident) to identify relevant insights that can be incorporated into prevention efforts, talking points, information papers, and strategic communication messaging for the Catch a Serial Offender (CATCH) program, which is projected to be unveiled in 2019.

The Navy is engaged with RAND to further analyze factors that drive sexual assault risk higher or lower within commands. Using data from the 2016 WGRA survey and other unit and personnel data, RAND will determine how operational, administrative and climate factors impact a unit's sexual assault risk. The outcome of this study will not only supplement the internal FY17 ship class analysis with additional insights, but also assist Navy in tailoring and aligning future prevention efforts.

Institutionalize Prevention

The Chief of Naval Operations (CNO) emphasizes that Navy leaders at all levels play a critical role that drives command climate, establishes a culture of dignity and mutual respect, and promotes the institutionalization of prevention. During the past year, Navy continued its quarterly CNO-chaired Culture of Excellence Board of Governance focused on holistic prevention of sexual assault and other destructive behaviors. At this senior leadership level, the CNO and his Four Star Admiral Fleet Commanders have continued a more holistic approach of examining unhealthy behaviors across the spectrum of harm, rather than solely focusing on destructive behaviors like sexual assault.

The Culture of Excellence Board of Governance and its associated working group looks at Sailors holistically from a Socio-Ecological Model perspective focusing on Sailor's well-being at the individual, family, unit and Navy level. The Board offers a more responsive and coordinated approach to address personnel readiness and preparedness, and appropriately align resources and efforts. This has included joint messages to Sailors from the Fleet Commanders that reinforce shared expectations across leadership regarding Sailor behavior.

In FY18, Navy expanded its academic, behavioral and research capability with the addition of a prevention-focused Highly Qualified Expert (HQE) to the team that advise leadership on initiatives focused on the prevention of destructive behaviors which directly impact the readiness and retention of military members. The team of science-based professionals bring outside academic, agency, and industry experience to advise Navy leadership on the most relevant empirical and evidence-based practices.

Advice has been provided to leadership on primary prevention (approaches that take place before a destructive behavior has occurred to prevent initial perpetration or victimization), secondary prevention (immediate responses after a destructive behavior has occurred to deal with the short-term consequences of violence), and tertiary prevention (long-term responses after a destructive behavior has occurred to deal with the lasting consequences of violence and treatment interventions). A Navy primary prevention logic model was approved by leadership to serve as a blueprint for implementing coordinated primary prevention across the Fleet. Navy meets regularly with peers from the other Services and the Office of the Secretary of Defense to facilitate cross-service collaboration and shared learning within the prevention domain.

At the lower echelon level Navy has continued force-wide efforts to counter destructive behaviors. Commands are encouraged to conduct an Afloat Cultural Workshop in addition to normal command climate surveys. These workshops analyze micro-climates and barriers to reporting in a similar manner as the Navy's destructive behavior programs. Commands are also required to conduct two safety stand downs in conjunction with winter holidays and summer holidays. These events provide an ideal venue to discuss recognition and mitigation of potentially destructive behaviors.

Additionally, United States Fleet Forces Command's focus on providing quality Waterfront Workshops in all Fleet concentration areas continues. Workshops occur several times annually and address prevention efforts with clear expectations set for leadership, personal behavior for front line supervisors, and the inculcation of Navy core values for all hands. The overall theme focuses on respect for self and others and showing how that can make a positive impact on sexual assault, alcohol-related incidents, domestic violence, and suicide prevention.

Similarly, Commander, Pacific Fleet continues to conduct Resilient Workforce Summits as the primary vehicle for communicating prevention programs. Included with these summits are the "Change the Culture - Leading and Living a Higher Standard" presentations to inspire and influence individuals, especially the "critical" middle of leadership, to assess, evaluate, and if necessary, improve their individual behaviors in order to influence change in others and the overall culture.

Expanding Prevention Knowledge

Navy leadership understands that we must expand prevention knowledge throughout the Fleet to successfully leverage and implement evidenced-based initiatives. Navy continues to expand prevention knowledge and differentiate content using face-to-face, online, and alternative mediums. Early adoption of the DoD Prevention Plan of Action (PPoA) has allowed Navy to begin building primary prevention capability and capacity. Navy's behavior learning continuum is aimed at identifying primary prevention touch points for learning across a Sailor's career continuum (from recruitment to transition). This will allow for the sequenced and timely dosing of primary prevention and other Culture of Excellence training throughout a Sailor's career.

Navy's 21st Century Sailor Office (N17) hosts approximately 45 SAPR Officers annually to provide training, education, and policy and program updates to Fleet subject-matter experts. SAPR Officers are assigned to Echelon II and III commands to oversee sexual assault prevention programs and initiatives, monitor and analyze sexual assault data and trends, and ensure policy and procedural compliance of subordinate commands. The FY18 SAPR Officer Training featured one and a half days of in-depth education on primary prevention, including a facilitated design thinking exercise that challenged participants to develop a vision statement for each of the four lines of effort in the draft Department of Defense (DoD) PPoA, and actionable recommendations to achieve that vision. The goal was to expand SAPR Officer understanding of effective prevention, equip them with actionable next steps for strengthening prevention programs, policies, practices and processes, and to draw out stakeholder perspectives to inform future Navy prevention efforts.

In FY18, the Navy launched "Full Speed Ahead 2.0" (FSA 2.0) to help address the prevention of destructive behaviors. To date, over 82% of the Fleet have participated in this frank dialogue about values-based decision making and leadership. The curriculum builds upon prior iterations of the FSA training to include lessons on the ramifications of social media based misconduct. FSA 2.0 specifically discusses the wrongful distribution of intimate images online, and the impact on those pictured in the images, those posting the images, and the command.

FSA 2.0, like the original Full Speed Ahead training, encourages Sailors to conduct an honest self and team assessment, and by doing so Sailors recognize that Navy culture is the sum total of individual character and actions. The training also emphasizes that dedication to personal betterment, team dynamics grounded in trust and respect and a "Sailor 24/7" commitment to the Navy's values yields a culture that is inclusive and empowering for all. Specifically, FSA 2.0 challenges each Sailor to honestly assess personal, interpersonal, and social media character and conduct by answering and acting on the following:

- How does your character, attitude, and behavior impact others and the functioning of your organization?
- How does your organization's peer-to-peer and leadership dynamic impact trust, respect, and motivation?
- How do you and your organization use social media, and what are the associated risks and rewards?
- How can we modify personal, interpersonal, and social media behaviors to strengthen overall culture, cohesion, and mission effectiveness?

Navy jointly created Atlantic, a graphic novel with the Department of Navy (DON) Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Office (DON SAPRO) and United States Marine Corps. The graphic novel was developed for a target audience of personnel in the 18-24-year-old age range and addresses numerous topics including sexual assault, consent and healthy relationships. A facilitator's handbook was produced to guide small group discussions of the novel within work centers and Navy school houses.

A limited number of hard copies of the graphic novel were printed and distributed with the intent that an online, downloadable digital version would be the primary method of access by Sailors. The digital version of the graphic novel had over 9,000 downloads in FY18. Of those Sailors who read the graphic novel and participated in the accompanying survey, the majority (66.32%) reported very positive feedback ("I liked it a lot"). The highest percentage of respondents (25.84%) were between the paygrades of E5-E6. Female Sailors made up the highest percentage of participants in the graphic novel feedback survey (43.82%). Survey feedback also indicated that the final product was too long, however the overall effectiveness of the graphic novel as a training and communication tool for providing instruction on consent and SAPR related concepts was widely acknowledged.

Navy also partnered with Kognito, a firm that develops health simulations, to launch the "Together Strong Pilot", a proof of concept project examining the effectiveness of virtual human role-play simulation. The training promotes resiliency in all service members and Navy families, as well as collaboration and synergy across a spectrum of wellness efforts that maximize total force fitness. Participants role-played conversations with multiple virtual, fully-animated and emotionally responsive avatars that exhibit signs of negative behaviors including depression, thoughts of suicide, and anxiety. The program is intended increase Sailors' knowledge and skills for recognizing warning signs and how to respond in the most effective and non-threatening manner.

The "Together Strong Pilot" provides assessment measures with a one-of-a-kind, blended-learning approach in an online/mobile learning environment. The study included 438 Sailors assigned to the simulation group, who completed a pre-survey (baseline) and then the online Together Strong simulation via a desktop computer. Sailors then completed a post-survey and a follow-up survey one month later. There were 358 Sailors in the control group who completed the pre-survey (baseline) and approximately one month later, the follow-up survey.

Results were presented comparing both the control group to simulation group scores, as well as the change from pre-survey to post-survey to follow-up survey within the simulation group. Overall, evidence supports that the Together Strong simulation is an effective training solution for increasing the preparedness, likelihood or behavioral intent and self-confidence of Sailors to intervene for fellow service members in psychological distress. Additionally, participants perceived the simulation to be highly effective, easy to use and a preferred method of learning compared to other types of traditional training such as PowerPoints, videos or lectures. Navy is working with Kognito and other technology based collaborators to determine a strategy for further expanding use of avatar-based training in FY19.

Evidence-Based Prevention Practices

Navy's third Culture of Excellence strategic line of effort is implementing evidence-based prevention policies, programs, practices and processes that address the full spectrum of behaviors. Navy has collaborated with organizations both internal and external to the military on several pilots and studies related to prevention.

One Love Escalation Workshop is a theoretically-driven healthy relationship program piloted with approximately 1,400 Sailors. The Escalation Workshop is a film-based discussion focusing on the warning signs of relationship abuse. The workshop consists of a film followed by a guided discussion led by a trained facilitator. Navy partnered with Boston University to conduct a randomized control trial of the One Love pilot to assess feasibility of implementing and effectiveness on intended outcomes and impacts.

A series of metrics were developed to help assess the prevention effectiveness using intervention and comparison groups in two Commands. The study measures consist of collecting baseline data, followed by 3-month and 6-month data collection intervals to determine if this intervention has a longitudinal impact on Sailors' behavior. The study captures qualitative and quantitative data through the incorporation of on-site observations, interviews in an operational environment, an academic literature review and statistical analysis.

A programmatic assessment will be initiated after final data collection is completed in December 2018 to review results and determine the feasibility of expanding the program. Preliminary baseline findings indicate that participating Sailors are strongly motivated to become advocates of change and increased their understanding that everyone has a role in prevention. Forthcoming evaluation results for the One Love Escalation Workshops will allow full assessment of the program's ability to address this need within the Navy context. Sailor responsiveness to this program and promising initial findings have led to expanded piloting of the program planned for FY19 that will involve training Navy personnel to be master trainers and facilitators for the program in the Pacific Fleet area.

Navy has planned two Getting to Outcomes (GTO) pilots sponsored by DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Office (SAPRO). The pilots are part of the Applied Prevention Project (APP) Phase II to implement an evidence-based sexual assault prevention intervention and measure its effectiveness over time. The GTO is a RAND developed evidence-based ten step process to help identify, select, plan, evaluate and improve strategies to prevent sexual violence.

The GTO pilots will be conducted in the Norfolk area with Commander, Naval Surface Forces Atlantic (CNSL), and Commander, Naval Installations Command (CNIC). CNSL will leverage the GTO process with their Force Preservation Council to implement prevention and CNIC will focus on preventing interpersonal violence through healthy relationships. The goal for the pilots over the next one to two years is to successfully implement and assess prevention programs, build prevention capacity and validate the effectiveness of the GTO process for operational units and shore based organizations.

The 21st Century Sailor Office also partnered with the Navy Digital Warfare Office and the Center for Naval Analysis (CNA) to develop and conduct a Destructive Behavior Pilot during FY18. The resultant study, CNA's "Destructive Behaviors: Bringing All of the Data Together," was a year-long effort to identify, obtain, and aggregate numerous data sets with information about destructive behaviors, known risk factors, and other personnel data. CNA analyzed data to identify leading indicators of destructive behaviors and better understand the interrelationships between these behaviors and risk factors. Findings from this effort are informing considerations of indicators for human factors predictive models that will be tested in FY19, as well as steps needed to ensure accessible and high quality data to inform prevention efforts.

Work from the "Destructive Behaviors: Bringing All of the Data Together" study, also informed additional work conducted with the Army Analytic Group and Office of Naval Research to create a consolidated data lake of data sources currently stored in disparate databases for rapid analysis. This effort led to development of a prototype destructive behaviors dashboard for use by commanders at the unit level. The proof of concept Commander's Risk Mitigation Dashboard (CRMD) will provide quantitative analysis of disparate databases into a user friendly assessment dashboard for use by commanders. This will provide commanders with a more robust understanding of the destructive behavior risk faced by Sailors at their specific commands and include recommended mitigation strategies for prevention. The CRMD prototype is being beta tested for applicability and functionality, while analytic models for the dashboard continue in development.

Another study being conducted is the CNA Best Teaching Methods for Improving Sailors' Personal Competency Skills study. This study examined the literature on prevention training for four destructive behaviors (sexual assault, suicide, sexual harassment and substance abuse) to determine what kinds of teaching principles work best. These principles were used to evaluate the current Navy trainings' alignment with the principles found in the literature. This study informs Navy efforts for a more holistic approach to destructive behavior prevention training that encapsulates the best teaching methods as found in the literature.

During the past year, Navy has worked to inform the prevention community about these and other prevention efforts occurring throughout the Navy and to educate the prevention community on critical thinking regarding the assessment and interpretation of research findings. For example, N17 has hosted bi-weekly virtual meetings for the Culture of Excellence Working Group. Topic themes from these meetings include: information-sharing and learning from research, experience, and best-practices feedback related to the Culture of Excellence Lines of Effort (Leveraging Data Analytics, Behavioral Learning Continuum, and P^4: Evidenced-Based Programs, Practices, Policies, and Processes). Further, four in-person symposium/workshops were hosted that focused on alignment of Culture of Excellence lines of effort throughout the Fleet, with emphasis on progress, research and strategic communications to encourage primary prevention. Additionally, the FY18 SAPR Officer Training featured one and a half days of in-depth education on primary prevention; this instruction included content that encouraged critical thinking regarding research and developing evidenced-based prevention programs. During FY19, the Navy will continue to educate the prevention community on how to interpret research and develop and evaluate evidenced-based programs, practices, policies, and processes.

1.2 Briefly describe your leadership-approved future plans to reduce the occurrence of sexual assault in your Military Service.

Navy leadership has directed future plans for an operational design supporting a Culture of Excellence and based on evidence indicating that relationship factors, such as connectedness, toughness, and trust, are associated with choices that promote signature behaviors or reduce destructive behaviors. Navy will focus on overall simplification and alignment of efforts and messaging across the Fleet to promote a Culture of Excellence. Navy will continue working along the three strategic lines of effort, taking a holistic prevention approach focused on individual and the broader social and environmental determinants of health to increase Sailors and operational readiness. Navy will continue to work on creating a comprehensive prevention strategy and building capacity for implementing and sustaining prevention efforts.

Institutionalize Prevention

In FY19, an aggressive effort will be made to increase Fleet and key stakeholder leadership's understanding of the Culture of Excellence prevention efforts, the prevention logic model that informs the development and assessment of primary prevention efforts throughout the Navy, and overarching strategies for prevention efforts with sexual assault and other destructive behaviors. Navy's team of prevention experts will continue to advise CNO and Navy leadership on prevention goals, courses of action, and assist in aligning resources and effort throughout the chain of command.

Navy will continue with developing and testing of the Commander's Risk Mitigation Dashboard (CRMD) and building out the system to incorporate other tools and resources for prevention efforts. This will include incorporation of predictive analytic models drawing from human factors research that will allow for assessment of counterproductive workplace and destructive behaviors, as well as development of a Commander's Playbook within the dashboard to provide prevention resources for identified risks. Our increased ability to leverage data analytics and equip leadership with tools and knowledge to effectively utilize this information will drive Navy prevention efforts.

Additionally, Navy prevention efforts will be supported and expanded through strategic communications and Force engagement. United States Fleet Forces Command will continue to provide tailored Fleet training that focuses on four cohort groups within their 500-plus commands: command leadership teams; front line supervisors; junior Sailors; and destructive behavior program managers. Commander, Pacific Fleet's theme for prevention has evolved to "Culture of Excellence" and focuses on the signature behaviors that all Sailors should be imbuing and demonstrating. Culture of Excellence is aligned with the CNO's overall primary prevention program against destructive behaviors.

Expanding Prevention Knowledge

Plans are in the early stages to develop follow-on FSA 3.0 training for delivery in FY20 with themes of toughness, connectedness and trust. FSA 3.0 will promote Signature Behaviors to inform warfighter decision-making through small unit learning and performance assessment to maximize warrior resilience. The training will enhance a cultural framework reflective of Navy core values for our Total Force team that promotes leadership and accountability while optimizing our capabilities across all warfighting functions. This values-based FSA 3.0 training seeks to optimize individual and team performance, benefiting from delivery at prescribed intervals - short training bursts to be taken at prescribed times throughout the year or on an as-needed basis. Navy will also examine incorporating other technologies for delivery and administration of the training that will enable more streamlined approaches that reinforce ready relevant learning.

The Kognito Together Strong pilot showed evidence that the program can be an effective delivery mechanism for Sailors, particularly for knowledge transfer and skill building. In FY19, the program will be assessed for feasibility of inclusion with broader technology based intervention efforts with the Institute for Creative Technologies. These efforts will move towards more streamlined technology based approach for various resiliency and leadership skill-building resources for Sailors. The Navy is receiving funding through the Military Operational Medicine Research Program for this research and development work.

Navy is preparing for implementation of the DoD SAPRO Prevention Plan of Action (PPoA), a framework for building an optimized prevention system to facilitate effective sexual assault prevention. The PPoA is currently in formal coordination and is expected to be signed into doctrine in FY19. The PPoA is structured around three domains, Human Resources, Partnerships, and Infrastructures with four core functions of Engagement, Evaluation, Implementation, and Integration. Upon adoption of the PPoA, N17 will work across the 21st Century Sailor portfolio and with key stakeholders to create a time-phased implementation plan to operationalize objectives and initiatives, address gaps and determine how to leverage prevention resources and activities at different echelons. The first two phases of the implementation plan are expected to be a self-assessment of Navy's current state of prevention, and development of a detailed blueprint of a Navy prevention system optimized to execute core functions.

Evidence-Based Prevention Practices

Navy's team of prevention experts will continue to work with the Navy to determine critical touchpoints throughout Sailors' career for infusion of appropriate evidence-based policies, programs, practices and processes to more comprehensively address the needs of Sailors from recruitment through their transition out of the Navy.

The One Love Program will be expanded in various locations throughout the Pacific Fleet in FY19. This will include master trainer and facilitator trainings to build capacity for broader implementation of the program. Navy will gather data with these continued implementation efforts to assess program impacts, as well as receive finalized evaluation findings from Boston University's longitudinal evaluation from the One Love Escalation Study. A programmatic assessment will follow to determine its ability to further prevention work, provide a holistic approach, and the feasibility of expanding the program Navy-wide if results are favorable.

Navy will use insights and data gained from the GTO pilots implementation and assessment to build prevention capacity and validate the effectiveness of the GTO process. Program assessment will determine their effectiveness and Navy's ability to scale the program to the entire Fleet.

To conclude, in FY19 CNO and senior Navy leadership will reinforce the expectation that every member of the Navy total force will foster and uphold an environment of respect, dignity and trust. Leaders at all levels will continue to champion Navy's prevention efforts. Setting and adhering to professional behavior and the maintenance of an environment of mutual respect is critical to Navy's success and will be accomplished through efforts at the institutional, command, small team and individual levels. Navy will leverage data analytics to make informed decisions and focus on outcomes rather than processes. Navy recognizes that every member of the team must be actively engaged to prevent sexual assaults. Sailors must support their shipmates to ensure they stay safe on and off duty. All Sailors deserve, and must expect, a safe and secure work and living environment, and a culture intolerant of destructive behaviors.

2. Goal 2—Victim Assistance & Advocacy

2.1 Summarize your efforts to achieve the Victim Assistance & Advocacy goal to “deliver consistent and effective advocacy and care for all military Service members or their adult dependents, such that it empowers them to report assaults, promotes recovery, facilitates dignified and respectful treatment, and restores military readiness.” (DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Strategic Plan, 2017-2021 (December 1, 2016), Goal 2 – Victim Assistance & Advocacy, p. 7)

(DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Strategic Plan “Task List,” (December 1, 2016), Goal 2 – Victim Assistance and Advocacy, Objective 2.1, Tasks #1 & #10, p. 3)

Navy achieves the Victim Assistance and Advocacy end state by maintaining readily available high quality services and support capabilities provided by well-trained and accessible personnel. SAPR services are intended to address victim physical, mental and emotional wellbeing, instill confidence and trust, strengthen resilience and encourage victims to report. This support capability includes Sexual Assault Response Coordinators (SARC), civilian and unit SAPR Victim Advocates (SAPR VA), Deployed Resiliency Counselors (DRC), Chaplains, and medical providers. Navy’s response program continues to mature and deliver consistent and quality care and advocacy to Sailors across the Fleet.

Overall Approach

Consistent and effective response and advocacy is rooted in response personnel’s capacity to deliver quality, trauma-informed services that are based on best practices. Commander Naval Installations Command Headquarters (CNIC HQ) SAPR released new, standardized initial SARC training. This updated training provides approximately 8 hours of web-based instruction combined with outside activities designed to acquaint the SARC with local trends, policies and processes. Additionally, the training provides SARCs with a foundation in core competencies such as case management, communication and supervisory skills. SARCs are also provided information on primary prevention, including the full spectrum of prevention to include healthy sexuality/relationships, engaging men in prevention, and active intervention techniques.

In an effort to standardize and expand continuing education options, CNIC HQ SAPR continues to enhance the CNIC Refresher Training Library enabling SARCs to provide ongoing refresher trainings to SAPR VAs. These trainings are pre-approved in accordance with Navy's SAPR policy (OPNAV 1752.1C) and are reviewed by CNIC and Office of the Judge Advocate General-Criminal Law Division (OJAG Code 20) to ensure they meet policy and Navy messaging requirements. The refresher trainings allow SAPR VAs to continuously build their skills and knowledge and improve victim advocacy and response.

Navy medical response capabilities were improved through the training of an additional 113 Sexual Assault Medical Forensic Examiners (SAMFE). The training was conducted at the inter-Service course at Joint Base Fort Sam Houston and provided knowledge of gender-sensitive medical-forensic care in both medical treatment facility (MTF) and operational environments. Across Navy Memorandums of Agreement for sexual assault forensic exams (SAFE) were executed or renewed to ensure continuity of care and partnerships in locations where MTFs could not provide around the clock capabilities. Navy implemented tele-training, a new initiative for enhanced SAMFE refresher/skill sustainment. Tele-training allows SAMFE training officers to run virtual SAFE drills, enabling real-time training and process improvements.

Metrics for Assessing Victim Assistance and Advocacy

To support integrated victim services, Installation SARCs oversee the SAPR VAs under their purview, ensuring consistent response capability and accountability. SARCs provide program implementation guidance within their area of responsibility and serve as conduits for information flow to and from CNIC HQ SAPR. SARCs serve as the single point of contact to coordinate response when a sexual assault is reported. SAPR VAs facilitate care and provide referrals and non-clinical support and advocacy to victims. The Navy SAPR program currently has 102 civilian SARCs (97 filled), 2 active duty SARCs, 70 civilian SAPR VAs (61 filled), and over 5,400 Unit SAPR VAs (uniformed, collateral duty). All SARCs and SAPR VAs are trained and certified in accordance with DoD policy.

Assessment of victim assistance and advocacy is an ongoing, multi-faceted process. CNIC HQ SAPR provides training, support and skill enhancement to response personnel to include SARCs, SAPR VAs and Unit SAPR Points of Contact (SAPR POCs). The staff works collaboratively with key stakeholders such as Victims' Legal Counsel (VLC), Chaplains, Deployed Resiliency Counselors, Naval Criminal Investigative Service (NCIS) and commands and legal personnel to ensure a coordinated response system. Victims of sexual assault are able to provide feedback on their experience with SAPR personnel through anonymous surveys from the Fleet and Family Support Center. Additionally, Navy victims were invited to provide feedback on their experiences related to expedited transfer and monthly case management group (CMG) meetings.

Other methods to assess and measure the effective delivery of SAPR services and compliance with policy at all Navy installations include Fleet and Family Support Center Certification Reviews and CNIC IG directed reviews. These processes assess compliance with current policies to ensure adequate and appropriate execution of the SAPR program.

The installations test their response capabilities by conducting SAPR drills twice annually. These drills help ingrain installation response procedures and capabilities, identify training needs, and improve upon any potential gaps in victim services. Through a coordinated review of lessons learned and best practices, feedback and recommended actions are shared with all installations to continually enhance the execution of the SAPR program.

CNIC utilizes the annual installation sexual assault CMG assessment tool as an additional means of evaluating the SAPR program. During this assessment process, the Region SARC audits the CMG process to ensure that key stakeholders are in attendance, incidents of retaliation, reprisal, and ostracism are addressed, and victims are provided consistent and coordinated response services.

CNIC HQ SAPR continues to work with the regions on expanding installation evaluation methods including surveys, self-assessments, focus groups, command assessments and/or quality assurance reviews. SARCs and leadership utilize feedback from Command Climate Assessment questions, surveys, inspector general inspections, Fleet and Family Support Center certification site visits, regional sexual assault CMG quality assurance audits and SAPR Drill After Action Reports to gauge program successes, deficiencies and progress. In FY18, CNIC HQ SAPR completed site visits to the Southwest, Mid-Atlantic and Southeast regions to conduct focus groups with SARCs, SAPR VAs, SAPR POCs, and unit leadership. Information collected from the site visits included local and regional best practices, Defense Sexual Assault Incident Database (DSAID) case management challenges and successes, monthly sexual assault case management groups practices, SAPR VA training assessments, and primary prevention efforts.

Regional SARCs and Navy Medicine Region SAFE Medical Program Managers routinely discuss advocacy-related issues surrounding a victim's medical treatment. Collaboration exists between Navy Medicine Region commands and SARCs to enhance education to the victim advocates. The Bureau of Medicine and Surgery (BUMED) and CNIC have a similarly strong working relationship in order to best support the advocates in the field who interact with SAMFEs at the MTFs.

SARC and SAPR VA Certification and Renewal

In accordance with DoD Instructions 6495.02 (Sexual Assault Prevention and Response (SAPR) Program Procedures) and 6495.03 (Defense Sexual Assault Advocate Certification Program (D-SAACP)), all SARCs and SAPR VAs are required to complete DoD Defense Sexual Assault Advocate Certification Program (D-SAACP) requirements prior to providing victim advocacy and assistance services. The requirements include screening for the position, which consists of an interview and verification of background check; leadership recommendation, and completion of initial training. As part of the D-

SAACP certifications process all SARCs and SAPR VAs must agree to adhere to the Code of Ethics for victim engagement and advocacy.

SARCs and SAPR VAs are required to renew their D-SAACP certification every two years. A total of 32 Continuing Education Units, including two hours of ethics, are required for recertification. The continuing education training emphasizes compassionate and trauma informed care for victims of sexual violence, and consists of webinars and face-to face trainings. SARCs or SAPR VAs who do not meet this requirement have their certification suspended and are unable to provide victim advocacy services until the requirements are met. For D-SAACP revocation, CNIC HQ SAPR requires installations to follow the written request procedures identified in the Department of Defense Instruction (DoDI) 6495.03, D-SAACP, which is sent to the National Organization for Victim Assistance and to DoD SAPRO.

CNIC HQ SAPR continues to provide a variety of training opportunities in order for SARCs and SAPR VAs to gain more knowledge and experience in working with victims of sexual assault. To maximize participation, CNIC HQ SAPR conducts virtual, web-based trainings. These trainings are conducted at various times and are often recorded allowing for 24-hour access to accommodate outside of the Continental United States and deployed personnel. SARCs and SAPR VAs are notified via email from the Region SARCs to ensure widest dissemination. Additionally, upcoming trainings are included in the CNIC HQ SAPR quarterly newsletter that is distributed to all personnel and posted on the shared SAPR G2 and Learning Management System websites.

Navy is an expeditionary force and must ensure to the greatest possible extent that all Sailors have access to trained and certified victim advocates. To accomplish this imperative, Navy policy requires each unit to have a minimum of two collateral duty unit SAPR VAs. As a result, Navy has approximately five times the number of unit SAPR VAs than the number of sexual assaults reported. Consequently, many unit SAPR VAs may never provide response throughout their career and are therefore limited in their ability to obtain advanced D-SAACP certification levels. Unit SAPR VAs are encouraged to volunteer with local community sexual assault response centers to obtain the required experience for advanced certification.

SARC and SAPR VA Suspension, Revocation, and Reinstatement

Reports of sexual assault, inappropriate behavior, or criminal activity involving SAPR personnel trigger a Commander's Critical Information Requirement (CCIR). The CCIR is routed through CNIC HQ SAPR, Navy SAPR program staff, the Vice Chief of Naval Operations (VCNO) and the Secretary of Defense. SARCs and SAPR VAs who are under investigation or found to have engaged in inappropriate behavior, committed a punitive offense, or violated the code of conduct/ethics will have their certification suspended and/or revoked and access to DSAID rescinded. Alleged or suspected criminal activity is reported to NCIS, the Operational Commander, and the Human Resources Office when civilian personnel are involved. The accused SARC or SAPR VA is notified of the allegation and that their ability to perform their SAPR duties has been suspended until the outcome of the investigation.

Initiatives to Improve Response to and Reporting by Male Sexual Assault Victims

Initiatives to improve response to reporting by male victims of sexual assault consist of SAPR personnel using gender neutral language when conducting trainings, briefs and providing services. SAPR personnel are taught not to exclusively use male pronouns when talking about subjects or female pronouns when talking about victims.

Additionally, SARCs are trained, and share with others, not to use binary language because doing so subtly reinforces gender stereotypes which can prevent males from feeling comfortable making reports. Navy is mindful of the pictures and graphics included in the trainings and marketing materials and makes a conscious effort to use gender neutral graphics and break the stereotype of portraying females as victims and males as perpetrators.

The Navy VLC Program represents both male and female victim clients, offering equal access to all representation and advocacy services. In addition, VLC regularly give briefs in large training environments including those where the student populations tend to be heavily male. Training provided to medical providers emphasizes that victims of sexual assault are also males and that SAPR response must be gender-specific.

The goal of these Navy-wide efforts is to improve the knowledge and skills of the SAPR response personnel thereby ensuring gender-responsive, culturally competent, and recovery-oriented services to male victims.

Military Protective Order Issuance and Review

Military Protective Orders (MPO) are commonly used to ensure no contact between victims and their alleged offenders. The status of the requests for MPOs as well as their expiration is included on the CMG checklist and is reviewed during each meeting.

Violations of MPOs and actions taken by the command and law enforcement, if necessary, are discussed to ensure the safety of the victim. Each MPO is tracked utilizing DSAID.

A total of 321 Military Protective Orders were issued by Navy in FY18 in response to allegations of sexual assault, with two violations reported.

Medical and Mental Health Support

BUMED did not have any reports or issues of medical care being hindered due to lack of exam kits or other resources. All MTFs with SAFE capabilities are stocked with a sufficient number of kits to perform victim and/or alleged offender exams. The number of SAFE kits available in the Navy Medicine and Operational areas of responsibility are reported and tracked monthly. Memorandum of Agreement (MOA) facilities have the option of using the DoD SAFE kit provided by the MTF or their state-approved SAFE kit.

No issues were reported regarding laboratory testing. All SAFE kits are processed by the Defense Forensic Science Center and all forensic toxicology kits are sent to the Armed Forces Medical Examiner System. Protocol for handling of SAFE kits and toxicology kits are in the MTF protocols and included in the MOA with partnered facilities.

National Guard and Reserve Access to SARCs and SAPR VAs

Service members have access to SAPR services from any Service branch, regardless of their Service affiliation and status. In an effort to promote seamless and standardized response, SARCs continue to incorporate Reserve Component requirements into the training and educations provided to tenant commands of all Services and Reserve members. Available medical and investigative services vary depending on duty status, but SAPR services are always available. Navy SARCs meet this goal by discussing Reserve Sailor support measures with Navy Operational Support Center (NOSC) Commanding Officers and providing NOSC staff and Reserve Sailors with refresher training sessions.

There have been a few instances in which Navy Reserve victims have encountered delayed access to a SARC after reporting a sexual assault at a NOSC on another Service's base. CNIC HQ SAPR continues to work with other Services to ensure all victims have timely access to SARCs and allowable services regardless of military facility or active/reserve status.

Coordination with Non-DoD Resources

As part of a coordinated community response system, installation SARCs are routinely engaged with local rape crisis centers, clinics, Sexual Assault Response Teams and institutions of higher learning. Recent coordination with non-DoD resources has been for the purpose of utilizing evidence-based research to inform on-going initiatives. As an example, CNIC HQ SAPR engaged with the National Sexual Violence Resource Center and the Texas Association Against Sexual Assault to implement best practice for primary prevention efforts.

CNIC HQ SAPR coordinates with civilian providers to ensure accurate resource contact information is included in the DoD Safe Helpline database. New organizations inquiring about inclusion in the database are referred by SAPR HQ staff to the Safe Helpline for approval.

The SARC or SAPR point of contact provides newly reported personnel with information during command indoctrination about partnerships and civilian resources in the surrounding area.

BUMED engages with non-DoD resources and increase collaboration between sites providing victim care by encouraging Region SAMFE training officers to include SAMFEs from civilian MOA facilities in MTF refresher training.

Some MOA facilities post DoD Safe Helpline information at their location to better serve potential military victims who report to the civilian facility. Partnerships between civilian medical clinics and victim advocacy groups are forming to increase awareness and support. BUMED advocates for male and female sexual assault victim support groups offered by Veterans Affairs medical centers to maximize support and recovery to victims.

2.2 Briefly describe your leadership-approved future plans to deliver consistent and effective advocacy and care for all Service members or their adult dependents.

CNIC HQ SAPR continues to successfully deliver consistent and effective victim support, response, and reporting options by leveraging training and skill-building opportunities for SAPR personnel and Sailors. The goal is to increase skills and knowledge as well as making individuals aware of reporting options, available victim advocacy and supportive services.

Future plans to deliver consistent and effective advocacy and care in FY19 consist of robust, coordinated and collaborative training approaches. Navy will develop and deploy a mobile training team to deliver a comprehensive training program to command leadership and SAPR response personnel world-wide. This training will combine program policy and execution to ensure all program elements are aligned at the installation level. All Navy installations will participate in this training to ensure standardization of program execution. As a follow on to the mobile training, an in-person training for SARCs and SAPR Officers will take place in the fall of calendar year 2019. Another focus for FY19 is training on the concept of consent through the lens of healthy relationships.

Navy Medicine will continue to deliver thorough, gender-specific SAMFE care by ensuring all trained SAMFEs meet the requirement for skill sustainment while continuing to send all new SAMFEs to the 80-hour inter-Service SAMFE course. An update to the Medical Inspector General SAPR/SAFE check list will reflect current practices and guidance. This will ensure all MTFs are in compliance with applicable policy and are performing with expertise, compassion, and innovation to care for all victims of sexual assault. BUMED is creating a qualification designator for trained and certified SAMFEs to assist in identifying SAMFE skill sets for operational tours on board ships or as individual augmentees.

3. Goal 3—Investigation

3.1 Summarize your efforts for achieving the Investigation goal to “sustain a high level of competence in the investigation of adult sexual assault using investigative resources to yield timely results.” (DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Strategic Plan, 2017-2021 (December 1, 2016), Goal 3 – Investigation, p. 9)

In this strategic summary, include significant updates and/or force-wide changes describing how your Military Service is addressing the following topics. There is no need to repeat prior Annual Report submissions if these processes have remained largely the same as in prior years.

Overall Approach: What force-wide initiatives did your Military Service employ this year to improve investigation of sexual assault cases? What enhancements have been made to your Military Services’ Special Victim Investigation and Prosecution Capability for Military Criminal Investigative Organizations? (DoDI 5509.19, “Establishment of Special Victim Investigation and Prosecution (SVIP) Capability within the Military Criminal Investigative Organizations (MCIOs)”)

Metrics for Assessing Investigation Effectiveness: What metrics are being used to assess the effectiveness of investigation efforts intended to sustain a high level of competence in the investigation of adult sexual assault? (DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Strategic Plan, 2017-2021 (December 1, 2016), Goal 3 – Investigation, p. 9)

MCIO, Law Enforcement, and Other First Responder Training: What updates have been made to the training of your Military Service MCIO and other DoD law enforcement activity (LEA) resources assigned to conduct an investigation of adult sexual assault? Please include an update on training you are providing to law enforcement who are the first to respond to an adult sexual assault scene where the MCIO won’t be able to respond for days. Specifically, what training does law enforcement receive for speaking with a sexual assault victim and preserving evidence (on the victim and on the physical scene) in remote or austere environments (e.g., in a submarine that won’t surface for a week because of mission security requirements)? Additionally, describe any updates to training and guidance for all first responders to a sexual assault allegation, ensuring the preservation of evidence and witness testimony. (DoDI 6495.02, “Sexual Assault Prevention and Response (SAPR) Program Procedures,” (May 24, 2017), Encl 10, para 4p and 7e / DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Strategic Plan “Task List,” (December 1, 2016), Goal 3 – Investigation, Objective 3.1, Task #1, p. 4 / DoDI 5505.18, “Investigation of Adult Sexual Assault in the Department of Defense,” (March, 22 2017), para 3.3, p. 7)

Evidence Processing Challenges: Have you had any challenges with evidence being processed at the Defense Forensic Science Center (e.g., turnaround time for processing of Sexual Assault Forensic Examination (SAFE) kits and other evidence) and how did you address these challenges? (Joint Chiefs of Staff Strategic Direction to the Joint Force on SAPR (May 7, 2012), p. 11)

Collaboration and Interoperability with Civilian Law Enforcement: What continuing efforts are being made to increase collaboration and improve interoperability with civilian law enforcement to include sharing information on Civilian and Military Protective Orders and assuring receipt of civilian case dispositions? (DoDI 6495.02, "Sexual Assault Prevention and Response (SAPR) Program Procedures," (July 7, 2015), Encl 4, para 3g)

Overall Approach

NCIS continues to pursue the goal of having all agents and investigators, regardless of discipline, trained in the Advanced Adult Sexual Assault Investigations Training Program (AASAITP) course to ensure there are always trained personnel available to respond to all allegations of sexual assault. NCIS Headquarters (NCISHQ) also continues to review and evaluate 100% of all initiated reports for compliance in sex-related offenses, domestic violence, and child physical abuse offenses. The focus of these reviews is to ensure the initial, time sensitive steps in the investigative process were completed in a timely manner and proper Special Victim Investigation and Prosecution (SVIP) notifications were being made.

Additionally, throughout FY18, NCIS has engaged with military and community counterparts to improve responses to sexual assault reports. Collaboration with SVIP members has shown to be crucial in taking a holistic approach to sexual assault investigations and victim participation. NCIS investigative timelines are calculated from initial notification until the date all logical investigative leads have been completed and the case has been presented to the command for administrative/judicial action. Prior to FY 2012, investigative timelines were as long as 300 days in some locations. The current average timeline for Navy investigations is 107 days.

Metrics for Assessing Investigation Effectiveness

NCISHQ conducted a 100% review of all the initiated reports for investigations of sex-related offenses, domestic violence offenses, and child physical abuse offenses. Each month NCISHQ compiles the information and produces a strategic monthly Family and Sexual Violence Newsletter. The Newsletter is provided to the Executive Assistant Directors for Pacific and Atlantic Operations and senior field office leadership, highlighting the offices performance through metrics that illustrate how the office is accomplishing or falling short with the requirements levied on NCIS by the DoD. The newsletter identifies office trends, highlights "Best Practices" for completing the Family and Sexual Violence requirements, and includes a reconciliation of each office's DSAID discrepancies.

In addition, at least 10% of all active cases in these categories received a monthly comprehensive program review. These efforts have allowed potential issues with cases to be identified and resolved at the earliest possible opportunity.

The first line supervisor on each investigation conducts a case review within 30 days of case initiation and at a minimum of every 60 days during the pendency of the investigation. The second line supervisor is responsible for reviewing all cases at least once every six months. These reviews are submitted and maintained at NCISHQ. The Executive Assistant Directors for Atlantic and Pacific Operations conduct reviews of their respective field offices on an annual basis. The NCIS Inspector General conducts case inspections every four years.

MCIO, Law Enforcement, and Other First Responder Training

NCIS has 163 dedicated personnel (129 of which are funded by DON) working sexual assault investigations. 60% of all NCIS general crime investigations initiated are family and sexual violence related. 778 NCIS agent and non-agent personnel have attended the AASAITP or equivalent advanced training since August 2012. At the end of FY18, 61% of NCIS agent core (70% in general crimes/fraud billets) have attended AASAITP. NCIS continued to work to satisfy these training requirements by conducting six AASAITP courses in FY18. NCIS AASAITP also provided training to eleven Navy Trial Counsels in FY18.

The NCIS Advanced Family Sexual Violence Training Program meets the advanced training standard specified in DODI 5505.19 pertaining to the investigation of child crimes and domestic/intimate partner violence. Completion of this course is mandatory for all agents/investigators assigned to an SVIP billet. To date, 209 agent and non-agent personnel have satisfied this training requirement. This two-week course was offered twice in FY18.

Evidence Processing Challenges

NCIS did not encounter any evidence processing challenges in FY18.

Collaboration and Interoperability with Civilian Law Enforcement

NCIS field offices have the responsibility to maintain collaborative relationships with law enforcement agencies within their area of responsibility. When investigations of sexual assault also fall within the jurisdiction of a local law enforcement agency, NCIS will initiate a joint investigation or assist the agency with investigative leads as deemed appropriate. During the course of the investigation, NCIS remains engaged with local law enforcement counterparts and reports the progress of the investigation to command. This enables continued visibility and awareness in the event that civilian authorities defer prosecution to the military or civilian prosecutors decline the case and NCIS decides to pursue additional investigative leads.

NCIS utilizes the Law Enforcement Information Exchange (LInX)/Department of Defense Data Exchange (D-DEX) program which is a federal cooperative data sharing system. The system partners with the Federal Bureau of Investigation's National Data Exchange, Department of Homeland Security Immigration and Customs Enforcement Pattern Analysis and Information Collection System and pawn databases. The system is updated nightly and all users must be sworn law enforcement agents and their respective agencies must contribute data to the system. Utilizing LInX/D-DEX NCIS has had success in locating investigations involving Navy and Marine Corps members and DoD civilians aboard Navy and Marine Corps installations that went unreported to DON.

Through agreement with the Federal Bureau of Investigation, NCIS enters all MPOs issued during an NCIS investigation into the National Crime Information Center (NCIC) database. This allows local law enforcement agencies access to the MPO information during potential contact with a subject and provides a point of contact when a violation is discovered that otherwise would have gone undetected.

At the initiation of each criminal investigation, NCIS queries the NCIC database along with other databases to obtain background information on the subject of the investigation. Civilian protective orders are included in these queries and are enforceable by NCIS and command. Any violations of civilian protective orders found during an NCIS investigation are reported to the local law enforcement agency and to the command for action.

NCIS employs NCIS Tips Program, a mobile and web based anonymous tip application. NCIS Tips Program can be downloaded onto any smart device or accessed on the internet from the NCIS public website. NCIS Tips enhances the reporting of law enforcement information and supports ongoing investigations by providing an additional mechanism for NCIS to enlist the assistance of the public to seek out additional information pertaining to a specific investigation. NCIS Tips allows the tipster to submit a tip and dialog with an agent in real time. The tipster has the availability to remain anonymous. NCIS must report a disposition to each tip submitted within ten (10) days. This can range from a new investigation being initiated, information added to a current investigation, a tip being referred to a law enforcement or military partner or the tip being closed out for non-criminal matters. The NCIS Tips Program is briefed with every NCIS mission brief and during all sexual assault and family violence briefings.

3.2 Briefly describe your leadership-approved future plans to sustain a high level of competence in the investigation of adult sexual assault.

In FY19, NCIS is adding elements of the AASAITP to new NCIS agents attending Special Agent Basic Training including policy, alcohol/drug facilitated sexual assault and cognitive interviewing. Sexual assault investigations are a core part of NCIS mission and as such adding this training to the new agent's curriculum allows them to deploy to the field with more advanced training in sexual assault investigations. Further, this will allow NCIS to continue to train all NCIS agents regardless of disciplines at AASAITP with a goal of having all field agents trained in sexual assault investigations. NCIS has five AASAITP classes scheduled for FY19.

The Catch a Serial Offender Program (CATCH) is projected to launch in FY19. The CATCH program will allow a victim of a restricted report of sexual assault the option to submit details of the incident anonymously to NCIS without affecting the restricted nature of the report. The information will be used by NCIS to identify individuals who are suspected of perpetrating multiple sexual assaults. The info will query within the CATCH database and with all Military Criminal Investigation Organization (MCIOs) utilizing the LInX/D-DEX database. As the executive agent, NCIS has been and will continue to be intimately involved in the design and impending implementation of the CATCH Program database.

NCISHQ will continue to review 100% of all new sexual assault reports of investigations for compliance with requirements levied on NCIS by DoD. Senior field office leaders will continue to receive the trend analysis report created by NCISHQ, highlighting their respective offices' performance and allowing them to adjust course and/or take corrective action as needed.

4. Goal 4—Accountability

4.1 Summarize your efforts to achieve the Accountability goal to “maintain a high competence in holding alleged offenders appropriately accountable.” (DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Strategic Plan, 2017-2021 (December 1, 2016), Goal 4 – Accountability, p. 9)

In this strategic summary, include significant updates and/or force-wide changes describing how your Military Service is addressing the following topics. There is no need to repeat prior Annual Report submissions if these processes have remained largely the same as in prior years.

Overall Approach: What force-wide initiatives did your Military Service employ this year to improve legal support to Service members and adult family members who reported a sexual assault? What enhancements have been made to the SAPR training provided to those who are affiliated with the Special Victim Investigation and Prosecution Capability program (paralegals, trial counsel, and victim-witness assistance personnel) for responding to allegations of sexual assault? (DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Strategic Plan “Task List,” (December 1, 2016), Goal 4 – Accountability, Objective 4.1, Task #1, p. 4)

Metrics for Assessing Accountability Effectiveness: What metrics are being used to assess the effectiveness of holding alleged offenders appropriately accountable, to include your Military Service's metrics for measuring the success of the Special Victims' Counsel (SVC) / Victims' Legal Counsel (VLC) program? (NDAA for FY 2016, section 532 / NDAA for FY 2013, section 573 / SecDef Memo (August 14, 2013), Improving Victim Legal Support, p. 1)

Keeping Leaders and Responders Informed of Updates on Victim Rights and Military Justice Updates: How are you ensuring that SARCs, SAPR VAs, MCIOs, and commanders are informed of recent victim rights and military justice updates? (DoDI 6495.02, “Sexual Assault Prevention and Response (SAPR) Program Procedures,” (July 7, 2015), Encl 10, para 7)

Special Victims' Counsel (SVC) / Victims' Legal Counsel (VLC) Program Enhancements: What enhancements has your Military Service made to the SVC/VLC program over the last year? Describe efforts to fund these programs in the future through the POM process. (SecDef Memo (August 14, 2013), Improving Victim Legal Support, p. 1 / NDAA for FY 2016, section 532 / NDAA for FY 2013, section 573)

Victim Non-Participation in the Military Justice System: What insight and/or reasons can you provide that may explain the declining number of victims choosing to participate in the military justice system over the last few years? (DoD Annual Report Metric #7, previously Metric #8)

The Navy continues to improve the quality of legal support Judge Advocate General (JAG) personnel provide to Sailors who reported a sexual assault. Improvements in FY18 included the expansion of training courses, completion of issuing smart phones to Victim's Legal Counsel (VLC) and implementing additional methods of assessing legal support to the SAPR program and to victims of sexual assault.

Overall Approach

The Office of the Judge Advocate General (OJAG) Code 20 continued to provide training and materials tailored to specific demographics. OJAG Code 20 also published explanatory materials on military justice updates on an ad hoc basis throughout the year. These materials are distributed to the JAG Corps via email and the OJAG Code 20 SharePoint site.

OJAG Code 20 expanded its annual two-day course on Sexual Assault Policy for the Staff Judge Advocate (SJA) to a three-day course. The course provides military justice and SAPR policy updates, and added training on the Military Justice Act of 2016 (MJA 2016) changes for SJAs who primarily advise commanders who serve as General Court-Martial Convening Authorities. OJAG Code 20 provided training on sexual assault and military justice updates at the Advanced Staff Judge Advocate Course, and presented on military justice matters relating to sexual assault and appellate Victim Witness Assistance Program (VWAP) at a joint conference on Integrated Legal Services for Victims.

OJAG Code 20 partnered with the Naval Justice School (NJS) to conduct a three-day Special Victims Capabilities Course for the first time in three years. This course brought together SARCs, SAPR VAs, VLC, Trial Counsel, and Legalmen to discuss matters relating to available services and issues for sexual assault victims.

OJAG Code 20 continued to conduct a legal review of all SAPR training projects and materials (including videos, brochures, and posters) developed for use within the DON. This legal review extended to training materials produced by a third party for use with Navy audiences to ensure that all training materials follow applicable legal and policy requirements.

OJAG Code 20, working as the Judge Advocate General's representative on the Joint Service Committee on Military Justice (JSC), revised the Manual for Courts-Martial for implementation of MJA 2016. Members of OJAG Code 20 also drafted an instruction to cover VWAP at the appellate level, and notified victims on the status of cases undergoing appellate review from March 2016 to the present. Additionally, a permanent civilian employee was hired to exclusively manage appellate VWAP issues.

The Trial Counsel Assistance Program (TCAP), in coordination with NCIS, continued to teach two special victim courses offered monthly at the Federal Law Enforcement Training Center (FLETC) in Georgia. The two courses, Advanced Adult Sexual Assault Investigation Training Program and Advanced Family and Sexual Violence Training Program, are attended by both NCIS special agents and Navy and Marine Corps trial counsel. During these courses, TCAP specifically addressed all of the new changes regarding victim rights and military justice updates, to include the changes within MJA 2016.

The Navy VLC Program improved legal support to victims of sexual offenses by completing the issuance of smart phones to all 33 field VLCs within the program, including those stationed overseas. The smart phones provide the ability to call, text, e-mail, and FaceTime existing clients and newly-reporting victims. All VLCs reported vastly improved ability to serve their clients' interests due to the newly acquired smart phone capabilities. In addition, a technology overhaul is underway which will provide each VLC with upgraded laptop capabilities, such as WiFi and other features. This will allow VLCs to better communicate with victims while on travel and be more effective in cases requiring travel.

Metrics for Assessing Accountability Effectiveness

OJAG Code 20 conducted a legal review of DoD surveys prior to promulgation to the Fleet, which are used to provide insight into the effectiveness of the SAPR program. As detailed in question 5.1 below, OJAG Code 20 is also responsible for the entry and verification of all Navy Sexual Assault Disposition Reports in DSAID.

The Trial Counsel Assistance Program (TCAP) inspected the Navy's prosecution offices during the course of their annual TCAP Mobile Training Teams and during the Navy Legal Service Command Inspector General (IG) Article 6 inspections to ensure prosecution offices were in compliance with SAPR requirements. Trial counsel manage metrics via an internal, online tracking system that permits caseload evaluation at the regional and individual counsel level.

The Navy VLC Program measures success on three levels: the Navy level; the program level; and the victim level. On the Navy level, the Navy VLC Program is rigorously inspected on a routine basis by the OJAG IG through the Uniform Code of Military Justice Article 6 inspection process. The inspection includes a review of a VLC Self-Assessment Guide completed by each VLC office at the time of inspection, personal interviews with each VLC and support staff member, interviews with VLC Program leadership, and interviews of local SAPR stakeholders such as SARCs, SAPR VAs, and Region Legal Service Office (RLSO) personnel.

At the program level, the Navy VLC Program leadership collects a weekly report from each VLC accounting for new clients, appearances at proceedings, travel, results of specific cases, motions and other relevant data. These reports are consolidated and provided weekly to Commander, Naval Legal Service Command (CNLSC).

It is through this weekly review of reports from each VLC that leadership is able to monitor trends in legal issues, policy conflicts, or practice trends, as well as the professional health and welfare of each VLC. In addition, CNLSC meets with the Navy VLC Program Chief of Staff by phone on a weekly basis, and often meets with individual VLC during site visits.

At the victim level, the Navy VLC Program conducts an online, anonymous and voluntary survey that all VLC clients are invited to complete at the close of their cases. Victim responses to the survey are consistently positive. One hundred percent of clients responding to the survey indicated that they believe their VLC represented their personal interests and maintained their privacy and 100% of survey respondents indicated they would recommend VLC to others who have been victims of sexual offenses. Significantly, the survey comments reflect a satisfaction with VLC representation even when a victim's case did not end as he or she anticipated or desired.

In FY18, the quarterly meetings of the Office of the Secretary of Defense's Office of General Counsel (OSD OGC) Interservice Coordination Committee (ICC) continued. The quarterly reporting requirement reverted to an annual report, which was submitted by the Navy VLC Program on 1 November 2018.

Commander Support and Notification Enhancements

In order to ensure commanders have current knowledge about victim rights and military justice updates, NJS monitors Congressional SAPR mandates, implementing Executive Orders, DoD/DON SAPR policy changes, and the legal impact of updates from sexual assault case law. The NJS Military Justice Cross-Functional Team continually reviewed and updated NJS military justice and SAPR training at all levels of instruction. Training is routinely updated to meet Fleet requirements as part of an annual curriculum review, as well as short-term updates to address emergent changes.

NJS trains prospective commanding officers and other senior officer leadership on SAPR issues at the Senior Leader Legal Course (SLLC), which is an intensive three-day course of instruction. In FY18, NJS hosted the course 19 times and trained approximately 800 high-ranking U.S. Naval officers. A three-hour block of instruction at the SOC relates exclusively to military justice and scenario-based sexual assault response training, including victim rights. The SLLC curriculum is updated annually and as needed throughout the year to reflect any changes in the law and DoD/DON policy. NJS is also a member of the Litigation Training and Coordination Council (LTCC) chaired by the Assistant Judge Advocate General for Military Law and the Chief Judge of the Department of the Navy. The LTCC provides a forum for all Navy and Marine Corps military justice practitioners to provide input into the development of training.

TCAP conducted their second annual installment of "Prosecuting Special Victims Crimes." This 5-day course brought together Coast Guard, Marine Corps, and Navy prosecutors, Legalmen, and civilian paralegals. The course focused on prosecuting domestic violence, strangulation, child abuse, and child pornography cases. Due to the high demand for the course, TCAP is attempting to break this course into three separate courses in the future. The course goals in FY20 are: (1) Adult Sexual Assault, (2) Child Abuse and Exploitation and (3) Domestic Violence. In addition, TCAP worked with the National District Attorneys Association to send Navy Trial Counsel to the national "Prosecuting Sexual Assault and Related Violent Crimes" course. TCAP, with the coordination of NJS, created Trial Counsel specific training for MJA 2016. This training was provided to each RLSO "Trial Shop" in person to prepare them for the changes implemented via MJA 2016.

Navy VLC worked closely with Navy SARC and VA providers in their regions on all aspects of victim support, to include regular training and understanding of the nature and scope of Military Rules of Evidence 514 pertaining to the Victim Advocate - Victim privilege, as well as military justice and practice updates, as they occur.

Navy VLC regularly presented substantive training to NCIS agents at the FLETCs in multiple locations. VLC Program leadership participated in policy level meetings with NCIS, OJAG Code 20 and the Marine Corps Victims' Legal Counsel Office to address systemic issues between the organizations. In addition, VLC in all locations provided regular training on the VLC Program as well as victim rights to command triads, local installation commanders, SJAs who advise commanders, SARCs, VAs and SAMFEs, all of whom may be considered first responders for sexual offenses. NCIS, prosecutors and, when applicable, VLC work together to enhance victim participation and build confidence in the investigation and military justice process. By engaging all parties throughout the entire process, as appropriate, victims receive constant communication, with less confusion about hand-offs of investigations from MCIO agent to prosecutors.

Special Victims' Counsel (SVC) / Victims' Legal Counsel (VLC) Program Enhancements

In addition to the communications enhancements mentioned earlier, the Navy VLC Program renewed its contract for local counsel in Bahrain. Local Navy VLC are not permitted to represent their clients in Bahraini courts. This contract allows victims in cases involving foreign national offenders in Bahraini courts to effectively exercise their rights and helps ensure charges against offenders are not being dropped due to lack of victim input or participation. The contract will extend through FY19 with the option of one additional year.

A re-alignment of VLC billets also enhanced the coverage and services provided by the VLC Program. VLC Program leadership constantly monitors caseloads and manning needs across the 23 locations where the 33 VLC billets are assigned, partly through the weekly report process noted above. After reviewing caseload data over several years, an under-utilized VLC billet from Naval Station Great Lakes, Illinois, was moved to the Norfolk region, the Navy's largest fleet concentration area, which did not have adequate VLC resources to meet the workload. This shift has allowed the program to more efficiently use VLCs and address the caseloads in both locations.

The Navy VLC Program Chief of Staff is in regular contact with the Comptroller for the Office of the Judge Advocate General of the Navy, to include routine conversations regarding and active participation in the Program Objective Memorandum (POM) process. Expenses related to Program enhancements such as provision of smart phones to all VLC, contracting a local counsel in Bahrain, and any billet additions or changes are all included in POM planning with the Comptroller.

Victim Non-Participation in the Military Justice System

Of the 1,284 unrestricted reports made in FY18, 70 indicated they did not want NCIS to investigate their case within one week of the initial report. This indicates that those victims elected an unrestricted report for reasons other than wanting an investigation into their assaults.

For some victims who choose to end participation after an investigation is initiated, VLCs report anecdotally that the length of time for the entire process is a reason those victims give for dropping out of the military justice system. VLCs also report that victims will chose administrative resolutions instead of courts-martial because the administrative dispositions may happen faster than a court-martial. This allows victims to achieve closure and move forward with their lives more quickly. VLCs report that victims have also expressed frustration over the length of time it takes for a Prosecutorial Merits Memo (PMM) to be prepared for the convening authority by the Trial Department.

Analytically, the average time for investigations, creation of PMMs, and imposition of administrative or non-judicial punishment decreased for FY18 (see Goal 8, Analytics Discussion). However, the average length of time for court-martial resolution did increase slightly. There may be multiple reasons for this, such as an increase in complexity of cases, witness availability causing delays, or a need for more trial and defense attorneys to serve an area. OJAG remains committed to ensuring the court-martial process is effective, judicious, and honors the rights of all parties involved.

4.2 Briefly describe your leadership-approved future plans to maintain a high competence in holding alleged offenders appropriately accountable.

OJAG Code 20 intends to monitor the progress of processes that were put into place in FY18. The primary focus will be on ensuring proper implementation and understanding of the MJA 2016 changes to the military justice system. OJAG Code 20 will respond with ad hoc training and advice should any issues arise in this area.

5. Goal 5—Assessment

5.1 Summarize your efforts for achieving the Assessment goal to “effectively measure, analyze, assess, and report SAPR Program progress to improve effectiveness.” (DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Strategic Plan, 2017-2021 (December 1, 2016), Goal 5 – Assessment, p. 10)

In this strategic summary, include significant updates and/or force-wide changes describing how your Military Service is addressing the following topics. There is no need to repeat prior Annual Report submissions if these processes have remained largely the same as in prior years.

Oversight Activities: What are your efforts to enhance SAPR Program oversight activities, to include the use of recent surveys (e.g., WGRA, WGRR, and DEOCS) and insights from the Government Accountability Office, advisory committees, and internal inspections to improve your programs and services? (DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Strategic Plan, 2017-2021, (December 1, 2016), Goal 5 – Assessment, Objective 5.2, p. 10 / DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Strategic Plan “Task List,” (December 1, 2016), Goal 5 – Assessment, Objective 5.1, Tasks #2 & #6, p. 4)

Defense Sexual Assault Incident Database (DSAID): What force-wide initiatives did your Military Service employ this year to ensure the quality, reliability, and validity of data collected in DSAID? (DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Strategic Plan, 2017-2021 (December 1, 2016), Goal 5 – Assessment, Objective 5.1, p. 10 / DoDI 6495.02, “Sexual Assault Prevention and Response (SAPR) Program Procedures,” (May 24, 2017), Encl 2, para 6ad)

SARC/VA and Healthcare Provider Training Effectiveness: How is your Military Service assessing the training provided to SARCs/VAs and healthcare providers? What actions, if any, have been taken to implement any new training over the past year? (DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Strategic Plan “Task List,” (December 1, 2016), Goal 5 – Assessment, Objective 5.1, Tasks #4 & #5, p. 4)

Retention of DD Forms 2910 & 2911: Has your Military Service experienced any challenge(s) in fulfilling the 50-year retention of DD Form 2910 (Victim Reporting Preference Statement) and DD Form 2911 (DoD Sexual Assault Forensic Examination Report)? If yes, what actions have been taken to mitigate the challenge(s)? (NDAA for FY 2014, section 1723 / DoDI 6495.02, “Sexual Assault Prevention and Response (SAPR) Program Procedures,” (May 24, 2017), para 4u)

(Army & NGB) GAO Report: Sexual Assault – Better Resource Management Needed to Improve Prevention and Response in the Army National Guard (ANG) and Army Reserve (USAR): What actions has been taken to comply with the subject GAO Report (i.e., assessment of staffing approaches used to administer the SAPR program; communication and dissemination of budget guidance for the Sexual Harassment/Assault Response and Prevention (SHARP) Program to all full-time SHARP personnel; monitoring and providing oversight of SHARP program expenditures at the ANG and USAR command level; reassessment of the Office of Complex Administrative Investigation’s timeliness and resources; and development of an expedited line-of-duty determination process for USAR sexual assault victims? (GAO-17-217 (February 27, 2017) / DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Strategic Plan “Task List,” (December 1, 2016), Goal 5 – Assessment, Objective 5.1, Task #6, p. 4)

At every level Navy recognizes that assessment and feedback mechanisms are critical to measurement and evaluation of the SAPR programs and policies and determining if these efforts are achieving the desired outcome of command cultures and climates where sexual assault and associated behaviors are not tolerated. Navy strives for responsive, meaningful, and accurate systems of measurement and evaluation in every aspect of the SAPR program. Navy draws on authoritative data from sexual assault reports, survey instruments, focus group discussions, and other measures to effectively evaluate the SAPR program and inform strategy and policies.

Oversight Activities

Navy leverages information from the WGRA/R and Defense Equal Opportunity Management Institute (DEOMI) Organizational Climate Survey (DEOCS) surveys, site visit reports from Naval Inspector General (NAVINSGEN), engagements by the Naval Audit Service and other inspection teams and feedback from advisory committees such as the Defense Advisory Committee on Investigation, Prosecution, and Defense of Sexual Assault Cases in the Armed Forces (DAC-IPAD) as well as oversight visits to various installations to improve SAPR policies, programs and activities. An important means to measure progress in preventing sexual assault is through the biennial DoD WGRA/R which estimates the prevalence of sexual assaults across Navy.

Navy partnered with the Naval Audit Service in a study to look at career paths of Sailors that made unrestricted reports of sexual assault. The study provides Navy an independent and objective review of the advancement and retention of Sailors who made an unrestricted report of sexual assault in comparison with Sailors that did not make an unrestricted report. Also used as a comparison cohort were Sailors that made an unrestricted report and subsequently executed an expedited transfer. Findings of the study will inform Navy SAPR and expedited transfer policies and processes.

Navy Medicine uses Medical Inspector General assist visits and inspections to help commands determine areas of improvement, identify best practices, and provide feedback and resource sharing for program growth. All prospective BUMED commanding officers (PCO) and prospective executive officers (PXO) also receive a SAPR briefing during their BUMED PCO/PXO course to provide detailed information about organizational data and trends, command initiatives, updated policy and best practices.

Navy also utilizes the DEOCS to assess shared perceptions about equal opportunity, SAPR, and organizational effectiveness. These surveys provide leadership with anonymous, direct feedback from unit personnel. Local commanders can assess their command climate in comparison with Navy and DoD averages, and take appropriate action as necessary to address specific areas of concern. Navy uses this information to continuously assess the effectiveness of policy and training initiatives, and inform updates to both.

Several organizations including OJAG Code 20, VLC Program, and OPNAV N1 also participated in, and provided responses to requests for information from advisory committees, such as the DAC-IPAD. Personnel provided substantive input to the DAC-IPAD Working Group as they concluded their focus on the Expedited Transfer (ET) program, feedback that would help them determine what recommendations, if any, to make to Congress and DoD. Navy pro-actively addressed several DAC-IPAD study areas through an update of a Military Personnel Manual policy to require assignments/detailing personnel and commanding officers to coordinate with and keep SAPR personnel informed throughout the ET process. Additionally, results from a Navy SAPR study on the expedited transfer process and outcomes provided data to and informed leadership about the reasons victims request expedited transfers and to help dispel Sailor misperceptions of abuse of the ET policy.

Defense Sexual Assault Incident Database (DSAID)

Navy SAPR stakeholders continue to collaborate on efforts to ensure the quality, reliability, and validity of data collected in DSAID. This information allows for accurate trend analysis, helping tailor effective and efficient initiatives.

CNIC HQ SAPR ensures the ongoing training of SARCs to effectively utilize DSAID as well as conducting regular quality assurance of DSAID. CNIC offers pre-recorded and live webinar sessions to enhance user training of DSAID to clarify policy guidelines, avoid common data entry errors and maintain data integrity.

On a monthly basis, a Quality Assurance report is shared with the regions and identifies warnings and errors related to specific cases. This facilitates the Region SARCs' oversight of the status of cases in their area of responsibility. Other quality assurance measures include monthly reports from NCIS that identify incidents where cases of sexual assault are being investigated and are not reflected in DSAID. This process ensures demographic information is correct and that cases involving civilian victims with military subjects are captured in DSAID in a timely manner.

OJAG Code 20 enters and verifies all Sexual Assault Disposition Reports for the Navy in the DSAID Legal Officer module. For FY18, OJAG Code 20 classified DSAID inputs in accordance with updated DoD SAPRO guidance regarding disposition categories. As a result, the Navy had a decrease in "Victim Declinations" and corresponding increase in "Unknown Subject" classifications. These attorneys at Code 20 also coordinate with NCIS and CNIC HQ SAPR throughout the year to resolve DSAID issues to ensure accurate results for quarterly and year-end data analysis. If additional information is required, attorneys at Code 20 reach out to the command, NCIS, CNIC, or the cognizant RLSO or Staff Judge Advocate to obtain further case information.

These collaborative efforts ensure that information maintained in DSAID is accurate, data entry processes are timely and appropriate, and the responsibility for maintaining a reliable case management system is appropriately shared amongst key players.

SARC/VA and Healthcare Provider Training Effectiveness

In order to ensure the effectiveness of SARC and SAPR VA training, CNIC HQ SAPR conducts site visits to observe and evaluate the facilitation of the initial 40-hour SAPR Victim Advocate training. This includes 5 key areas: (1) facilitators' use of the training content to include the Instructor Guide, PowerPoint presentations, and training activities; (2) use of training time (ensuring that facilitators adhere to time allotted for modules and topic areas and meet the 40-hour training requirement; (3) participation and engagement of attendees; (4) review student feedback from module evaluations; (5) review of feedback provided on participant and facilitator evaluation forms.

Based on observations and evaluations during the course of the 40-hour training, CNIC HQ SAPR completes an after-action report which provides feedback in each of the areas listed above. This feedback includes direct quotes from participants and recommendations to the facilitators identifying areas of improvement. Additionally, based on observations and feedback from training participants and facilitators across multiple installations, CNIC is able to identify trends and best practices on how to better improve the training effectiveness in the future.

BUMED assesses training provided to healthcare providers primarily through patient tracers that are performed at MTFs in order to evaluate staff response to victims of sexual assault. This allows for the program manager or SAPR POC to examine deficits in the reporting process, time lapses at various intervals from check-in to treatment, labs, etc. and actions taken by staff members to ensure appropriate patient care/direction and compliance. Drills are conducted at various locations at an MTF where a victim might report to ensure staff are in compliance with the standard care protocols for sexual assault victims.

BUMED used regional SAMFE training officers to develop and implement standardized refresher training, SAMFE assistant training, and strangulation training, as well as deliver SAFE/SAMFE specific content to NCIS at their 40-hour Advanced Adult Sexual Assault training for special agents. In addition, a new initiative to develop a standardized SAFE Medical Module for the victim advocacy course by way of video recording was implemented to ensure the same content is being provided to all victim advocates regardless of location and level of experience of SAMFE presenting. Due to the subjective nature of the training, feedback is via written training assessment/feedback forms. BUMED continues to explore methods of how to better determine effectiveness of training efforts.

Retention of DD Forms 2910 & 2911

Navy identified challenges with the DD Form 2910 hard-copy 50-year retention requirements. Therefore, to ensure retention of DD Forms 2910, CNIC HQ SAPR has instituted quarterly data calls to the regions to ensure that hard copy DD Forms 2910 are being properly stored and maintained in accordance with DoD policy. These data calls will also assist in identifying areas requiring process improvement, which will continually help assess and streamline record management practices.

In addition, CNIC has developed a SAPR IG checklist which delineates the key components of the SAPR program, including hard copy DD form 2910 record management and retention. Installations are required to complete this checklist annually to ensure full compliance with program requirements.

As required, DD Form 2911 DoD SAFE Report is collected by NCIS investigative personnel following a victim's SAFE. The form is a required exhibit in the NCIS report of investigation, which, by policy, is retained for 50 years from the date the investigation is closed. NCIS considers all Restricted Reports as unsolved; therefore, SAFE kits are retained indefinitely.

NCIS further ensured agency wide compliance by issuing internal policy informing NCIS personnel of the DoDI 5505.18 requirements involving records retention and inclusion of DD Form 2911. NCIS employs Program Support Assistants who are internally trained on records retention regulations. They are specifically trained on DoD standards enumerated within NCIS policy chapter "File Retention and Disposal of Closed Investigations, Operations, Sources and Security Clearance Adjudication Cases." The NCIS HQ Records Management Division is responsible for the physical retention of NCIS investigative records.

5.2 Describe your leadership-approved future plans to further improve the achievement of the Assessment goal.

Navy leadership supports continued collaborative force-wide initiatives such as Cultural Workshops, Resilient Workshop Summits and the Culture of Excellence Workgroup to further develop, improve and assess program effectiveness. Navy leadership and our team of prevention experts will leverage data and insights from these efforts in identifying program gaps, focusing on vulnerable populations and determining Navy's ability to scale initiative to the Fleet. Navy will continue analyzing data and programs at all levels in order to implement policies and procedures to improve program effectiveness. Beyond efforts previously mentioned in Goals 1 through 4, the following outline additional efforts.

CNIC HQ SAPR is committed to ensuring that SAPR programs, processes, and practices are successful in meeting goals. As such, CNIC has and will continue to implement responsive, meaningful, and accurate metrics to ensure that existing SAPR programs and practices have the intended effects and outcomes.

As mentioned earlier, CNIC HQ SAPR will collaborate with OPNAV N172 to develop a comprehensive training program to target command leadership and SAPR response personnel. This training effectively combines program execution with program policy to ensure all program elements are aligned at the installation level. Each of Navy's regions and installations will participate in this training to ensure standardization of program execution. As a follow on to the mobile training, an in person training for Region SARCs and SAPR Officers will take place in the fall of calendar year 2019. Lastly, a SARC and SAPR VA virtual learning event is planned for calendar year 2019 to further support standardization of program execution.

To guide future analysis and measurement of SAPR program progress, CNIC HQ SAPR will develop an annual year end assessment tool in coordination with CNIC's IG. This comprehensive assessment tool ensures program compliance with policies, incorporating best practices and standardizes execution.

Based on current performance metrics, CNIC HQ SAPR will educate and equip SARCs with the skills to implement effective prevention programming. CNIC will assist SARCs in identifying and implementing practical metrics that will help determine effectiveness of their efforts and identify areas that require improvement.

CNIC HQ SAPR will administer the annual Post-Sexual Assault Awareness and Prevention Month (SAAPM) Data Collection Survey which solicits feedback from the SARCs on best practices, installation efforts, and challenges. Findings from the survey will be used to inform program improvement, such as prevention programming education for SARCs, engaging Sailors and leadership in SAPR, and how to effectively leverage existing resources to maximize the impact of SAAPM efforts.

Upcoming Fleet activities to assess the SAPR program include a Commander Naval Reserve Forces Command (CNRFC) force-wide SAPR drill to determine program compliance as well as identify and address programmatic gaps at all echelons. CNRFC will also migrate to the SITREP Data Tool which will enable comprehensive trend analysis to help inform program effectiveness and offer insight into future service level program direction and focus.

These assessment efforts assist in collecting and analyzing data to measure and report the impact of Navy SAPR programs and to drive adjustments to prevention and response efforts. These assessments support Navy's ability to continually improve overall command culture, and set conditions to prevent, respond to, or intervene in destructive behaviors.

6. Core Functions: Communication and Policy

6.1 Provide a brief summary for new efforts taken in FY 2018 on the following:

Publicizing Sexual Assault Reporting Options: Is your Military Service using any new or expanded initiatives to publicize the sexual assault restricted and unrestricted reporting options to your Service members and adult dependents? (DoDI 6495.02, "Sexual Assault Prevention and Response (SAPR) Program Procedures," (May 24, 2017), Encl 4)

Retaliation Training: How has the topic of retaliation been incorporated into supervisor (officer, enlisted, and civilian) and SAPR training curricula? What are the critical themes, core competencies, and learning objectives for retaliation training? Does it provide instruction on resources available for victims to report retaliation and the availability of a General/Flag Officer review when a victim is separated within one year of final disposition of his/her sexual assault case? (DoD Retaliation Prevention and Response Implementation Plan (January 2017), p. 13-14 /

DoDI 6495.02, "Sexual Assault Prevention and Response (SAPR) Program Procedures," (May 24, 2017), Encl 4, para 7g)

Military/Veteran Service Organization (MSO/VSO), Federal Partner, and Congressional Outreach: What has your Military Service done to develop and implement MSO/VSO, federal partner, and/or congressional outreach to communicate and/or enhance sexual assault-related policy initiatives? (DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Strategic Plan "Task List," (December 1, 2016), Core Function – Communications, Tasks #2 & #4, p. 4)

Publicizing Sexual Assault Reporting Options

Navy continues to emphasize, publicize and train to restricted and unrestricted reporting options to Sailors and adult dependents through posters, brochures, electronic media, Plans of the Day/Week/ Month, and events throughout the year. Additional methods of communicating SAPR reporting options include:

- Use of CNIC HQ SAPR and Navy SAPR webpages to provide SAPR information to victims, bystanders, friends and family, and commands. The webpages also provide victims with an understanding of the program's crisis response services, including the different reporting options, tools to prevent a sexual assault, and information on available services to victims.
- Overseas, local Armed Forces Network radio and television are used to broadcast SAPR commercials and discussions with commanders, Command Master Chiefs and SARCs.
- Laminated, wallet-sized cards are disseminated to provide individuals quick reference to reporting options as well as contact information for local SAPR resource and the DoD Safe Helpline.
- Key SAPR personnel, reporting options and available resources are highlighted during annual Standardized Core Training and command indoctrinations.
- CNIC HQ SAPR developed various marketing materials in order to publicize available SAPR resources.
- Ships entering the Commander Naval Forces Europe/Africa Area of Responsibility receive a welcome message and video teleconference with the Fleet SAPR Officer providing information and any requested training.

During FY18, Navy VLC assisted more than 1,750 victims of sexual offenses, including 930 victims who made initial reports during FY18, representing their clients in more than 500 military justice and other proceedings. In addition to their duties directly representing and advocating for their clients, Navy VLC are required to perform regular outreach within their Areas of Responsibility in order to publicize the VLC Program as well as victims' rights and reporting options.

During FY18, Navy VLC conducted more than 675 presentations worldwide, briefing almost 30,000 individuals throughout their communities including military and civilian employees, dependents, command representatives, other SAPR stakeholders, Midshipmen at the United States Naval Academy, Service members and dependents reporting to new duty stations, and students at enlisted education centers such as the Basic Enlisted Submarine School.

Retaliation Training

Retaliation training has been included in mandatory annual Standardized Core Training, Petty Officer, Chief Petty Officer, and Officer training since FY16 and has been included in the Fleet-wide implementation of Chart the Course training. Themes, core competencies and learning objectives include definitions and applicability, the undesired effects, how and to what organizations to make reports of retaliation, and command and individual roles and responsibilities. Additionally, facilitators address the role of social media, how retaliatory behaviors do not comply with Navy core values or the Navy Ethos and what resources are available to victims, witnesses and first responders. The availability of a Flag Officer review when a victim is involuntarily separated within one year of final disposition of his/her sexual assault case is being included in updated training.

Navy VLC are trained specifically on the issue and resources available for victims to address retaliation. This training begins for incoming VLC when they attend an approved Special Victims Counsel Certification course conducted either by the Army or the Air Force. Thereafter, it is a practice covered annually during one of the monthly trainings attended online by VLC. Although Navy VLC report very few instances of chain of command retaliation, in those cases they have met with great success in engaging with the command to resolve the issues at the lowest possible levels. Most instances appear to be mistakes made at the senior enlisted or junior officer level intended to assist the victim (such as changing work schedules to avoid offender but inadvertently disadvantaging the victim). Most of what victims report as “retaliation” is social ostracism perpetrated by the victim’s peers. VLC also attempt to address these issues with the command, however this is a more difficult social situation to resolve in many cases. In the case of retaliation or ostracism, Navy VLC receive training throughout their tours regarding these issues and maintain a robust discussion via SharePoint and other means to continue to develop resources and strategies for addressing these issues.

Retaliation training is also conducted at all echelons across active and reserve component commands. The Fleets provide a command leadership level retaliation refresher at pre-command and Commander Naval Forces Europe – Naval Forces Africa region university training to reinforce the importance of recognizing and addressing retaliatory behaviors. The Navy Reserve Inspector General provides training, including definitions, elements, Commander responsibilities and causation/linkage, to all incoming Navy Operational Support Center (NOSC) Commanding Officers at the NOSC Commanding Officer course and to all Naval Reserve Activity Commanding Officers, Executive Officers, and Senior Enlisted Leaders at the Navy Reserve Unit Management course. These courses are requirements prior to taking command/billet.

Beyond training, information and resources available to all Service members, dependents, and civilian personnel for reporting and responding to retaliation related to the reporting of a sexual assault (including the DoD Safe Helpline numbers and websites) is disseminated using a variety of media designed to reach the widest audience possible. Individuals and services available include Chain of command, Command Climate Specialist (CCS), Command Managed Equal Opportunity program manager, SARCs, SAPR VAs, VLCs, NAVINSGEN, NCIS and local base law enforcement.

Military/Veteran Service Organization (MSO/VSO), Federal Partner, and Congressional Outreach

Navy continues to develop outreach to communicate enhanced SAPR policy initiatives and programmatic changes directed by Congress, the Secretary of Defense, the Secretary of the Navy and Navy leadership. Navy's SAPR Office, the Office of Legislative Affairs, Chief of Information Office, members of OJAG and other senior leaders interact with Congress when required to present on or respond to inquiries regarding SAPR programs and initiatives. Additionally, on an annual basis, Navy engages with Congressional Professional Staff Members (PSM) on Navy's Manpower, Personnel, Training and Education vision and way ahead. This forum permits a good two-way discussion between PSMs and program leads, enabling both to better prepare members and senior Navy leaders for testimony. It also serves as an opportunity to offer insight to PSMs into how Navy is executing and why, to identify challenges and to express where Navy can use additional Congressional support.

I. Overview

In FY18 there were 1,696 reports of sexual assault in the Navy, representing a 7% increase from FY17 (1,585). The sustained increase in reporting suggests that the Navy is making progress on closing the gap between reporting and prevalence of sexual assault. While these results are a favorable indicator, much work remains in understanding, preventing, and responding to this destructive behavior.

II. Unrestricted Reports

In FY18 there were 1,284 unrestricted reports, representing a 7.8% increase from FY17 (1,191), continuing the upward trend that started in FY11. Unrestricted Reporting triggers command notification, initiates a MCIO investigation and provides an opportunity to hold alleged offenders accountable, in addition to giving victims access to support and advocacy services.

Service Member on Service Member

Navy Service member on Service member (or “blue-on-blue”) allegations of sexual assault represented 45% (578 of 1,284) of Unrestricted Reports compared to 47.9% (570 of 1,191) in FY17. There was a 17.3% decrease in blue-on-blue penetrating allegations (223 compared to 270 in FY17) and a 19.5% increase in blue-on-blue contact allegations (325 compared to 272 in FY17).

Male Victim Reporting

Male Service member victims continue to be an area of strategic focus for the Navy SAPR program and reporting by this population improved in FY18. Unrestricted Reports made by males increased by 20% (264 compared to 219 in FY17) and they accounted for a slightly larger percentage of unrestricted reports than in FY17 (20.5% compared to 18.4%).

Service Member Victim Unrestricted Reports (by Gender)
Fiscal Year (FY)	Males	Females	Total
FY18	264	887	1,151
FY17	219	829	1,048
FY16	189	737	926

Expedited transfers

In FY18, there were 323 requests for expedited transfers made by Service member victims (compared to 305 in FY17). Of these, 18 were unit/duty requests and 305 were installation requests (compared to 27 unit/duty and 278 installation requests in FY17). Eight requests were denied for the following reasons: four reports were found not to be credible; one was approved but rescinded at the member's request; one was improperly identified as sexual assault and was ineligible for expedited transfer; one was denied for member misconduct subsequent to the report of sexual assault; and one because the Service member was separating from the Navy.

Expedited Transfer Requests
Fiscal Year (FY)	Requested	Approved	Denied	Total SVM Initial Unrestricted Reports
FY18	323	315	8	1,151
FY17	305	297	8	1,048
FY16	306	299	7	926

Military Protective Orders (MPO)

In FY18, there were 328 MPOs issued, representing a 18.4% increase from FY17 (277). Two MPO violations were reported during this fiscal year.

III. Restricted Reports

In FY18 there were 555 Restricted Reports of sexual assault in the Navy, representing a 0.35% decrease from FY17 (557). Of those, 143 or 25.7% were converted to Unrestricted Reports (compared to 163 or 29.3% in FY17), resulting in 412 reports remaining restricted (compared to 394 in FY17). Restricted Reports enable a victim to receive support services, without command notification or initiation of an investigation. SARCs do not report the types of offenses for Restricted Reports.

IV. Victims Support Services

Navy continues to provide high quality services and support to victims of sexual assault whether they file a restricted or unrestricted report. A victim may receive multiple referrals which provide information, emotional support, and guidance through the various medical, mental health, advocacy, investigative and legal resources, to meet their current needs.

Unrestricted Reports

In FY18, Navy Service members who made unrestricted reports received 8,500 sexual assault support service referrals representing a 44% increase from FY17 (5,902). Of those referrals, 7,673 or 90.3% were for military resources and 827 or 9.7% were for civilian resources.

The top three military resources requested by victims were: victim advocate (1,860); legal (1,778); and mental health (1,024) referrals. These military resource referrals accounted for 60.7% of all requests made in this category. Additionally, DoD Safe Helpline referrals increased by 54.4% (630 compared to 408 in FY17).

The top three civilian resources requested by victims were: other (384); victim advocate (192); and rape crises center (113) referrals, and they accounted for 83.3% of all requests made in this category.

Restricted Reports

In FY18, Navy Service members who made restricted reports received 2,300 sexual assault support service referrals representing a 18.6% increase from FY17 (1,938). Of those referrals, 2,050 or 89.1% were for military resources and 250 or 10.9% were for civilian resources.

The top three military resources requested by victims were: victim advocate (530); mental health (351); and legal (294) referrals. These military resource referrals accounted for 51.1% of all requests made in this category.

The top three civilian resources requested by victims were: other (81); victim advocate, (57); and rape crises center (49) referrals. They accounted for 74.36% of all requests made in this category.

V. Investigations

In FY18, 1,075 investigations were completed, representing a 2.1% increase from FY17 (1,052). Of those investigations, 1,070 or 99.5% were completed by the service MCIOs and 5 or 0.5% were completed by either US civilian or foreign law enforcement agencies.

The average length of investigations conducted by the NCIS was 107 days and the median was 88 days, compared to an average of 113 days and a median of 84 days in FY17 (representing a 5.3% reduction in average, but a 4.7% increase in the median). This average includes offenses involving complex investigation, scientific analysis of evidence, and/or procurement of expert witnesses, as well as simpler cases involving confessions or limited evidence (e.g., cases involving victim declinations or unknown subjects).

In cases where the most serious offense investigated by NCIS was a penetration offense, the average length of time between the date the investigation was completed and the date legal advice was rendered to the command regarding case disposition was 48 days and the median was 38 days, compared to 53 days on average and a median of 48 days in FY17 (representing a 9.4% decrease on average and 21% decrease in median days).

In cases disposed of at courts-martial, the average length of time between the date the victim made an Unrestricted Report and the date the sentence was imposed or an accused was acquitted at courts-martial was approximately 450 days (a 6.1% increase from FY17's 424 days) and the median was 444 days in FY18 (a 10.7% increase from FY17's 401 days). In cases disposed of at non-judicial punishment, the average length of time between the date the victim made an Unrestricted Report and the date non-judicial punishment was concluded was approximately 178 days representing a 13.6% reduction from FY17.

Victims Declining to Participate in the Military Justice Process

A sharp decrease in victim declinations between FY18 and FY17 was due to clarification and guidance from DOD SAPRO on categorization of dispositions. In FY18, the percentage of victims who declined to participate in the military justice process decreased to 3.3% (26 of 783) compared to 25% (256 of 1,025) in FY17 and 14% (91 of 655) in FY16. As such, in FY18 when commands were unable to take action due to an unknown subject and the victim did not wish to participate in the military justice process, the cases were categorized as "unknown subject" rather than "victim declination." This clarification on disposition categorizations aligned the Services procedures and allowed for standardization across the Department of Defense.

Command Action for Military Subjects Under DoD Legal Authority

Command Action for Military Subjects refers to cases in which an adjudicative outcome was determined in FY18, and therefore does not have a direct correlation to the number of unrestricted reports made in FY18 (many of the cases adjudicated in FY18 were from reports made in previous fiscal years). Of the 783 subjects considered for possible action in FY18, commander action was precluded in 313 cases for reasons such as insufficient evidence, victim declined to participate, or an allegation unfounded by the command. Command action was taken against the remaining 470 (60% of 783) Service members for both sexual assault and non-sexual assault (e.g., failure to obey order or regulation) allegations. Types of command action include court-martial, non-judicial punishment, administrative separation, and other adverse administrative actions.

Sexual Assault Court-Martial Outcomes

Of the 470 cases in which evidence supported commander's action in FY18, 209 (44.5% of 470) cases were substantiated for other misconduct not associated with sexual assault and 145 cases (30.8% of 470) were disposed of through non-judicial punishment, administrative discharge, or other adverse administrative actions. Of the remaining 116

(24.7% of 470) cases not disposed of otherwise, the result was court-martial referral for a sexual assault offense. Of the 116 that were preferred, 70 proceeded to trial on at least one sexual assault offense. Of those, 41 cases were for penetrating offenses, resulting in 27 (65.8%) convictions and 14 (34.14%) acquittals. The remaining 29 cases were for contact offenses, resulting in 27 (93.1%) convictions and 2 (6.8%) acquittals.

- Only include filled positions
- Indicate the number of full-time and part-time personnel
- Provide the exact number of current personnel, whenever possible. If the number is an estimate, please indicate how the estimate was reached and any other relevant information.

FY 2018 Annual Report on Sexual Assault in the Military Executive Summary: United States Marine Corps

Throughout Fiscal Year (FY) 2018, the United States Marine Corps continued its high priority efforts to eliminate sexual assault, provide support for sexual assault victims, and hold offenders appropriately accountable.

The cornerstone of these efforts involved extensive training on a spectrum of key topics including consent, healthy relationships, and inter-personal communication. These topics, as well as others, were presented to Marines worldwide, in diverse formats and venues – all tailored across ranks. In FY18 as well, there were many notable highlights to include the successful implementation of an Operational Planning Team (OPT) on the topic of culture; the leveraging of social media technology; and the development and refinement of training products to improve training effectiveness.

Progress was also made in developing new capacity for outcomes-based prevention efforts. At the Headquarters level, aspects of the Marine and Families Program organization were re-structured leveraging personnel and resources. Collaborative relationships were enhanced through prevention efforts across the Department of Defense, the Department of the Navy, and civilian researchers.

Concurrently, robust victim support processes were maintained, and strengthened where needed, for all active and reserve Marines. Every Marine continues to have access to Victim Advocates, Sexual Assault Response Coordinators, anonymous helplines, Victims' Legal Counsel, personal counselors, expert medical care, forensic exams, chaplains, and related resources. Expedited transfers remain a valuable resource. Marine Corps audit results, for example, confirm the timely responsiveness of Victim Advocates and Sexual Assault Response Coordinators to the needs of victims.

A progressive increase in sexual assault reporting in FY18 by individual Marines is encouraging. Increased reporting, for this highly under-reported crime, is positive. It ensures victims receive supportive services, and commanders are informed and able to initiate service-level support expeditiously. There is more to be done, however, and we are committed to ensuring coordinated and high quality supportive services.

The Marine Corps continues to leverage subject matter experts, research efforts, and training programs to help combat this crime, and prevention remains the highest and most enduring priority. We are committed to reducing incidents of sexual assault by increasing awareness through prevention and education, victim-centered support, and accountability for those who commit sexual crimes. Any Marine, to include those who were sexually assaulted prior to service, will receive support and care.

1. Goal 1—Prevention

1.1 Summarize your efforts to achieve the Prevention goal to “institutionalize evidenced-based, informed prevention practice and policies across the Department so that all Military Service members are treated with dignity and respect, and have the knowledge, tools, and support needed to prevent sexual assaults.” (DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Strategic Plan, 2017-2021 (December 1, 2016), Goal 1 – Prevention, p. 6)

In this strategic summary, include significant updates and/or force-wide changes describing how your Military Service is addressing the following topics. There is no need to repeat prior Annual Report submissions if these processes have remained largely the same as in prior years.

Overall Approach: What force-wide initiatives did your Military Service employ this year to reduce the occurrence of sexual assault? (DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Strategic Plan, 2017-2021 (December 1, 2016), Goal 1 – Prevention, p. 6)

Metrics for Assessing Prevention Effectiveness: What metrics are being used to assess the effectiveness of prevention efforts intended to reduce the prevalence of sexual assault? Include a discussion of the metrics used to assess your sexual assault prevention program, and how they support or supplement DoD’s core prevention metrics (i.e., prevalence and bystander intervention experience). Describe how the results of those metrics are informing prevention planning. (DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Strategic Plan, 2017-2021, (December 1, 2016), Goal 1 – Prevention, Objective 1.1, p. 6)

Institutionalize Prevention: What are your efforts to institutionalize prevention efforts throughout your Service? Where do you see your efforts being most effective and where do you see areas for additional attention? (DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Strategic Plan, 2017-2021, (December 1, 2016), Goal 1 – Prevention, p. 6)

Expanding Prevention Knowledge: What advances have you made this year to expand your Services' knowledge of primary prevention? If applicable, how have you differentiated who receives what content? (DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Strategic Plan (December 1, 2016), Goal 1 – Prevention, Objective 1.2, p. 7)

Evidence-Based Prevention Practices: Explain your Military Service's approach to fostering and ensuring the use of evidence-based prevention practices. What resources or support have been put in place to educate your prevention community on how to interpret research in the prevention field? (DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Strategic Plan (December 1, 2016), Goal 1 – Prevention, Objective 1.2, p. 6)

During Fiscal Year (FY) 2018, the Marine Corps continued comprehensive and coordinated efforts to implement evidence-based prevention strategies. These efforts were guided by concepts outlined in the Department of Defense (DoD) Sexual Assault Prevention and Response (SAPR) Strategic Plan for 2017-2021. Within the Headquarters Marine Corps (HQMC) Marine and Family Programs Division, the SAPR program is committed to promoting military readiness through victim advocacy, the prevention of all sexual assault incidents, and the planning, execution, and oversight of effective SAPR policies.

In early 2018, Headquarters Marine Corps (HQMC) SAPR hosted a Primary Prevention Operational Planning Team (OPT) that included participants from across the Marine Corps, the Department of the Navy (DON), and DoD. The goal of the OPT was to develop coordinated programming and messaging designed to promote healthy behaviors and reduce risk factors ultimately contributing to mission readiness and lethality. The OPT concluded that coordinated efforts in many different areas were necessary to change individual behaviors and improve Service-wide culture. These areas included diverse aspects of Marine Corps doctrine and policy, changes to the organizational structure, education and training, and an emphasis on leadership development. Marine and Family Programs Division is currently assessing human resourcing needs in order to build a prevention capacity enterprise-wide and develop a unified way forward.

HQMC SAPR has initiated development of leadership-specific annual training, overhauling the existing “Take A Stand” bystander-intervention training for Non-Commissioned Officers (NCO). In the process, this revision will reduce its duration from three hours to 90 minutes. This training uses adult learning theory techniques and emphasizes the critical roles and responsibilities of NCOs in confronting and preventing sexual assault. SAPR annual training in FY18 also focused on skill building consistent with primary prevention. Specific areas addressed in “Take A Stand,” for example, include building effective communication skills, inter-personal boundary setting, healthy relationships, and empathy.

HQMC Behavioral Programs established larger and far-reaching efforts to strengthen their capacity for program evaluation. They are generating new metrics and analytical processes for sexual assault prevention programs and training. In addition, HQMC SAPR Research is developing a comprehensive logic model with measures of performance and effectiveness to guide program evaluation through priorities and implementation. Components are currently in final development and testing, with deployment across all SAPR field-training activities scheduled during 2019.

Metrics for Assessing Prevention Effectiveness

Processes for the evaluation of prevention programs will include demonstrable measures of effectiveness and performance. Evaluation of SAPR training across the Marine Corps will include pre- and post-training surveys with questions designed to assess the effectiveness of prevention impacts. Fidelity checks will be used as measures of performance to ensure uniform implementation of training. Knowledge checks will be used to assess whether individuals possess an adequate understanding of sexual assault issues necessary to influence their individual attitudes, intentions, and behavior. These measures of effectiveness will follow the established "Theory of Planned Behavior" framework that focuses on knowledge, attitudes, and beliefs, which in-turn shape behavior and long-term culture change.

Institutionalize Prevention

The Primary Prevention OPT began efforts to institutionalize prevention activities across the Service. Collaborative strategies were designed to develop a prevention capacity across a myriad of problematic behaviors. The OPT initiated follow-on efforts to improve collaboration across related groups within the Marine and Family Programs Division and to promote shared messaging. An implementation plan will operationalize these goals across organizational and programmatic lines in the Fleet, working towards building skills based on shared protective factors across programs.

Expanding Prevention Knowledge

HQMC SAPR is overhauling all SAPR annual training, and creating new training where necessary, to be consistent with the rank-specific roles and responsibilities of individual Marines. Training will also include skill-building in areas related to primary prevention, such as effective communication, inter-personal boundary setting, healthy relationships and interactions, and empathy. HQMC SAPR is also in the process of creating a Marine Corps Primary Prevention Strategy, which is ultimately intended for enterprise-wide implementation.

SAPR Personnel in the Fleet

Marine Forces Pacific (MARFORPAC)

Marines and Sailors assigned to the Third Marine Expeditionary Force (III MEF) at Marine Corps Base (MCB) Hawaii attended the Commander Pacific Fleet's "Change the Culture" program. This unique initiative seeks to attack the root causes in military culture of sexual assault and other destructive behaviors. Key issues included abuse of power, lack of dignity and respect, gender stereotyping, sexism and misogyny, and the denigration of those who are weak or different. The group emphasized that the first step to changing a culture is to admit that it is not where it should be. The program emphasized individual responsibility for one's actions, and the critical influence of mid-level leadership. It also served to underscore the Marine Corps' unchanged commitment to its core values of Honor, Courage, and Commitment. Merely reflecting societal norms is not sufficient, because we hold ourselves to a higher standard.

Additionally, the Change the Culture program is actively recruiting "Delta Agents" from the Fleet to facilitate the training. Marines and Sailors are also handed "commit cards," on the front of which boldly states: "I am part of the solution." Marines and Sailors can monitor and check their behaviors with the behavior checklist found on the back of the commit cards.

Marine Corps Installations Command (MCICOM)

Marine Corps Base Camp Lejeune: During FY18, SAPR staff at MCB Camp Lejeune participated in numerous table displays and safety fairs. They focused on sexual assault prevention through question-and-answer sessions with participants to advance their knowledge on how to stop sexual violence.

Marine Corps Base Camp Butler: Camp Butler hosted "Pure Praxis," a live-acted training program utilizing scenario-based audience engagement to demonstrate individual bystander intervention behaviors. They also hosted "We End Violence" presented by Mr. Jeffrey Bucholtz. Both events promote culture changes necessary to reduce sexual assault.

Marine Corps Base Camp Pendleton: At Camp Pendleton, SAPR staff worked closely with the Sexual Assault Medical Forensic Examiner (SAMFE) to establish a training program for Medical Officers to increase their awareness of recent legislative changes affecting mandatory reporting of sexual assault in the state of California. The training included site visits to Battalion Aid Stations and Regimental Aid Stations (BAS/RAS) across the installation.

Marine Corps Training and Education Command (TECOM)

Marine Corps Recruit Depots: Marine Corps Recruit Depots (MCRD) implemented a "Receiving Brief" to help combat "Locker Room" behavior by recruits that constitutes sexual assault under the DoD definition. Recruits also receive a SAPR training session on training day one. Separate training is provided to Drill Instructors (DI) at "Pick-Up Briefs," and cover the topic of reporting options for recruits. Pick-up briefs are training for DIs preparing to lead a new group of recruits in their training cycle. Related training about sexual assault reporting options for recruits is included in the curriculum for students at Drill Instructor School. SAPR training and advocacy concepts are also presented to spouses at the District Spouses Orientation Course (DSOC).

1.2 Briefly describe your leadership-approved future plans to reduce the occurrence of sexual assault in your Military Service.

Future plans for prevention efforts focus on collaborating across organizational and program boundaries, capitalizing on shared risk and protective factors, and reinforcing the prevention messages of individual programs. HQMC SAPR is creating SAPR Annual Training for Staff Non-Commissioned Officers, Company Grade Officers, and Field Grade Officers. The goal is to avoid generic annual training and instead focus on building skills required for primary prevention. Additionally, HQMC SAPR is leading a working group of stakeholders from all HQMC Behavioral Programs, HQMC Semper Fit program, and HQMC Equal Opportunity and Diversity Management to create a Marine Corps Primary Prevention Strategy. The goal of this strategy is to build an enterprise-wide primary prevention capacity.

Sexual Assault Response Coordinator (SARC) Initiative Committee. Twice per year, the Marine Corps SAPR Program hosts SARC Initiative Committee (SIC) meetings intended to further the SAPR Program through collaboration with senior SARCs in the Fleet. A meeting planned in February 2019 will focus on ways to facilitate the training of Sexual Assault and Response Victim Advocates (SAPR VAs).

Sexual Assault Awareness and Prevention Month (SAAPM). In observance of SAAPM in April 2019, HQMC SAPR will release a SAAPM Toolkit to provide SAPR personnel in the Fleet with information on conducting special events and initiatives in their local areas.

Local Collaboration Efforts

MCB Camp Lejeune plans to increase the number of events that are held during SAAPM. They will also offer a three-part prevention course to personnel at the Marine Corps Installation East (MCIEAST) Brig, and potentially to other units in the future.

Marine Corps Installations Pacific (MCIPAC) will focus on bringing guest speakers and subject matter experts to their Area of Responsibility (AOR). These training events have a greater learning impact on Service members than traditional presentations and briefs. Service members will have the opportunity to engage with the guest speakers, ask questions, and be heard in order to give them a better understanding of concepts in sexual assault prevention. Such training reaches through all ranks and has an enduring impact on leadership.

Marine Corps Recruiting Command (MCRC) continues to provide support at all levels of the training and accession pipeline – including the Delayed Entry Program, Entry-Level training, “Step-Up” training, “Take A Stand” training, and the HQMC SAPR annual training requirement. Each SARC is encouraged to develop supplemental prevention training aids to assist in the professional development of individual Marines and promote understanding of their role in reducing sexual assault in the military.

2. Goal 2—Victim Assistance & Advocacy

2.1 Summarize your efforts to achieve the Victim Assistance & Advocacy goal to “deliver consistent and effective advocacy and care for all military Service members or their adult dependents, such that it empowers them to report assaults, promotes recovery, facilitates dignified and respectful treatment, and restores military readiness.” (DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Strategic Plan, 2017-2021 (December 1, 2016), Goal 2 – Victim Assistance & Advocacy, p. 7)

In this strategic summary, include significant updates and/or force-wide changes describing how your Military Service is addressing the following topics. There is no need to repeat prior Annual Report submissions if these processes have remained largely the same as in prior years.

Overall Approach: What force-wide initiatives did your Military Service employ this year to improve response to sexual assault? Were any victim assistance and advocacy initiatives employed with targeted subgroups or specific locations? (DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Strategic Plan, 2017-2021 (December 1, 2016))

Metrics for Assessing Victim Assistance and Advocacy: What metrics or assessment processes are being used to address the effectiveness of victim assistance and advocacy efforts intended to deliver consistent care for all Service members and/or their adult dependents? What is your status in developing indicators for measuring SARCs' and SAPR VAs' "quality response" in support of DoD Sexual Assault Advocate Certification Program? (DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Strategic Plan "Task List," (December 1, 2016), Goal 2 – Victim Assistance and Advocacy, Objective 2.1, Task #7, p. 3)

SARC and SAPR VA Certification and Renewal: What criteria is your Military Service using to weigh all of the information (records and adverse actions in personnel files and all other information) received to determine eligibility to perform SARC and SAPR VA duties? Are there any identified challenges that SARCs and SAPR VAs have in obtaining continuing education advanced training? How are you addressing these challenges? (DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Strategic Plan, 2017-2021 (December 1, 2016), Goal 2 – Victim Assistance & Advocacy, Objective 2.1, p. 8 / DoDI 6495.03, "Defense Sexual Assault Advocate Certification Program (D-SAACP)," (September 10, 2015), Encl 3, para 2c & para 3)

SARCs and SAPR VA Suspension, Revocation, and Reinstatement: Have you made any updates to your SARC and SAPR VA suspension, revocation, and reinstatement procedures over the last year? How many SARCs and SAPR VAs in your Military Service received a suspension? A revocation? A reinstatement? (Identify how many SARCs and SAPR VAs for each category) (DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Strategic Plan, 2017-2021 (December 1, 2016), Goal 2 – Victim Assistance & Advocacy, Objective 2.1, p. 8 / DoDI 6495.03, "Defense Sexual Assault Advocate Certification Program (D-SAACP)," (September 10, 2015), Encl 3, para 3)

Initiatives to Improve Response to and Reporting by Male Sexual Assault Victims: What initiatives is your Military Service using to improve its response to and increase reporting by male sexual assault victims? (DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Strategic Plan "Task List," (December 1, 2016), Goal 2 – Victim Assistance & Advocacy, Objective 2.3, Task #1, p. 4)

Military Protective Orders: How many Military Protective Orders were issued as a result of an Unrestricted Report (e.g., number issued, number violated)? What steps (if any) were taken in the last year to improve protections? (DoDI 6495.02, "Sexual Assault Prevention and Response (SAPR) Program Procedures," (July 7, 2015), Encl 5, para 7)

Medical and Mental Health Support: How many Service members who reported a sexual assault (if any) had their medical care hindered due to a lack of Sexual Assault Forensic Examination (SAFE) kits, timely access to appropriate laboratory testing resources, mental health counseling, or other resources? How did your Military Service handle any challenges in these areas? (NDAA for FY 2006, section 596)

(Army, Air Force, and NGB) National Guard and Reserve Access to SARCs and SAPR VAs: What is being done within your Military Service to promote and improve timely access to SARCs and SAPR VAs by members of the National Guard and Reserves? What are your recurring challenges in this area (if any) and how are you accommodating those challenges? (DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Strategic Plan “Task List,” (December 1, 2016), Goal 2 – Victim Assistance and Advocacy, Objective 2.1, Task #5, p. 3)

Coordination with Non-DoD Resources: What efforts are being made to coordinate interoperability with non-DoD victim response organizations (e.g., Veterans Affairs and rape crisis centers)? Include how your Military Service is communicating the availability of these resources (and benefits) to your Service members? (DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Strategic Plan “Task List,” (December 1, 2016), Goal 2 – Victim Assistance and Advocacy, Objective 2.1, Tasks #1 & #10, p. 3)

In FY 2018, the Marine Corps continued its efforts to improve victim services. The Service sought to increase sexual assault reporting by increasing the necessary confidence and trust of victims in available support services. The Marine Corps Sexual Assault Prevention and Response SAPR Program uses targeted communication to reach out to subgroups of Marines. For example, since 2015, the SAPR Program has worked to improve prevention and response efforts in order to make them more appropriate and applicable for males. Specific efforts have included improved messaging (i.e., not referring to males as “victims”), addressing barriers to male reporting, and discussing facts about sexual assault.

The Navy Bureau of Medicine and Surgery (BUMED) trained an additional 113 Sexual Assault Forensic Examiners (SAMFE) utilizing the inter-Service training course at Joint Base Fort Sam Houston. They will provide gender-sensitive medical-forensic care both in operational environments and Medical Treatment Facilities (MTF). In addition, new Memoranda of Agreement (MOA) were implemented with civilian facilities for Sexual Assault Forensic Exams (SAFE), while others were renewed to ensure continuity of care and community partnership. Further, all military MTFs met or exceeded standards for the number of available SAPR Victim Advocates (VA). The medical facilities also conducted annual SAPR General Military Training (GMT), conducted local drills on sexual assault victim care, and provided or facilitated SAFE exams. Remote video “tele-training” was a new initiative used to enhance SAMFE refresher and skill-sustainment training. The capability was also used in virtually-run SAFE exam drills, allowing for real-time MTF training and process improvement.

HQMC SAPR hosted the 2018 Sexual Assault Response Coordinator (SARC) Annual Training. Agenda topics included the Naval Criminal Investigative Service (NCIS) “CATCH” initiative. This initiative provides a potential mechanism for victims making a Restricted Report to later support prosecutions when the same offender is identified in a subsequent incident. A key stakeholder panel included representatives from (BUMED), Victims Legal Counsels (VLC), and NCIS. Other agenda topics included suicide prevention, Expedited Transfers, and emotional intelligence as they relate to SARCs and SAPR VAs.

“Take A Stand” Bystander Intervention Training for NCOs was revised to include sexual assault prevention and response roles and responsibilities for all NCOs and skill building consistent with primary prevention.

“Atlantic: A Graphic Novel on Consent” was tested on an interim basis with Marines, SAPR personnel, Equal Opportunity (EO) program personnel, and Marines in the Single Marine Program. The graphic novel format is tailored for young Marines and Sailors. It explores themes about healthy relationships and interactions, the concept of consent, sexual assault, bystander intervention, and the psychological impacts on victims of sexual assault. The training tool is planned for wide implementation in 2019.

“Pre-Planned Response Cards: A Tool for Supervisors” was tested on an interim basis with Marines, SAPR personnel, and EO program personnel. These cards use short scenarios to highlight the roles and responsibilities of supervisors in the chain-of-command in managing sexual assault issues and command climate challenges in the workplace. They also summarize key aspects of policy and available resources. This training tool for supervisors is planned for implementation in 2019.

Metrics for Assessing Victim Assistance and Advocacy

SARCs and regional SAFE Medical Program Managers routinely discuss any advocacy-related issues surrounding a victim’s medical treatment. Collaboration exists between Navy Medicine Region commands and SARCs to enhance education for SAPR VAs. BUMED and Commander, Navy Installations Command (CNIC) have established the same working relationship in order to best support the advocates in the field who interact with SAMFEs at the MTFs.

HQMC SAPR performs regular audit calls to 24/7 Sexual Assault Support Lines. The audit calls check whether the call was answered or returned in a timely manner and whether the responder was a credentialed SAPR VA. They are also used to verify basic issues regarding reporting options.

HQMC SAPR performs regular checks of installation websites to ensure that SAPR information is correct and visible per policy.

Marine Corps policy requires credentialed SAPR personnel to obtain 16 hours each year of approved continuing education for the Department of Defense Sexual Assault Advocacy Certification Program (D-SAACP), to include one hour of ethics training.

SARC and SAPR VA Certification and Renewal

Initial certification and continuing education courses are offered on installations across the Marine Corps in order to provide discussion-based classes for SARCs and SAPR VAs to advance their skills in providing support services. Local programs host quarterly continuing education training events for SAPR VAs. This allows SAPR VAs to be trained on a routine basis about changing policies, sexual assault data and trends, and best practices for serving victims of sexual assault.

When Service members check-in to a new command, their Official Military Personal File (OMPF) is reviewed in Field Code 91 for the Sex Offense Accountability Record (SOAR)/Naval Personnel Form 1070/887. No Service member is allowed to take part in the SAPR program if they have a past history of alleged sexual violence, alcohol related incidents, or similar misconduct. If a Service member is initially approved by the command, but later commits an offense disqualifying them from their assigned position in the SAPR program, that individual is immediately removed and the SARC will proceed with having their certification revoked.

SARC and SAPR VA Suspension, Revocation, and Reinstatement

In FY18, four SAPR VAs had their credentials revoked. Eight others received a suspension of their credentials, one of whom was later reinstated.

Initiatives to Improve Response to and Reporting by Male Sexual Assault Victims

As of FY18, a majority of communications and training implemented by HQMC SAPR is written with gender-inclusive language, to include non-gendered pronouns. This allows the audience to see themselves in the material instead of the material telling them what to see.

Training and communications also refrain from using the word “victim” unless it is part of a legal definition. HQMC SAPR and the Department of Defense Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Office (DoD-SAPRO) have found that males do not typically identify as victims. Removing such language from training products attempts to reduce the stigma that often prevents male Marines from coming forward to report a sexual assault.

Military Protective Orders (MPOs)

The Marine Corps issued 239 MPOs in FY18, four of which (1.7%) were violated. In each of the four, the subject was the violating party.

Medical and Mental Health Support

BUMED has not received any reports or concerns about medical care being hindered by a shortage of exam kits or other resources. All MTFs with SAFE exam capabilities are stocked with a sufficient number of kits to perform victim or alleged-offender exams. The number of SAFE kits available throughout Navy Medicine and Operational Areas of Responsibility (AORs) are reported and tracked monthly. Civilian facilities operating under MOAs with military facilities have the option of using the Department of Defense (DoD) SAFE kit, which the military facility will provide. Civilian facilities may also use their own state-approved forensic exam kits as well. In summary, no Service member who filed a report of sexual assault with the Marine Corps in FY18 was affected by a lack of SAFE exam kits or related supplies.

In addition, no issues have been reported regarding laboratory processing of SAFE kits. All kits go to the United States Army Criminal Investigative Laboratory (USACIL), and all forensic toxicology samples are sent to the Armed Forces Medical Examiner (AFME) system. All MTF procedures and MOAs with civilian facilities include protocols for handling forensic exam kits and toxicology samples.

National Guard and Reserve Access to SARCs and SAPR VAs

SARCs at the Marine Corps Reserve (MARFORRES) Headquarters in New Orleans, Louisiana, work in coordination with installation-level SAPR programs across the Marine Corps. When a local installation SARC or SAPR VA is needed to provide in-person advocacy services to a member of the Reserve Component, MARFORRES reaches out to the local SARC, if available, to engage their support. The MARFORRES Command SARC offers reserve-specific information to ensure that any support or guidance provided meets the unique needs of reserve members. These local SARCs brief cases at their local monthly Case Management Groups (CMGs) when they are providing direct services in coordination with the MARFORRES Command SARC. When needed or requested, the MARFORRES Command SARC or Civilian Victim Advocate travels to the victim's location. Timely access to SAPR staff is ensured by effectively promoting the MARFORRES 24/7 Support Line and by training victim advocates and leadership to contact their SARC for all reports of sexual assault involving MARFORRES Marines and Sailors. Each SARC has a dedicated cell phone which they are required to carry at all times to ensure accessibility to SAPR VAs and commanders. Challenges such as providing services from a distance or coordinating reporting responsibilities have been addressed through communication between the involved SARCs and commands.

Coordination with Non-DoD Resources

HQMC SAPR has an extensive communications strategy that includes print media, social media, and face-to-face engagements. Every piece of communication released from HQMC SAPR explains options for supportive services available to viewers. Always included are additional mechanisms for accessing support that are not associated with the local base command or the individual's direct chain-of-command, such as the Department of Defense Safe Helpline and local 24/7 Sexual Assault Support Lines.

Partnerships and civilian resources are communicated via the SARC or another SAPR point of contact at command indoctrination, to inform newly reporting personnel of resources available to them in the surrounding area of their duty station.

Regional SAMFE training officers allow for counterparts from civilian facilities with MOAs to participate in refresher training at MTFs to increase collaboration between the sites for victim care.

Some civilian medical facilities with MOAs have DoD Safe Helpline information posted at their location to better serve military victims who receive care at the civilian facility. Partnerships between some clinics and civilian victim advocacy groups are being formed to increase awareness and support. In addition, male and female sexual assault victim support groups are conducted at the Lovell Federal Health Care Center in Great Lakes, Illinois to maximize support for all victims.

SAPR Personnel in the Fleet

Marine Forces Reserves (MARFORRES)

MARFORRES SAPR is an active part of the local Sexual Assault Response Team (SART) in New Orleans. Marine Corps SARCs and Civilian Victim Advocates have provided training to educate team members on issues specific to Service members, and the Reserve Component in particular. They have also collaborated with local first responders to improve victim care in the New Orleans area.

MARFORRES SAPR developed a database of resources near each reserve site, and uniformed SAPR VAs are required to directly contact local agencies such as rape crisis centers, college-based sexual assault programs, domestic violence shelters, and others. The SAPR VAs are also encouraged, when possible, to attend local meetings held by violence prevention organizations, and to invite those prevention specialists to engage with reserve sites to provide prevention and response information that is relevant to their area.

Marine Forces South (MARFORSOUTH)

MARFORSOUTH SAPR has created business cards for Service members that list resources available in Southern Florida. In addition, those resources are reviewed at all major training and briefing sessions.

Marine Corps Installation Command (MCICOM)

Marine Corps Base (MCB) Camp Lejeune provided a community resource list to local commanders and SAPR VAs. This list includes information on services provided by the Department of Veterans Affairs, local veterans centers, and civilian rape crisis centers in the area.

At MCB Camp Pendleton, Marine Corps SARCs provide quarterly training at the local civilian rape crisis center to provide knowledge about the military SAPR program to community victim advocates. This helps to ensure their awareness of support resources available to military victims who seek care in town.

At Marine Corps Air Station (MCAS) New River, local civilian agencies that support victims of sexual assault are active participants in the installation's Sexual Assault Response Team (SART), and their contact information is provided in local resource lists. These lists are posted online in digital form and in common or shared spaces across the installation. They are also provided to SAPR VAs for display in their workspaces. New Commanding Officers are briefed on these resources and are given details about specific services that local agencies provide.

At MCAS Miramar, Marine Corps SARC's serve as lead members of the civilian SART of San Diego County, and have been primary points of contact for all San Diego county responders, including the San Diego Police Department, the District Attorney for San Diego, local university law enforcement agencies, the Native American Health Counsel, and others. This established a relationship ensures critical lines of communication and provides top-level response and interoperability.

Training and Education Command (TECOM)

At Marine Corps Recruit Depot (MCRD) Parris Island, the installation SARC is a member of the civilian 14th Judicial District SART, which is chaired by the local civilian rape crisis center program manager. It includes representatives from civilian law enforcement, civilian prosecutors, community hospitals, and others. This collaborative relationship with the community helps to improve overall victim support and also to clarify overlapping responsibilities and concerns when dealing with civilian jurisdictions and local community Sexual Assault Nurse Examiners.

The SARC at MCRD Parris Island is also part of the South Carolina Human Trafficking Task Force, which allows for the sharing of information about prevention efforts, case trends, and available resources. Information is then shared during briefings for new MCRD personnel and at other staff meetings, networking discussions, and victim advocate training. This special community relationship has proven to be beneficial, as the surrounding region has some features that human traffickers often seek, and active-duty personnel from the recruit depot travel regularly through many airports.

2.2 Briefly describe your leadership-approved future plans to deliver consistent and effective advocacy and care for all Service members or their adult dependents.

The Marine Corps SAPR Program seeks to support individuals who have experienced sexual assault from the time a report is filed for as long as services are needed or desired. SARC's, SAPR VAs, medical professionals, and counselors continue their support for victims without regard to the outcomes of separate criminal investigations or court-martial prosecutions.

The Marine Corps constantly develops and improves its advocacy and victim services, with the goal of delivering consistent and effective support, response, and reporting options. To achieve these goals, the Marine Corps employs comprehensive training intended to remove barriers to reporting and make Marines aware of available services. The message in these training packages is infused with the core values of Honor, Courage, and Commitment.

The 40-hour initial training curriculum for SAPR VAs was overhauled in FY18, with the implementation of new training planned in FY19. The new training will provide more up-to-date SAPR information and policy background, and its format will better utilize principles of adult learning theory.

HQMC SAPR will host the 2019 SARC Annual Training, ensuring that topics and briefs are specifically tailored to Marine Corps settings.

Initial training is being overhauled for Command, Installation, and Reserve Force SARCs. The new training will incorporate up-to-date information and policy requirements, and will be more in-line with adult learning theory. The trainings will be structured to create a foundation for all SARCs, along with specialized training pertaining to the different geographic areas.

MARFORRES continues to deliver consistent and effective supportive services. The training of uniformed SAPR VAs remains a focus, as they are the local face of the MARFORRES program and often have limited support at dispersed reserve sites. Budget needs are identified and provided to meet the costs of training new victim advocates who travel from locations across the country. SAPR program staff require funds for travel when necessary for victim support and for assisting commanders during inspections and site assists. Staff and advocates provide program support during "Family Days," "Yellow Ribbon Events," commander's conferences, inspector-instructor conferences, and many other events. The SARCs have open lines of communication with leadership despite the geographical dispersion of units. They have frequent interaction with their Chiefs of Staff and provide their Commanding Generals with updated information about their respective SAPR programs. Reporting options are defined, advertised, and taught at every opportunity. SAPR staff also continue to receive ongoing training to build their skills and knowledge base. In many places, they attend civilian community SART meetings to ensure that local responders are aware of services provided by the Marine Corps SAPR Program and to maintain current knowledge of local resources.

MARFORRES developed a data base of resources near each reserve site, and Uniformed SAPR VAs are directed to make contact with local agencies such as rape crisis centers, college-based sexual assault programs, domestic violence shelters, and others. The SAPR VAs are encouraged to attend local meetings held by the violence prevention organizations in their area when possible. They can invite those prevention specialists to engage with the reserve sites to provide prevention and response information relevant to their local area.

Navy Medicine continues to deliver world-class care for sexual assault victims. All trained Sexual Assault Medical Forensic Examiners (SAMFEs) meet requirements for skill sustainment, and all new examiners attend the 80-hour inter-Service SAMFE training course. Monthly reports provide Navy Medicine commands with a complete assessment of their SAPR climate and continue to be tracked. The Medical Inspector General's "SAPR/SAFE Exam" check list will be updated to reflect current practices and recent guidance in an effort to ensure that medical commands are performing with SAPR expertise and compassion.

Navy Medicine is also developing a manpower “Additional Qualification Designator” (AQD) to identify individuals trained as SAMFEs and to indicate SAMFE course completion in military manpower management systems. This new designator will aid in identifying examiners for operational tours aboard ships or as individual augmentees.

3. Goal 3—Investigation

3.1 Summarize your efforts for achieving the Investigation goal to “sustain a high level of competence in the investigation of adult sexual assault using investigative resources to yield timely results.” (DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Strategic Plan, 2017-2021 (December 1, 2016), Goal 3 – Investigation, p. 9)

In this strategic summary, include significant updates and/or force-wide changes describing how your Military Service is addressing the following topics. There is no need to repeat prior Annual Report submissions if these processes have remained largely the same as in prior years.

Overall Approach: What force-wide initiatives did your Military Service employ this year to improve investigation of sexual assault cases? What enhancements have been made to your Military Services’ Special Victim Investigation and Prosecution Capability for Military Criminal Investigative Organizations? (DoDI 5509.19, “Establishment of Special Victim Investigation and Prosecution (SVIP) Capability within the Military Criminal Investigative Organizations (MCIOs)”)

Metrics for Assessing Investigation Effectiveness: What metrics are being used to assess the effectiveness of investigation efforts intended to sustain a high level of competence in the investigation of adult sexual assault? (DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Strategic Plan, 2017-2021 (December 1, 2016), Goal 3 – Investigation, p. 9)

MCIO, Law Enforcement, and Other First Responder Training: What updates have been made to the training of your Military Service MCIO and other DoD law enforcement activity (LEA) resources assigned to conduct an investigation of adult sexual assault? Please include an update on training you are providing to law enforcement who are the first to respond to an adult sexual assault scene where the MCIO won't be able to respond for days. Specifically, what training does law enforcement receive for speaking with a sexual assault victim and preserving evidence (on the victim and on the physical scene) in remote or austere environments (e.g., in a submarine that won't surface for a week because of mission security requirements)? Additionally, describe any updates to training and guidance for all first responders to a sexual assault allegation, ensuring the preservation of evidence and witness testimony. (DoDI 6495.02, “Sexual Assault Prevention and Response (SAPR) Program Procedures,” (May 24, 2017), Encl 10, para 4p and 7e / DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Strategic Plan “Task List,” (December 1, 2016), Goal 3 – Investigation, Objective 3.1, Task #1, p. 4 / DoDI 5505.18, “Investigation of Adult Sexual Assault in the Department of Defense,” (March, 22 2017), para 3.3, p. 7)

Evidence Processing Challenges: Have you had any challenges with evidence being processed at the Defense Forensic Science Center (e.g., turnaround time for processing of Sexual Assault Forensic Examination (SAFE) kits and other evidence) and how did you address these challenges? (Joint Chiefs of Staff Strategic Direction to the Joint Force on SAPR (May 7, 2012), p. 11)

Collaboration and Interoperability with Civilian Law Enforcement: What continuing efforts are being made to increase collaboration and improve interoperability with civilian law enforcement to include sharing information on Civilian and Military Protective Orders and assuring receipt of civilian case dispositions? (DoDI 6495.02, "Sexual Assault Prevention and Response (SAPR) Program Procedures," (July 7, 2015), Encl 4, para 3g)

Overall Approach

Marine Corps Bulletin (MCBul) 5800 is the primary Marine Corps source for guidance related to the integration of trial counsel and investigators. This document requires Regional Trial Counsel to consult with the Naval Criminal Investigative Service (NCIS) on a monthly basis to assess the progress of investigations and prosecution of ongoing sexual assault cases. The Marine Corps Bulletin further requires the Marine Corps to maintain a complex trial team within each Legal Services Support Section (LSSS). Complex trial teams are equipped with trial counsel who are specifically trained to handle Special Victim Investigation and Prosecution (SVIP) cases involving special victims. An investigator from the Criminal Investigation Division (CID) is embedded within each complex trial team to coordinate with NCIS, or civilian authorities, and to provide trial counsel with an organic investigation capability. NCIS investigators will notify the nearest complex trial team within 24 hours of determining an allegation qualifies as an SVIP case.

The Marine Corps has also focused on identifying training opportunities that will increase its trial counsel's ability to understand the investigation process in SVIP cases and work with NCIS. The Marine Corps works with NCIS to ensure trial counsel attend the Advanced Adult Sexual Assault Investigator Training Program (AASAITP) course to better understand how NCIS operates. Additionally, the Marine Corps hosted nine training events across the globe to instruct investigators, judge advocates, and paralegals on changes to military justice in the Military Justice Act of 2016 (MJA 16). These training events included descriptions of new investigative tools, such as military court orders for electronic communication that will become available on January 1, 2019. Using these new investigative tools will require increased cooperation between investigators and trial counsel. Training investigators and trial counsel together permits them to develop a common understanding of how investigative tools should be used and encourages the necessary coordination.

NCIS continues to pursue the goal of having all agents and investigators, regardless of discipline, trained in the Advanced Adult Sexual Assault Investigations Training Program (AASAITP) course to ensure there are always trained personnel available to respond to all allegations of sexual assault. Beginning in FY 2019, new agents will receive this training while attending the NCIS Special Agent Basic Training Program (SABTP). The change will allow new agents, upon successful completion of their Field Training Agent period, to immediately possess the skills necessary to interview victims of sexual assault. The change will also open more opportunities for current field agents, regardless of discipline, to attend the separate AASAITP training program.

Naval Criminal Investigative Service Headquarters (NCISHQ) continued during FY17 and FY18 to review and evaluate all initiated reports for compliance with investigative standards in cases of sex-related offenses, domestic violence, and child physical abuse offenses. The initial focus of these reviews was to ensure that initial time sensitive steps in the investigative process were completed in a timely manner and that proper SVIP case notifications were made. The data is compiled and provided to senior field office leaders in each NCIS field office, highlighting the office's performance through metrics that illustrate how it is accomplishing or falling short with requirements levied by the Department of Defense (DoD).

The first line supervisor on each investigation conducts a case review within 30 days of case initiation and every 60 days thereafter during the pendency of the investigation. The second line supervisor is responsible for reviewing all cases at least once every six months. These reviews are submitted and maintained at NCISHQ. The Executive Assistant Directors for Atlantic Operations and Pacific Operations conduct reviews of their respective field offices on an annual basis. The NCIS Inspector General conducts case inspections every four years. In addition, NCISHQ conducts a 10% review of all active sexual assault cases on a monthly basis.

Throughout FY18, NCIS engaged with military and community counterparts to improve responses to sexual assault reports. Collaboration with SVIP team members has been shown to be crucial in taking a holistic approach to sexual assault investigations and victim participation. NCIS investigative timelines are calculated from initial notification until the date when all logical investigative leads have been completed and the case has been presented to the command for administrative or judicial action. Prior to FY12, investigative timelines were as long as 300 days in some locations. In contrast, the current average timeline for investigations is 117 days for Marine Corps cases.

Metrics for Assessing Investigation Effectiveness

During FY18, NCISHQ conducted a 100% review of all initiated reports for investigations of sex-related offenses, domestic violence offenses, and child physical abuse offenses. Each month, NCISHQ compiles information and produces a strategic monthly Family & Sexual Violence (F&SV) Newsletter, which is provided to the Executive Assistant Directors for Pacific Operations and Atlantic Operations, and also to senior field office leadership, highlighting performance through metrics that illustrate how each office is accomplishing or falling short of requirements levied by DoD. The newsletter identifies office trends, highlights "Best Practices” for completing F&SV requirements, and includes a reconciliation of each office’s data discrepancies in the Defense Sexual Assault Incident Database (DSAID).

In addition, a minimum of 10% of all active cases in these categories received a comprehensive program review on a monthly basis. These efforts have allowed potential issues with cases to be identified and resolved at the earliest possible opportunity.

The first line supervisor on each investigation conducts a case review within 30 days of case initiation and, at a minimum, every 60 days during the pendency of the investigation. The second line supervisor is responsible for reviewing all cases at least once every six months. These reviews are submitted and maintained at NCISHQ. The Executive Assistant Directors for Atlantic Operations and Pacific Operations conduct reviews of their respective field offices on an annual basis. The NCIS Inspector General conducts case inspections every four years. In addition, NCISHQ conducts a 10% review of all active sexual assault cases on a monthly basis.

Military Criminal Investigative Organizations (MCIOs), Law Enforcement, and Other First Responder Training

NCIS has 163 dedicated personnel, 129 funded by the Department of the Navy (DON), working sexual assault investigations. Sixty percent of all general crime investigations initiated are Family & Sexual Violence cases. Since August 2012, 778 NCIS personnel, both agents and non-agents, have attended the AASAITP training program or equivalent advanced training. At the end of FY18, 61% of NCIS agents (70% in general crimes and fraud billets) have attended AASAITP. NCIS continued working to satisfy training goals by conducting six AASAITP courses in FY18. Training was also provided to four Marine Corps trial counsel in FY18.

The NCIS Advanced Family Sexual Violence Training Program (AFSVTP) meets advanced training standards, specified in DoD Instruction (DODI) 5505.19, pertaining to the investigation of child crimes and domestic or intimate partner violence. Completion of this course is mandatory for all agents and investigators assigned to an SVIP billet. To date, 209 personnel, both agents and non-agents, have satisfied this training requirement. The two-week course was offered twice in FY18. Training was also provided to one Marine Corps trial counsel in FY18.

Evidence Processing Challenges

Naval Criminal Investigative Service is the primary law enforcement body that investigates sexual assault allegations involving Marine Corps personnel. From its own Service-level perspective, Marine Corps has not encountered any apparent problems with evidence processing, such as excessive turnaround times, that could have impacted our ability to successfully process and prosecute cases.

Collaboration and Interoperability with Civilian Law Enforcement

During FY18, the Marine Corps implemented policies to improve interoperability with civilian law enforcement. The Marine Corps developed and released MCBul 5810 to clarify the role of Marine Corps units and law enforcement in criminal justice information reporting. The Bulletin requires a coordinated effort from Marine Corps units, Staff Judge Advocates (SJAs), LSSSs, and law enforcement agencies to identify, report, and enforce legal prohibitions on Service member firearm and ammunition possession throughout the investigation and disposition process. The Marine Corps places a priority on ensuring the final disposition of every allegation of criminal misconduct is accurately reflected in the National Instant Criminal Background Check System (NICS).

Marine Corps policy requires that all unit-issued Military Protective Orders be reported to military law enforcement for entry into a database operated at the National Crime Information Center (NCIC). Entering an MPO into the national database makes it accessible to civilian law enforcement and makes it possible for them to notify the Marine Corps if a Service member violates the protective order. NCIS is the primary law enforcement body that investigates sexual assault allegations involving Marine Corps personnel. They require field offices to generate a separate report for the purpose of entering every MPO issued during their criminal investigations into the same NCIC national database.

NCIS field offices have the responsibility to maintain collaborative relationships with other law enforcement agencies within their area of responsibility. When investigations of sexual assault also fall within the jurisdiction of a local civilian law enforcement agency, NCIS will initiate a joint investigation or assist the civilian agency with investigative leads, as deemed appropriate. During the course of the investigation, NCIS remains engaged with local law enforcement counterparts, and they report on the progress of investigations to the military command. This enables continued visibility and awareness in the event that civilian authorities defer prosecution to the military or when civilian prosecutors decline the case and NCIS decides to pursue additional investigative leads.

NCIS utilizes the Law Enforcement Information Exchange-DoD Data Exchange (LinX/D-DEX) system, which is a federal cooperative data sharing mechanism. The system partners with the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) National Data Exchange (N-DEX), the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) Immigration and Customs Enforcement Pattern Analysis and Information Collection System (ICEPIC), along with pawn databases. Information in the LinX/D-DEX system is updated nightly, and NCIS has used it successfully to locate investigations involving Sailors, Marines, and DON civilians that had not previously been reported to them.

Through agreement with the FBI, NCIS enters all MPOs issued during their criminal investigations into the National Crime Information Center (NCIC) database. This allows local law enforcement agencies access to MPO information during potential contact with a subject, and provides a point of contact for informing NCIS and the military command when a violation is discovered.

At the initiation of each criminal investigation, NCIS queries the NCIC database and other databases to obtain background information on the subject of the investigation. Civilian protective orders are included in these queries and are enforceable by NCIS and the military command. Any violations of civilian protective orders found during an NCIS investigation are reported to the local law enforcement agency and to the command for action.

NCIS employs the “NCIS Tips” Program, a mobile and web-based application that can be used on any smart device or via the NCIS public website. The program allows individuals to submit a tip and to dialog with an agent in real time. They may remain anonymous if desired. NCIS must report a disposition to each tip submitted within ten days. Dispositions can include a new investigation being initiated; information being added to a current investigation; a tip being referred to a law enforcement or military partner; or the tip being closed out for non-criminal matters. The NCIS Tips Program is briefed with every NCIS mission brief and during all sexual assault and family violence briefings.

3.2 Briefly describe your leadership-approved future plans to sustain a high level of competence in the investigation of adult sexual assault.

For FY19, NCIS has added elements of the AASAITP advanced training curriculum to their Special Agent Basic Training for new NCIS agents. Specific aspects include policy background, alcohol and drug facilitated sexual assault, and cognitive interviewing techniques. Sexual assault investigations are a core part of the NCIS mission, and adding this training allows new agents to deploy to the field with more advanced preparation for sexual assault investigations. Further, it will allow NCIS to continue training all agents, regardless of discipline, at the AASAITP advanced training program. NCIS has five AASAITP classes scheduled during FY19.

The Marine Corps will continue to send counsel to the AASAITP advanced training program to familiarize Marine Corps prosecutors with NCIS investigative techniques and procedures. The Marine Corps will also continue to develop policies that will allow investigative tools provided in the MJA 16 legislation to be used most effectively. Finally, the Marine Corps will continue to seek the integration of criminal investigators into SVIP-focused complex trial teams.

During FY19, the “Catch a Serial Offender” (CATCH) Program will begin operation. This new system will allow a sexual assault victim, who files a restricted report, to anonymously provide information about their assault and alleged assailant, without jeopardizing the restricted nature of their report. The system also provides a mechanism for later inviting the victim to step forward if the same assailant is identified in a subsequent additional assault. In this way, prior victims may have the opportunity to add their testimony in later prosecutions of repeat or serial offenders. From the outset, NCIS has served as the lead agency in developing and operating the new CATCH system and its special database. The system will be shared by all Military Criminal Investigative Organizations (MCIOs).

NCISHQ will continue to review 100% of all new sexual assault reports of investigations for compliance with requirements levied by DoD. Senior field office leaders will continue to receive trend analysis reports created by NCISHQ, highlighting their office's performance, and allowing them to adjust course and take corrective action as needed.

4. Goal 4—Accountability

4.1 Summarize your efforts to achieve the Accountability goal to “maintain a high competence in holding alleged offenders appropriately accountable.” (DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Strategic Plan, 2017-2021 (December 1, 2016), Goal 4 – Accountability, p. 9)

In this strategic summary, include significant updates and/or force-wide changes describing how your Military Service is addressing the following topics. There is no need to repeat prior Annual Report submissions if these processes have remained largely the same as in prior years.

Overall Approach: What force-wide initiatives did your Military Service employ this year to improve legal support to Service members and adult family members who reported a sexual assault? What enhancements have been made to the SAPR training provided to those who are affiliated with the Special Victim Investigation and Prosecution Capability program (paralegals, trial counsel, and victim-witness assistance personnel) for responding to allegations of sexual assault? (DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Strategic Plan “Task List,” (December 1, 2016), Goal 4 – Accountability, Objective 4.1, Task #1, p. 4)

Metrics for Assessing Accountability Effectiveness: What metrics are being used to assess the effectiveness of holding alleged offenders appropriately accountable, to include your Military Service's metrics for measuring the success of the Special Victims' Counsel (SVC) / Victims' Legal Counsel (VLC) program? (NDAA for FY 2016, section 532 / NDAA for FY 2013, section 573 / SecDef Memo (August 14, 2013), Improving Victim Legal Support, p. 1)

Keeping Leaders and Responders Informed of Updates on Victim Rights and Military Justice Updates: How are you ensuring that SARCs, SAPR VAs, MCIOs, and commanders are informed of recent victim rights and military justice updates? (DoDI 6495.02, "Sexual Assault Prevention and Response (SAPR) Program Procedures," (July 7, 2015), Encl 10, para 7)

Special Victims' Counsel (SVC) / Victims' Legal Counsel (VLC) Program Enhancements: What enhancements has your Military Service made to the SVC/VLC program over the last year? Describe efforts to fund these programs in the future through the POM process. (SecDef Memo (August 14, 2013), Improving Victim Legal Support, p. 1 / NDAA for FY 2016, section 532 / NDAA for FY 2013, section 573)

Victim Non-Participation in the Military Justice System: What insight and/or reasons can you provide that may explain the declining number of victims choosing to participate in the military justice system over the last few years? (DoD Annual Report Metric #7, previously Metric #8)

Overall Approach

The Marine Corps continues to focus on training and equipping trial counsel to assist investigators, effectively advocate in criminal cases, provide victim care, and achieve just results. The Staff Judge Advocate to the Commandant of the Marine Corps (SJA to CMC) worked to refine Marine Corps Bulletin (MCBul) 5800 to ensure the most effective standards, policies, and procedures govern military justice implementation in the U.S. Marine Corps. Further, the Marine Corps began to develop the Legal Services Administrative Manual (LSAM), which will incorporate MCBul 5800 and all previous guidance into a single, permanent, document.

Special victim cases involve alleged violations of Articles 118, 119, 119a, 120, 120a, 120b, 125 (forcible sodomy or sodomy with a child), 128 (domestic violence involving aggravated assault or child abuse), 134 (child pornography or assault with intent to commit the previously listed articles), or 80 (attempts to commit the previously listed articles) of the Uniform Code of Military Justice (UCMJ). The Marine Corps requires a Complex Trial Team (CTT) member to try all cases involving special victims.

A CTT consists of SVIP trial counsel, highly skilled civilian Litigation Attorney Advisors (LAA), victim witness assistance personnel, Regional Trial Investigators (RTI), SVIP administrative support personnel, and paralegals. The Officers-In-Charge (OICs) of the Legal Services Support Section (LSSS), who are responsible for all legal services throughout a specified geographical region, maintain a list of all SVIP personnel within their region.

To become SVIP qualified, a trial counsel must meet the following requirements:

- (1) be a General Court-Martial Trial Counsel (GCMTC);
- (2) demonstrate to the LSSS OIC's satisfaction that the trial counsel possesses the requisite expertise, experience, education, innate ability, and disposition to competently prosecute special victim cases;
- (3) litigate a contested special or general court-martial in a special victim case as an Assistant Trial Counsel (ATC), defense counsel, individual military counsel, associate defense counsel, or assistant defense counsel;
- (4) attend an intermediate level trial advocacy training course for the prosecution of special victims cases (e.g., Trial Counsel Assistance Program (TCAP) Prosecuting Special Victim Cases Course); and
- (5) receive recommendations, in writing, from the Senior Trial Counsel (STC), Regional Trial Counsel (RTC), and, when applicable, LSST OIC.

The RTIs and SVIP administrative support personnel are also required to complete a Trial Counsel Orientation course and attend TCAP-approved special victim training.

Nearly every training event for the Marine Corps legal community includes some discussion of the unique and specific requirements associated with sexual assault cases. The TCAP also conducts a SVIP training course for trial counsel and support Marines from across the Marine Corps. The week-long course focuses on the prosecution of sexual assault cases and includes training in the following areas: building case theory, charging under Article 120, UCMJ, general trial advocacy skills, use of expert witnesses, victim support, and prosecutorial ethics. A mix of experienced practitioners, including senior judge advocates, district attorneys, and expert witnesses who testify in sexual assault cases provide instruction.

An SVIP-qualified counsel is required to provide a Case Analysis Memorandum (CAM) in any case wherein the military has jurisdiction and there is an allegation of actual, attempted, or solicited offenses involving death, the infliction of grievous bodily harm, or sex related crimes. While CAMs may vary in their comprehensiveness, they will at a minimum include the following: a summary of the case; a statement concerning the victim's preferred disposition, preference for jurisdiction, and (if offered) the reason for that preference; an indication as to whether civilian authorities declined the case and reason for their declination; an evaluation of the real, documentary; and testimonial evidence in the case; and a discussion of any jurisdictional or statute of limitations concerns. An SVIP trial counsel can sign and submit an abbreviated CAM to the appropriate SJA. A comprehensive CAM involving significant legal analysis requires RTC approval prior to submission to the SJA. The CAM must be submitted to the SJA prior to the initial disposition decision by the Sexual Assault Initial Disposition Authority (SA-IDA).

The Marine Corps took steps to improve data collection regarding how sexual assault cases are handled in the Service. The trial counsel and victims' legal counsel (VLC) are required to record the victim's preference as to whether military or civilian authorities exercise jurisdiction into the Marine Corps Case Management System (CMS). Also, the SA-IDA for each case is required to send a Sexual Assault Disposition Report (SADR) to Judge Advocate Division (JAD), Headquarters, U.S. Marine Corps to memorialize how the Marine Corps handled the case.

As a result of the Military Justice Act of 2016 (MJA 16), significant aspects of every part of the military justice process, starting at the investigation and ending with the appeals process, changed on January 1, 2019. To ensure it was properly equipped to address allegations of misconduct that occur in FY19, the Marine Corps took significant steps to inform its personnel concerning these changes. The SJA to CMC mandated that all Marines serving in a legal occupational field attend training concerning the MJA 16. The SJA to the CMC created a Mobile Training Team (MTT) to conduct training events throughout the Marine Corps. The MTT trained over 1,100 personnel serving as judge advocates, law enforcement personnel, administrative support personnel, and paralegals.

The MJA 16 calls upon the Military Services to ensure that all commanders with general or special court-martial convening authority, and commanders possessing authority to conduct non-judicial punishment, receive military justice training. To meet this goal, the SJA to CMC ordered all SJAs to provide their commanders with in-person training on MJA 16 changes to military justice. The Marine Corps issued a Marine Corps Administrative Message (MARADMIN) directing each SJA to completely train their commanders with general or special court-martial convening authority or authority to conduct non-judicial punishment to the SJA to the CMC no later than December 31, 2018 and report completion on January 15, 2019.

Metrics for Assessing Accountability Effectiveness

Keeping Leaders and Responders Informed of Updates on Victim Rights and Military Justice Updates

Throughout FY18, the Marine Corps legal community completed a phased training plan which included 24 hours of in-person instruction to prepare all personnel for the implementation of the MJA 16, which represents a sea-change to the military justice system. Over 1,100 personnel were trained during nine separate iterations of the training throughout FY18. Most personnel were judge advocates and paralegals, but MCIOs, SARCs, and SAPR VAs also attended many of these training events, which included material on changes to victims' rights as a result of the MJA 16. The Marine Corps issued a MARADMIN directing each SJA to completely train their commanders with general or special court-martial convening authority, or authority to conduct non-judicial punishment, no later than December 31, 2018 and report completion to the SJA to the CMC by January 15, 2019. In addition, the SJA to CMC published specific requirements for the analysis of sexual assault, special victim, and complex cases prior to forwarding those cases for a determination on disposition by the convening authority. Also at the direction of SJA to CMC, Judge Advocate Division established a centralized electronic process for monitoring the licensure, training, qualifications, and capabilities of counsel.

Special Victims' Counsel (SVC) / Victims' Legal Counsel (VLC) Program Enhancements

Because of increased workload and the geographic isolation of some installations, the Marine Corps Victims' Legal Counsel Organization (VLCO) has secured approval for an additional VLC at Marine Corps Base (MCB) Camp Lejeune, North Carolina and Marine Corps Air Station (MCAS), Yuma, Arizona. These additional VLCs will ensure continued and uninterrupted service to all bases and air stations despite increasing demand for services.

To ensure continuity within the regional and local offices, VLCO has worked with the LSSSs to secure new civilian paralegal positions at MCAS Cherry Point, North Carolina and MCB Hawaii. In addition, civilian paralegals are included in the training plan and attend training and schools that will help them better assist VLCs and clients.

The VLCO has worked to integrate the reserve component in order to augment the active duty Officer In Charge (OIC), Deputy OIC, Regional VLC, and local VLCs. Reservists fill in for active duty counterparts on Temporary Additional Duty (TAD) or leave, provide training, research, and other services that VLC and civilian/enlisted support staff do not have time to provide. For the first time, the VLCO is working to create a reserve structure so that active duty VLCO leadership has a reserve counterpart to assist as needed.

In addition to MJA 16 training that the Judge Advocate Division provided to the community, the VLCO provided VLC-specific training to the local VLCs at locations including MCB Camp Butler, Okinawa; MCB Hawaii; MCB Camp Pendleton, California, and MCB Camp Lejeune, North Carolina. This training included material on victims' rights, cell phones and electronic evidence, the Privacy Act, and ethics.

Victim Non-Participation in the Military Justice System

The decision to participate in a case is a very personal decision for each victim. Their decisions deserve to be respected by commanders, investigators, and other legal personnel. The Marine Corps has striven to ensure that victims of crime make the best decision possible for themselves with the assistance of appropriate support services, to include the assistance of legal counsel through the VLCO.

4.2 Briefly describe your leadership-approved future plans to maintain a high competence in holding alleged offenders appropriately accountable.

The Marine Corps legal community possesses sufficient resources and personnel to capably perform military justice functions. To aid in the assessment of this capability, the SJA to CMC recently requested the Marine Corps Studies System to obtain the assistance of the Center for Naval Analyses (CNA) in conducting a comprehensive analysis of the provision of legal services throughout the Marine Corps. This analysis will identify ways our resources can be optimized. The Marine Corps will continue to elevate the practice of military justice through the development of criminal justice focused specialized Additional Military Occupational Specialties (AMOS) personnel designators. The Marine Corps has already increased its personnel designated with AMOS 4409 (Criminal Law Specialist) via increased attendance at The Judge Advocate General's Legal Center and School (TJAGLCS) and use of the Civilian Education Program (CEP). Marines seeking the AMOS 4409 must obtain a Masters of Laws (LL.M.) degree with a criminal or military justice focus. The expansion of this AMOS will increase the Service's ability to fill important supervisory counsel roles (RTC, Senior Trial Counsel, and others) with highly trained personnel whose experience is centered on handling complicated SVIP cases.

The SJA to CMC will also continue to develop additional AMOS such as AMOS 4417 (Military Judiciary Specialist). The purpose of which will be the continued professionalization of the Marine Corps judiciary.

The Marine Corps will ensure judge advocates in all practice areas (prosecution, defense, and victims' counsel) attend annual training to enhance their advocacy skills and are provided updates on developments in military justice practice. The few personnel serving in the legal occupational field unable to attend in-person MJA 16 training due to deployment or other factors will be required to complete online training.

Finally, the development of a formalized Legal Support Administrative Manual (LSAM) that incorporates previous guidance and addresses MJA 16 legislative changes will be a priority. A published LSAM will reduce the number of resources judge advocates will have to consult when seeking guidance on how to litigate cases involving special victims.

5. Goal 5—Assessment

5.1 Summarize your efforts for achieving the Assessment goal to “effectively measure, analyze, assess, and report SAPR Program progress to improve effectiveness.” (DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Strategic Plan, 2017-2021 (December 1, 2016), Goal 5 – Assessment, p. 10)

In this strategic summary, include significant updates and/or force-wide changes describing how your Military Service is addressing the following topics. There is no need to repeat prior Annual Report submissions if these processes have remained largely the same as in prior years.

Oversight Activities: What are your efforts to enhance SAPR Program oversight activities, to include the use of recent surveys (e.g., WGRA, WGRR, and DEOCS) and insights from the Government Accountability Office, advisory committees, and internal inspections to improve your programs and services? (DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Strategic Plan, 2017-2021, (December 1, 2016), Goal 5 – Assessment, Objective 5.2, p. 10 / DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Strategic Plan “Task List,” (December 1, 2016), Goal 5 – Assessment, Objective 5.1, Tasks #2 & #6, p. 4)

Defense Sexual Assault Incident Database (DSAID): What force-wide initiatives did your Military Service employ this year to ensure the quality, reliability, and validity of data collected in DSAID? (DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Strategic Plan, 2017-2021 (December 1, 2016), Goal 5 – Assessment, Objective 5.1, p. 10 / DoDI 6495.02, “Sexual Assault Prevention and Response (SAPR) Program Procedures,” (May 24, 2017), Encl 2, para 6ad)

SARC/VA and Healthcare Provider Training Effectiveness: How is your Military Service assessing the training provided to SARCs/VAs and healthcare providers? What actions, if any, have been taken to implement any new training over the past year? (DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Strategic Plan “Task List,” (December 1, 2016), Goal 5 – Assessment, Objective 5.1, Tasks #4 & #5, p. 4)

Retention of DD Forms 2910 & 2911: Has your Military Service experienced any challenge(s) in fulfilling the 50-year retention of DD Form 2910 (Victim Reporting Preference Statement) and DD Form 2911 (DoD Sexual Assault Forensic Examination Report)? If yes, what actions have been taken to mitigate the challenge(s)? (NDAA for FY 2014, section 1723 / DoDI 6495.02, “Sexual Assault Prevention and Response (SAPR) Program Procedures,” (May 24, 2017), para 4u)

(Army & NGB) GAO Report: Sexual Assault – Better Resource Management Needed to Improve Prevention and Response in the Army National Guard (ANG) and Army Reserve (USAR): What actions has been taken to comply with the subject GAO Report (i.e., assessment of staffing approaches used to administer the SAPR program; communication and dissemination of budget guidance for the Sexual Harassment/Assault Response and Prevention (SHARP) Program to all full-time SHARP personnel; monitoring and providing oversight of SHARP program expenditures at the ANG and USAR command level; reassessment of the Office of Complex Administrative Investigation’s timeliness and resources; and development of an expedited line-of-duty determination process for USAR sexual assault victims? (GAO-17-217 (February 27, 2017) / DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Strategic Plan “Task List,” (December 1, 2016), Goal 5 – Assessment, Objective 5.1, Task #6, p. 4)

The Marine Corps completes several internal reports and analyses of sexual assault reporting data weekly, monthly, and quarterly to keep leadership informed of current- and past-year trends. Ad hoc analyses are also used to inform decisions about curriculum development, programmatic implementation, and staffing adjustments. Efforts are underway to standardize and implement pre- and post-training surveys to assess the impacts of Marine Corps SAPR annual training and other SARC or SAPR VA training events.

Oversight Activities

HQMC SAPR is undertaking multiple efforts to improve and expand data collection to produce appropriate and useful findings. For example, HQMC SAPR is in the process of analyzing the 2018 USMC Active Element to increase Marine participation in the semi-annual DoD Workplace and Gender Relations Survey of Active Duty Members (WGR-A). This report will provide the foundation to develop an outreach campaign for increasing 2020 participation, as well as to provide Fleet feedback to the DoD Office of People Analytics (OPA) regarding survey design and methodology.

The unit-level Defense Equal Opportunity Climate Survey (DEOCS) is the primary tool used to assess individual knowledge about the SAPR program and victim reporting options. The DEOCS survey also provides feedback on numerous aspects of command climate.

The Inspector General conducts assist visits and inspections to help commands determine necessary areas of improvement, identify best practices, and provide feedback and resource sharing for program growth.

All Prospective Commanding Officers (PCO) and Prospective Executive Officers (PXO) receive an additional 45-minute SAPR brief during their Bureau of Medicine and Surgery (BUMED) PCO/PXO course that provides detailed information about SAPR data, command initiatives, updated policy, and best practices.

Defense Sexual Assault Incident Database (DSAID)

Data Quality Assurance is a continuous focus for the Marine Corps. DSAID program managers collaborate with NCIS data analysts to resolve discrepancies found in the system interface with Military Criminal Investigative Organizations (MCIO). Overall data quality assurance audits are coordinated with SARCs and conducted monthly. Program managers also conduct targeted data audits to assess areas such as case closing dates, the proper recording of restricted reports converted to unrestricted status, and expedited transfers. In addition, an audit is completed quarterly with NCIS to address missing subject and offense information for Unrestricted Reports. NCIS analysts provide DSAID program managers with a report of new sexual assault investigations initiated for the Marine Corps twice per month. Program managers compare these NCIS summaries with case-level reports from DSAID to ensure that all cases with a criminal investigation are appropriately counted.

SARC, SAPR VA, and Healthcare Provider Training Effectiveness

The 2018 SARC Annual Training was hosted by HQMC SAPR and was assessed using daily survey questions answered by SARCs about the presenters. On the final day, SARCs were also asked to evaluate the entirety of the annual training. Based on the responses, HQMC SAPR will again host the 2019 SARC Annual Training.

The new SAPR VA Initial Training will be evaluated using a pre-test and post-test survey format addressing knowledge, intention, confidence, and the quality of training questions. Initial SAPR VA training will now include a required brief to cover Sexual Assault Forensic and Medical Exams (SAFE).

Beginning in 2019, SARC and SAPR VA trainings will utilize pre- and post-training survey assessments to evaluate achievement of learning outcomes and overall training effectiveness.

Regional SAMFE training officers are used to develop and implement standardized refresher training, SAMFE assistant training, and strangulation training, as well as to deliver SAFE and SAMFE related content to NCIS at their 40-hour Advanced Adult Sexual Assault training for Special Agents.

“Patient tracers” are being performed at some MTFs in order to evaluate staff response to victims of sexual assault.

BUMED developed a standardized SAFE Medical Module for the victim advocacy course utilizing video material to ensure the same content is being provided to all SAPR VAs regardless of location and level of experience of the local SAMFE, and in settings where no SAMFE is available to conduct training.

Retention of Department of Defense Forms (DD Forms) 2910 and 2911

The Marine Corps has not experienced challenges in complying with requirements to retain “Victim Reporting Preference Statements,” DD Form 2910, for 50-years. A detailed accountability audit of DD Form 2910 retention in August 2018 accounted for 98% of all sexual assault reports (both Restricted Reports and Unrestricted Reports) entered into DSAID since the program went online in 2013 (and when the 50-year retention requirement began for Unrestricted Reports). This audit excluded Unrestricted Reports where the victim was not eligible for, or was not receiving, SAPR services, as a DD Form 2910 is not required in these cases.

5.2 Describe your leadership-approved future plans to further improve the achievement of the Assessment goal.

HQMC will continue to investigate and refine evaluation assessments to provide Commanders and program leaders with installation-specific usable data that can better inform SAPR prevention programming implementation.

DSAID program managers have identified more than 60 individual tasks to improve data fidelity in DSAID. These tasks include recurring items such as monthly data quality assurance analyses, audits of expedited transfer entries, and targeted audits of law enforcement data completed in conjunction with NCIS data analysts.

Navy Medicine will continue to provide the latest information pertaining to the SAPR (and SAFE) program through training and incorporation of command and installation events to continue raising awareness of destructive behaviors.

Navy Medicine will continue to use DEOCS as our most effective tool for measuring command climate and awareness of sexual assault programs and reporting processes.

6. Core Functions: Communication and Policy

6.1 Provide a brief summary for new efforts taken in FY 2018 on the following:

Publicizing Sexual Assault Reporting Options: Is your Military Service using any new or expanded initiatives to publicize the sexual assault restricted and unrestricted reporting options to your Service members and adult dependents? (DoDI 6495.02, “Sexual Assault Prevention and Response (SAPR) Program Procedures,” (May 24, 2017), Encl 4)

Retaliation Training: How has the topic of retaliation been incorporated into supervisor (officer, enlisted, and civilian) and SAPR training curricula? What are the critical themes, core competencies, and learning objectives for retaliation training? Does it provide instruction on resources available for victims to report retaliation and the availability of a General/Flag Officer review when a victim is separated within one year of final disposition of his/her sexual assault case? (DoD Retaliation Prevention and Response Implementation Plan (January 2017), p. 13-14 / DoDI 6495.02, “Sexual Assault Prevention and Response (SAPR) Program Procedures,” (May 24, 2017), Encl 4, para 7g)

Military/Veteran Service Organization (MSO/VSO), Federal Partner, and Congressional Outreach: What has your Military Service done to develop and implement MSO/VSO, federal partner, and/or congressional outreach to communicate and/or enhance sexual assault-related policy initiatives? (DoD Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Strategic Plan “Task List,” (December 1, 2016), Core Function – Communications, Tasks #2 & #4, p. 4)

Publicizing Sexual Assault Reporting Options

HQMC SAPR has an extensive presence on official Marine Corps social media pages, including Facebook, Instagram, and Twitter. Social media posts focus on awareness and response, including sexual assault reporting options. Each post contains contact information for important resources, including the Marine Corps 24/7 Sexual Assault Support Line, the Department of Defense (DoD) Safe Helpline, USMC DSTRESS Line, and the Inspector General of the Marine Corps. To date, posts have reached over 9.6 million people, and over 2,500 people have been connected to supportive resources.

DoD Safe Helpline information is posted on all command websites. Posters and handouts are posted in various locations throughout commands. Command indoctrination is used as an opportunity to educate Marines on the reporting options. "Pure Praxis" scenario-based, audience-participation training has helped to reinforce knowledge of reporting options. Badge cards are used at various commands as a quick reference tool.

One SAPR VA, who was awarded the SAPR VA of the Year for the Marine Corps, created a new way for recruits in training to report a sexual assault. Recruits are closely monitored and normally would be unable to speak to a SARC or SAPR VA without requesting permission from their Senior Drill Instructor. A new poster provides recruits with an address that they can mail a letter to request to speak with a SARC or SAPR VA.

Retaliation Training

All training created by HQMC SAPR includes material about retaliation. Retaliation sections address the definitions and examples of retaliation, reprisal, maltreatment, and ostracism. The training also includes the different ways to report retaliatory behavior and available assistance for those who report retaliation. "Take A Stand" bystander intervention annual training for Non-Commissioned Officers (NCO) also addresses retaliatory behavior involving social media.

Retaliation queries are performed quarterly to ensure proper tracking of retaliation cases. Training is incorporated into annual General Military Training (GMT), and additional education is provided via SARCs to victims of sexual assault. Additional discussion of retaliation takes place at the Bureau of Medicine and Surgery (BUMED) course for Prospective Commanding Officers (PCO) and Prospective Executive Officers (PXO) to update future leaders about current policy and other issued guidance regarding retaliation.

Military Service Organizations (MSOs), Veteran Service Organization (VSO), Federal Partners, and Congressional Outreach

The Marine Corps has played host to many congressional outreach events to communicate, engage, update, and engage on sexual assault items of interest. Examples include the Dec 2017 Military SAPR Caucus Brief hosted by Congressman Turner and Congresswoman Tsongas; 2018 Senate Armed Service Committee (SASC) and House Armed Service Committee (HASC) Military Personnel "staffer days" with the Deputy Commandant for Manpower and Reserve Affairs (DC M&RA); a Sep 2018 briefing to Ms. Kristen Johnson from the office of Senator Cotton; and an October 2018 roundtable collaboration that encompassed all HQMC Behavioral Health programs, including SAPR. The Marine Corps will continue to participate in these and other events with a special focus on the importance of SAPR issues.

8. Analytics Discussion

8.1 Military Services & NGB*: Provide an analytic discussion (1,000 words or less) of your Statistical Report of reported sexual assault cases from the Defense Sexual Assault Incident Database (DSAID). Required elements included on this template are information on Unrestricted Reports; Restricted Reports; service referrals for victims alleging sexual assault; and case synopses of completed investigations.

NGB should provide comments based on its available information and data.

This section must briefly address each of the following:

- Notable changes in the data over time
- Insight or suspected reasons for noted changes, or lack of change, in data
- The application of insights from data analyses for programmatic planning, oversight, and/or research
- Total number of Sexual Assaults (Restricted Reports and Unrestricted Reports) over time (since FY 2008) (Metric #11, previously Metric #12)
- The number of sexual assault investigations completed by the MCIO in the FY and the corresponding mean and median investigation length. Case open date can be in any year, but the close date must be by the end of the FY (Military Justice Indicator #6, previously Metric # 5)
- The number of subjects with victims who declined to participate in the military justice process (Metric #7, previously Metric #8)
- Command action for military subjects under DoD legal authority (to be captured using the most serious crime investigated, comparing penetration to contact crimes) (Military Justice Indicator #1)
- Sexual assault court-martial outcomes (to be captured using the most serious crime charged, comparing penetration to contact crimes) (Military Justice Indicator #2)
- Summary of referral data – Unrestricted and Restricted Reports - either referrals received from other sources or referrals made to other sources (e.g., medical/mental health, command, criminal investigation/security services, legal, civilian or VA authorities, etc.)
- Any other information relating to sexual assault case data

Data Source

In accordance with the National Defense Authorization Act (NDAA) for 2009, Section 593, the Department of Defense (DoD) maintains a centralized, case-level database for the collection and maintenance of information regarding sexual assaults involving members of the Armed Forces. The Defense Sexual Assault Incident Database (DSAID) is a Service-wide database that relies on data from multiple sources, including Sexual Assault Response Coordinators (SARC), Headquarters Marine Corps (HQMC) Sexual Assault Prevention and Response (SAPR), HQMC Judge Advocate Division, and Naval Criminal Investigative Service (NCIS). As the source for victim, subject, incident, and legal disposition information for sexual assaults in the Marine Corps in Fiscal Year (FY) 2018, DSAID was used to compile the information in this report.

NOTABLE CHANGES

Reports of Sexual Assault since Fiscal Year 2008 (Metric #11)

The Marine Corps received 1,228 Unrestricted and Restricted Reports of sexual assault in FY18, an increase of approximately 23% from 998 in FY17. This increase is driven by an increase in Unrestricted Reports. As depicted in Figure 1, Unrestricted Reporting increased from 676 in FY17 to 864 FY18, and Restricted Reporting increased from 322 in FY17 and 364 in FY18.

Prevalence vs. Reporting (Metric #2)

The Workplace and Gender Relations Survey of Active Duty Members (WGR-A) is a biennial, congressionally mandated survey that measures the prevalence of sexual assault and sexual harassment among active duty Service members. Results for the 2018 survey will not be available to Services until Spring 2019.

Victim Military Status

The percentage of total reports of sexual assault for Marine victims in FY18 (82% or 1,004) was similar to FY17 (84% or 833). The remaining 224 (18%) reports were made by civilians or non-Marine Service members.

- Prior-to-Service Incidents. The Marine Corps encourages any Service member to report a sexual assault, regardless of when it occurred. In FY18, 22% (222) of all reports received from Marine victims were for a sexual assault occurring prior to the victim's entry into military service. This is similar to FY17, in which 22% (187) of reports were for a prior-to-service incident.

- In-Service Incidents. In FY18, 78% (782) of all reports received from Marines involved an incident that occurred during the victim's military service. This percentage is similar to FY17, in which 78% (646) of Marines reported an in-service incident.

Victim Gender in In-Service Incidents of Sexual Assault

Male Marine victims comprised 23% (182) of in-Service incident reports, similar to 22% (144) in FY17. Male victims perceive a number of barriers to reporting sexual assault, such as concerns about confidentiality, the potential for a report to undermine their masculinity, or the fear of being perceived as weak for not preventing the sexual assault, among others.

INVESTIGATION AND DISPOSITION INFORMATION

Investigations in FY18

A total of 757 unique investigations were initiated in FY18 (743 by NCIS) for Unrestricted Reports filed or converted in FY18. NCIS completed 431 of these investigations in FY18 with a median investigation length of 115 days (mean 130), slightly greater than the DoD median (98 days) and mean (123 days) investigation length. Figure 2 illustrates investigation length for the Marine Corps over time.

Command actions pending completion (e.g., court-martial preferred but pending trial) are not included in this graph. Additionally, some actions could not be classified as penetrating or sexual contact crimes because the crime alleged was attempted sexual assault.*

SERVICE REFERRALS

The Marine Corps offered a total of 5,282 referrals for the cateragies listed below for the 1,228 Unrestricted and Restricted Reports of sexual assault received in FY18. Referrals are recorded every time services are offered to the victim. Most common were referrals for Victim Advocate support (36% [1,878]), mental health (16% [821]), and legal support (16% [821]). The unspecified category of “other” was excluded from this analysis as these data points represent monthly safety checks between the SARC and victim and do not constitute a referral. Figure 8 below illustrates the types of referrals offered to victims.

8.2 Complete the following table with your numbers as of the end of the fiscal year.
